HARDING MEN AIM TO SHIFT LEAGUE AS CHIEF ISSUE

Decide to Make Repudiation of Wilson's Record Main Campaign Feature.

HAYS AND SENATOR CONFER

TO STICK TO FRONT PORCH

His Advisers Agree That Harding Should Not Undertake a Whirlwind Speaking Tour.

Special to The New York Times.

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 10.—Repudiation of the administrative record of President Wilson, rather than the League of Nations, will be the main effort of the Republican Party in the Presidential campaign, Chairman Will H. Hays of the National Committee announced today after a conference with Senator Harding.

The League is among the acts of the Wilson Administration on which voters must pass judgment, Mr. Hays pointed out, but Governor Cox in his speech of acceptance made the issue more definite.

"It is squarely up to the electorate to indorse or repudiate the last seven years of Democratic maladministration in Washington," Mr. Hays said, "which to the vast majority of the citizenry of this country stands for a sinful squandering of our great resources, a saturnalia of extravagance, a cataclysm of perverted purposes and broken promises, and, finally, an absolute betrayal of American rights and American interests."

It is understood Republican managers agreed to the transfer of the main issue of the campaign from the Wilson foreign policy to the record of the Democratic Administration after a study of Governor Cox's acceptance speech and his unhesitating indorsement of his party's administration record. This, in the opinion of Republican leaders, makes the league supplementary to the main issue as defined by Governor Cox.

"I find the underlying thing in the minds of the people is the demand for a change of Administration," Harry M. Daugherty, Senator Harding's pre-convention manager, said. "Of course, we are not overlooking anything, but I believe that determination will decide the campaign."

More Time for Harding.

In enlarging the issue beyond a "national referendum" on the Treaty of Versailles, the Republican managers have postponed the necessity for Senator Harding to elaborate upon his foreign policy at once. This subject was among the matters discussed by the Senator with Mr. Hays. Had the league still been agreed upon as the major issue, it was felt, Senator Harding would have had to make his position clearer before the campaign proceeded further, on account of the varying interpretations placed by Republicans on his speech of acceptance as to whether he does or does not intend using the league as a basis for negotiation of a new treaty and "Association of Nations."

"The acceptance speeches have all been made, and the political atmosphere has cleared," Mr. Hays said. "We are ready for the election today. The extent of the Republican success will be measured in direct proportion with the knowledge on the part of the people of the facts.

"Daily the lines become more definite. Governor Cox has thoroughly embraced the Wilson doctrine. He stands unequivocally for the Wilson Administration without any reservations, as well as for the Wilson league.

"The people require an accounting of the Democratic stewardship and nothing that the opposition can do to confuse the situation will prevent the demand of the people for that accounting.

"Against this record and its indorsement by Governor Cox and his organization is the sturdy, insistent Americanism of Harding and Coolidge, with their record of personal accomplishment, their loyalty, efficiency and manhood, with a united party behind them, with a party program measured to meet the new needs of the nation, all guaranteed by the party's fifty years of accomplishment and underwritten by the devotion of the party to the country's welfare."

No Change in Porch Plans.

Mr. Hays said he brought to Senator Harding thousands of requests to speak in all parts of the country. For some time candidates for Congress, fearful of opposition, even of factional fights, in their districts, have clamored for the Senator to speak in their localities, hopeful that his support would iron out the situation. There appears to be no

Wilson Asked to Save Poet Facing Death in San Domingo

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay, Aug. 10.—President Wilson was appealed to in a telegram sent today by the Press Club of Montevideo in behalf of "the patriot poet, Fabio Fallio," now on trial before a United States court-martial in San Domingo. This action followed the receipt Saturday of a message from the Havana Press Club asking co-operation in obtaining President Wilson's intervention. Fallio is said to face the death penalty on a charge of violating the censorship.

The appeal expressed the hope that President Wilson would have the case "resolved in accordance with the highest sentiments of justice and humanity."

M'GRAW FACES ACTION BY LAMBS

Council Will Decide Course Tomorrow Toward Giants' Manager, Following Club Fight.

SLAVIN STILL UNCONSCIOUS

Swann Calls All Involved in Effort to Clear Mystery of Comedian's Hurts.

The question of suspension for John J. McGraw, manager of the New York Giants and participant in a fist fight in The Lambs early Sunday morning, has come before the House Committee of the club, it was understood yesterday, and final action will be taken tomorrow, when The Lambs' council is scheduled to meet.

The action of the committee, headed by A. O. Brown, came as a result of a thorough investigation into what happened in The Lambs' fold early Sunday morning. The committeemen found that McGraw was the aggressor in a fight with William H. Boyd, one-time leading man with Ethel Barrymore, and that the baseball manager came out decidedly second best. According to one Lamb McGraw started the trouble by hitting Boyd.

Following the fight, McGraw was rescued by John C. Slavin, comedian, who, with Winfield Liggett, accompanied the Giants' leader to his home at 301 West 109th Street. In front of the apartment house, and in some unaccountable manner, Slavin fell unconscious on the sidewalk with a fractured skull. At St. Luke's Hospital it was said last night that Slavin's condition was showing steady improvement but that he had not regained consciousness.

Swann Calls All Involved.

While the club was taking its action, District Attorney Swann announced that he had called the persons involved to meet at his office tomorrow morning, and that in the meantime several witnesses, whose names were not disclosed, would be examined today.

The entrance of the District Attorney into the case came after a conference with Emil Fuchs, attorney at 51 Chambers Street, who went to the Criminal Court Building and announced that he had been retained to appear for McGraw. According to the lawyer, the Giants' manager will issue a statement after the meeting, telling all he knows about the matter.

"The House Committee of The Lambs," said Chairman Brown, "is making a thorough investigation and will report to the Board of Directors on Thursday afternoon. I am not at liberty to say whether any suspension has been decided upon."

Asked whether McGraw had not been suspended three months ago for fighting Walter Knight, Mr. Brown admitted that

EXPRESSMEN GAIN $30,000,000 RISE IN WAGE AWARD

Railway Labor Board Finds 75,000 Workers Entitled to Flat Increase.

UNIONS LIKELY TO ACCEPT

Companies Also Expected to Agree and Ask Permission to Raise Carrying Rates.

ADD $10,000,000 TO FIGURES

Employers Say Extra Laborers and Overtime in Busy Seasons Will Swell Total.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Increases in pay aggregating $30,000,000 were granted today by the United States Railway Labor Board to 75,000 railway express workers of the country. The award appears to have satisfied the unions with which the men are affiliated, and the controversy which has existed so long between the railway express workers and the American Railway Express Company, is thus terminated. The average flat increase to the men involved is 16 cents an hour.

The increase is awarded according to the monthly earnings of two classes of employes. The actual average raise for express workers on trains, numbering 10,000, is $38.40 a month. For the 65,000 other employes, including chauffeurs, clerks, &c., the actual average raise is $32.64 a month.

The award dates back to May 1 at the rate of pay the workers were getting March 1. By this arrangement the workers whose wages were increased by adjustments which the Railway Express Company voluntarily made during the first four months of this year receive no unfair advantage over the other men in the new award.

Officials of the unions who arrived in Chicago to pass upon the scale expressed themselves as satisfied with the increases.

The award, which is the second to be made by the Railway Labor Board, created by the Esch-Cummins Transportation act, affects four unions. They are the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, Freight Handlers, Express and Station Employes, the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Stablemen and Helpers of America, the Order of Railway Express Men and the Order of Railway Express Drivers, Chauffeurs and Conductors, Local No. 720, Chicago.

A flat increase of 25 cents an hour, or $51 a month, was asked by the first two unions. The other two organizations asked a flat increase of $31 a month.

All Employes Benefited.

All of the nation's express employes who did not benefit by the recent railroad wage award were included in the award, with the exception of the big executives. Among them are 30,000 chauffeurs, chauffeurs' helpers, conductors, drivers and wagon helpers at present receiving wages ranging from $85 to $125 a month; 20,000 depot men, truckers, sorters, callers, billers and foremen at present receiving from $100 to $125 a month; 15,000 office clerks with wages from $95 to $150 a month and 10,000 messengers and road men getting $80 to $145 a month.

In making the award the Wage Board followed the policy of giving the lower paid employes the greatest increase, as in the rail wage award. The award was confined to "flat increases" on the basis of monthly earnings, instead of a complicated sliding scale, with varying amounts for different "runs" and "extras" for overtime.

As soon as the award was made public copies were rushed to the heads of Japanese Buy Land in Mexico Near the California Border

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Large tracts of land are being acquired by Japanese in Mexico close to the California boundary, presumably against the contingency that they soon may be barred from holding land in that State, according to a report given to Senator Phelan of California by the State Department.

The most recent acquisition by Japanese is a tract of 3,000 acres three miles south of Andrade, Cal., and negotiations are said to be in progress for even larger blocks in the same neighborhood.

MANNIX IN LONDON; WATCHED BY POLICE

Constant Guard Apparently Is Being Kept to Prevent Him Going to Ireland.

SMALL CROWD GREETS HIM

Archbishop Goes to Suburban College, Where He Was Delayed in Gaining Admission.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Greeted by a mere handful of Irish men and women representing the Irish Self-Determination League, Archbishop Mannix arrived here at 6 o'clock this morning after a night journey from Penzance. The authorities had posted a detail of four or five policemen to keep crowds from the platform, but they had no one more formidable to deal with than reporters, railroad porters and a score of chance onlookers. Two Catholic priests were waiting outside the barrier, but they declined to reply to suggestions that they were there to welcome the militant churchman on behalf of the Roman Catholic authorities in London.

The Archbishop and his two traveling companions had to look to their baggage themselves, and Dr. Mannix seemed impatient at the delay thus caused. As he approached the platform barrier a policeman made a passage for him through the little crowd of Irish men and women who pressed forward to him, fell on their knees and kissed the episcopal ring. This caused a few moments of confusion, but the police came to the rescue, shoved the mere curiosity hunters aside and formed an open space for the prelate's admirers to pay their homage.

Then, closing around him as he made his way first to a subway station, and then, through some change of plan, to a taxicab, the Archbishop, with his companions, drove through empty streets to St. Mary's Training College, Hammersmith, three miles away. It was a beautiful morning, but no one was about, though taxis with reporters and photographers followed. The little procession passed quite unheeded.

He arrived at the college to find no one expecting him. His secretary and the taxicab driver unloaded the luggage on the sidewalk, but no one had yet answered the bell. The photographers got into action and the prelate's secretary continued his battering on the door. Then a door twenty yards away opened and an elderly priest appeared. The secretary hastened toward him, made hurried explanations, and the priest ran in again, to reappear five minutes later.

Archbishop Mannix appeared to be displeased as the priest began to ask whether the prelate did not remember meeting him some years before, and was still talking nervously as they passed into the college.

In the quiet seclusion of the convent Dr. Mannix is taking his ease. How long he will remain at the Nazareth House is being kept a close secret, but it is understood that he has no intention of moving for the present.

The authorities are taking no chances and special service officers are keeping ceaseless vigil outside the building in case of any sudden movement on the part of the Archbishop.

Declares He Has No Plans.

LONDON, Aug. 10 (Associated Press).—Both Archbishop Mannix and Father Vaughan, his secretary, said upon their arrival here this morning that they had no plans for the future, but would make their decisions as occasion arose. They interpreted the orders presented them on the Baltic from British authorities as meaning that the Archbishop was permanently prohibited from visiting Glasgow, Liverpool or Manchester.

"I have made no plans whatever for the future," said Archbishop Mannix when asked if he would attempt to get to Ireland. It is considered that it would be most difficult for him to move anywhere unobserved, as the place where he is stopping is already under surveillance.

"If this sort of treatment is accorded a man of my position, the world certainly will ask itself what may happen to the poor Irish peasant," declared the prelate to the Associated Press correspondent today.

"This whole thing shows to what straits the British Government has been driven in trying to handle the Irish situation," he continued. "It shows to what a panicky condition the Government has been reduced."

Archbishop Mannix denied the report published in London that he had stated

COLBY NOTE STATES POLICY

Says American Government Is Firm for a Free Poland.

INVITES ALLIED AGREEMENT

Proposes Joint Declaration for Preventing the Dismemberment of Russia.

WON'T RECOGNIZE SOVIETS

Trusts Russian People to Throw Off Anarchy—Hay's Note on China Recalled.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The expected declaration of the United States Government's policy with respect to Russia and Poland was made this evening. All available means are promised to preserve Poland's political and territorial integrity.

The Government, while not objecting to the proposed Polish-Russian armistice, declined to enter any conference of the powers that would involve the recognition of the Bolshevist régime of Russia and a settlement of Russian problems on the basis of the dismemberment of Russia. The allied and associated powers are practically invited to join the United States in a declaration for preserving Russia from dismemberment with the understanding that foreign troops shall be withdrawn from Russian territory and that no transgression of the Russian territorial line "by Poland, Finland or any other power" will be permitted.

The Government's policy was made known through the action of the State Department in making public a note sent today by Secretary Colby to Baron Camillo Romano Avezzano, the Italian Ambassador in Washington, who intimated that the Italian Government would welcome a statement of the views of the United States "on the situation presented by the Russian advance into Poland." Secretary Colby's note, while intended for the whole world, is especially intended for the Russian people, for whom this Government, while severely condemning the Bolshevist rulers of Russia and declaring that it will have no dealings with them, expresses deep sympathy and promises aid.

Goes Further Than Lloyd George.

Read in the light of Premier Lloyd George's explanation in the House of Commons today of the agreement reached on Russian-Polish policy at the Hythe conference with Premier Millerand, the American note shows that the Government of the United States is not far apart from the Governments of Great Britain and France in their plans concerning Poland. All three Governments are agreed that Poland's political and territorial integrity must not be violated; all promise to take measures to that end if measures are necessary. But the American declaration of policy goes somewhat further than the Anglo-French policy defined by Mr. Lloyd George in that this Government asserts that it will not sanction any partition of Russia beyond what has already received the approval of the Paris Peace Conference.

While giving assurance that the policy of this Government "will be directed to the employment of all available means" to maintain Poland's integrity, and that the policy outlined in the note with respect to both Poland and Russia "will command the support of this Government," there is no indication by Secretary Colby of what means the United States would employ to make good its declarations. The inference is that these means would be determined after conference between the allied and associated powers, including the United States, should occasion arise to take positive action.

Firm Against Recognizing Soviets.

From now on the efforts of the United States Government may be expected to be directed toward opposing any measure by the powers or from any source that would give color to recognition of the Soviet Government at Moscow. According to the American position Russia must be redeemed by the Russian people themselves. The allied powers can help them most through preventing the dismemberment of their territory. Confidence is expressed that the yoke of Bolshevism will be thrown off by the Russian people.

The Colby note is reminiscent of the famous note sent by John Hay to the powers on July 3, 1900, in which he appealed for a declaration from them to preserve the administrative and territorial integrity of China, then in the throes of danger through the Boxer attacks upon the Legations. The Hay doctrine has been regarded as the thing that saved China from territorial dismemberment at the hands of ambitious nations.

The position of the United States Government with respect to Poland and Russia is now clear. It may be expected to bring results in exchanges with Great Britain, France, Italy, Japan and other nations that were allied in the great war.

Poland to Disarm and Cut Army to 50,000 Men In Terms as Outlined to Lloyd George by Kameneff

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Leo Kameneff, Russian Soviet emissary here, sent Premier Lloyd George today an outline of the terms which Soviet Russia is laying down for an armistice with Poland.

The first of these terms, the outline shows, is that the strength of the Polish Army shall be reduced to one annual contingent of 50,000 men, together with the army command and an "army of administration" (apparently a permanent force) to aggregate 10,000 men.

Second—Demobilization of the Polish Army shall occur within one month.

Third—All arms, excluding those needed for the army forces specified, shall be handed to Soviet Russia and the Ukraine.

Fourth—All war industries shall be demobilized.

Fifth—No troops or war material shall be allowed to come from abroad.

Sixth—The line of Wolkovisk, Bialystok and Prawevo shall be placed fully at the disposal of Russia for commercial transit to and from the Baltic.

Seventh—Land shall be given free to the families of all Polish citizens killed, wounded or incapacitated in the war.

What Russia Offers.

On the other hand the terms for Russia are:

First—Simultaneously with the Polish demobilization, the Russian and Ukrainian troops shall withdraw from the Polish front.

Second—Upon the termination of these operations the number of Russian troops on the Russian frontier line shall be considerably reduced and fixed at a figure to be agreed upon.

Third—The armistice line shall be the status quo, but not further east than the line indicated in the July 20 note of Earl Curzon, the British Foreign Secretary. The Polish Army shall withdraw to a distance of 50 versts from that line, the zone between the two lines being neutral.

Fourth—The final frontier of the independent State of Poland shall be in the main identical with the line indicated in Lord Curzon's note, but additional territory shall be given Poland on the east in the regions of Bialystok and Chelm.

Secretary Colby Declares for Territorial Integrity of Both Poland and Russia.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The State Department today issued the following:

American note on Polish situation, being a formal reply from the Secretary of State to the Ambassador of Italy in answer to the Ambassador's inquiry as to the position of the United States regarding the Russian-Polish situation.

Department of State,
Washington, Aug. 10, 1920.

Excellency:

The agreeable intimation, which you have conveyed to the State Department, that the Italian Government would welcome a statement of the views of this Government on the situation presented by the Russian advance into Poland deserves a prompt response, and I will attempt without delay a definition of this Government's position, not only as to the situation arising from Russian military pressure upon Poland, but also as to certain cognate and inseparable phases of the Russian question viewed more broadly.

This Government believes in a united, free and autonomous Polish State, and the people of the United States are earnestly solicitous for the maintenance of Poland's political independence and territorial integrity. From this attitude we will not depart, and the policy of this Government will be directed to the employment of all available means to render it effectual.

The Government therefore takes no exception to the effort apparently being made in some quarters to arrange an armistice between Poland and Russia, but it would not, at least for the present, participate in any plan for the expansion of the armistice negotiations into a general European conference, which would in all probability involve two results, from both of which this country strongly recoils, viz.: The recognition of the Bolshevist régime and a settlement of the Russian problem almost inevitably upon the basis of a dismemberment of Russia.

Sympathy with the Russian People.

From the beginning of the Russian revolution, in March, 1917, to the present moment, the Government and the people of the United States have followed its development with friendly solicitude and with profound sympathy for the efforts of the Russian people to reconstruct their national life upon the broad basis of popular self-government. The Government of the United States, reflecting the spirit of its people, has at all times desired to help the Russian people. In that spirit all its relations with Russia and with other nations in matters affecting the latter's interests have been conceived and governed.

The Government of the United States was the first Government to acknowledge the validity of the revolution and to give recognition to the Provisional Government of Russia. Almost immediately thereafter it became necessary for the United States to enter the war against Germany, and in that undertaking to become closely associated with the allied nations, including, of course, Russia. The war weariness of the masses of the Russian people

British Premier Says Poland Must Be Saved, but Is Still Hopeful of Peace.

Copyright, 1920, by The New York Times Company.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—The full text of Prime Minister Lloyd George's speech on the Polish situation in the House of Commons today follows:

I should like to make a statement to the House upon the condition of affairs in Central Europe. I promised on behalf of the Government, before we committed ourselves to any definite action, to take the House into its confidence and to state clearly what we proposed to do.

I am still hopeful of peace, but the House rises at the end of the week and conditions may arise, although I am still hopeful they will not, that will render it necessary for the Government to take steps, and therefore I propose to state the steps which we should take in certain emergencies and seek the approval of the House upon these proposals.

The last time I spoke upon the Polish question I gave a summary of events up to that date. I think it was immediately after the Spa conference. Since then communications between the Soviet Government and the British Government have either been placed on the table of the House or communicated to the public in some other way, and therefore the House and public have full knowledge of the communications which have passed between the one side and the other.

But in order to make clear what the position is I should like to restate very shortly what I conceive to be the position. With regard to the Polish attack upon Russia I have expressed my view very frankly to the House and I had already expressed it on behalf of his Majesty's Government to the Polish Government staff. The Polish attack was not justified in our judgment and I sincerely regret that it was made in spite of warnings of France and England, and the Soviet Government are entitled, in our judgment, in any conditions of peace to take these two facts into account.

Limit of Polish Penalties.

I want to state the facts quite frankly and quite fairly whether they tell in favor of the Polish Government or against them, because it is essential in a grave situation like this that the full facts should be stated.

The Soviet Government in any conditions of peace are entitled to take into account the fact of attacks made by the Polish armies upon Russia and that these attacks were delivered in spite of warnings of the Allied Powers and they are also entitled to demand such guarantees as would be exacted by any Powers against repetition of an attack of that kind.

I do not challenge that on behalf of the Government and I am not aware that any of our allies have done so. What we have challenged is this: that whatever mistakes may be committed by a Government in the way of aggression upon another nation it justifies retaliation or reprisal or a punishment which goes to the extent of wiping out its national existence. In 1870 there was an appearance of an act of aggression upon Prussia. We know now that was not the case. But no one, not even those who thought France

EXPECTS TRUCE TO BE MADE

British Premier Calls War Inconsistent With Theory of League.

BLAMES POLAND FOR CRISIS

But Declares Her Conquest Would Imperil Europe and Proclaim Russia Imperialist.

RETORTS TO BRITISH LABOR

Denies That in Supporting Moscow Soviet It Is Upholding Government of Workingmen.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—To the House of Commons crowded to its capacity by members and spectators, among whom were Leo Kameneff and Leonid Krassin, the Soviet trade envoys, Premier Lloyd George announced today the policy decided upon by the Allies in regard to the Russo-Polish crisis.

His speech was punctuated with cheers and applause and brought a vote of confidence, a motion by John R. Clynes, the Labor member, for a division against the Government being negatived without counting the House. It was recognized even by the Independent Liberals and the Labor Party that the Prime Minister's statement set at rest all immediate anxiety.

While he blamed Poland for bringing her present plight upon herself by her aggression made in defiance of advice of the Entente, and emphasized that in her dire extremity she must rely chiefly upon herself, the Premier declared that her subjugation would be a menace to the whole of Europe and reveal the Red Republic of Russia as an imperialistic and militarist power.

What Soviet Can Demand.

The Soviet, he said, was entitled to demand such guarantees as would be exacted by any power against a repetition of attacks. What was challenged, he said, was that "nothing justifies retaliation, reprisal or punishment which goes to the extent of wiping out national existence."

In the event that the Soviet should refuse to give fair terms to Poland the Allies would feel free to give aid to General Wrangel, whose movement from the Crimea he characterized as formidable.

The Premier retored to the protests of British labor in the interest of the Moscow Soviet. He cited the articles by Bertrand Russell, the radical leader who went with the British labor mission to Russia, which explained that all the real power was in the hands of the Communist Party, numbering 600,000 in a population of 120,000,000. Using these figures for local comparison, Mr. Lloyd George pointed out that in that proportion 200,000 men would govern in the United Kingdom and all the rest be ruled out.

"It would only mean one-thirtieth of the trade unionists of the country," he said, "so they must not imagine that Soviet Government means a government of trade unionists. It means a Government by that little section of trade unionists who assume that they have got all the intelligence, all the intellect, all the knowledge and all the prescience of the party and try to tyrannise over the workers of the trade union world."

Answering the contention of the Labor deputations that the Soviet Government was being attacked merely because it was a revolutionary government, the Premier pointed out that the first three governments following the downfall of the Imperial régime had been recognized and that the Allies had only broken with the Moscow Government because it violated the Allied bond by making a separate peace.

Peace Up to Bolsheviki.

"We made an offer," he said, "which if the Soviet Government really meant peace they would have accepted. They could have met all the nations of Europe, and probably America, at the council table and discussed all conditions. If you get a real desire for peace you can have it, but if you are out to challenge the institutions upon which the liberties and civilization of Europe depend then we shall meet at Philippi."

Following Lloyd George, Mr. Asquith, leader of the Opposition, argued that Poland's action in invading Russia was a wanton adventure which ought to have been repudiated by the united voice of Europe. He made the point that if the negotiations broke down or there was a deadlock the machinery of the League of Nations should be brought in.

Lord Robert Cecil also argued that the situation should be taken out of the hands of the Supreme Council and put into the hands of the League of Nations.

Mr. Lloyd George late tonight read to the House the Russian armistice terms as communicated to him by M. Kameneff. He added that M. Kameneff had made the reservation that the terms might be supplemented by details of a secondary character.

The Premier said that immediately after consulting with his colleagues he had communicated the terms to Poland, France and Italy. He did not think it quite fair, he added, when the delegates of both sides were to meet perhaps tomorrow, for him to express an opinion concerning the terms which might embarrass the discussions. There were certain things he did not know the meaning of, and the Polish delegates would certainly ask for explanations.

Trunk Murder Mystery Leads to High Seas; Eugene Le Roy Sought in Crew of British Ship

The quest for Eugene Le Roy, alias O. J. Fernandez, wanted in connection with the death of Katherine Lou Jackson, whose severed body was found in a trunk opened here on July 24, led yesterday to the high seas. Police Headquarters, acting for the Detroit authorities, wirelessed the Captain of the British steamship Dryden to hold a member of the crew for the Rio Janeiro police.

Almost at the same time representatives of the Detroit police filed with the State Department in Washington an application for the arrest and extradition of Eugene Le Roy, should he attempt to land in either Brazil or Mexico. The State Department was requested to ask the Governments of those countries to co-operate in arresting Le Roy, reported to have sailed on the Dryden on July 30.

Harry Marflett, British seaman, was the man who sent the police on their new hunt. Marflett was in the crew of the Dryden until, just before sailing time, he was transferred to the Rembrandt, also of the Lamport & Holt Line. Lying in his bunk on the Rembrandt Marflett saw a newspaper photograph of Le Roy. He was impressed by its likeness to a man who had been shipped on the Dryden after asking Marflett about the ship.

The seaman went to Lieutenant Michael Lyons of the Weehawken police. Point after point of similarity was checked off by Marflett. Lyons notified Captain Arthur Carey, in command of the New York Homicide Bureau. Carey wirelessed the Dryden, bound for South American ports. He refused to say whether his request for an arrest had been complied with.

The man Marflett suspects to be Le Roy is young, dark, well dressed. His nails were carefully manicured, his hands soft. Marflett said the prospective "sailor" admitted he never had shipped before, and that he planned to desert at the first English port.

was the offender at that time, would for a moment have justified Germany in imposing terms of peace which would destroy the national existence and independence of France, and if Germany had done so she would have the whole of civilization against her.

The same thing applies to 1914. There was no doubt that Germany was the aggressor, but though Germany was completely defeated and overthrown, if the Allies had insisted upon the extinction of the German nationality and the wiping out of German national existence, the whole civilized world would have been justly outraged.

I therefore draw a distinction between guarantees exacted from a defeated nation against a repetition of an act of aggression and any terms which involve the destruction of the national independence of any people.

Peace of Europe Concerned.

Apart altogether from the question of the moral right of any power to demand the extinction of another nation as a punishment for the aggression of its Government, Europe must be considered and Europe has something to say to the independence of Poland.

The independence of Poland and its existence as an independent nation are an essential part of the structure of European peace and its extinction could not be regarded with indifference by any of the nations which are interested in preserving the peace of Europe. The repartition of Poland would not merely be a crime, it would be a menace, and we have considered both these contingencies as the basis of our policy.

When the Polish representatives came to us at Spa we made it quite clear that we could not support Poland in any act of aggression upon Russia or upon any other border State, and that it was an essential condition of any Allied support, moral or material, that the Polish armies should retire to the ethnological frontier of Poland. At that time they were about 50 or 100 miles beyond that frontier. We made it a condition that they did apply for an armistice with a view to negotiations of peace.

Poland accepted these proposals and the first step we took was to telegraph to the Soviet Government proposing a conference with a view to establishing peace, not merely in Central Europe, but throughout the whole of Europe. We made it clear that we insisted upon the independence of Poland and that if it were challenged or menaced seriously we would have to consider the giving of such su as it was in our power to give to Poland's struggle for independence. We sent that telegram to the Soviet Government immediately after the Spa conference. It took either six or seven days to reply. The reply was on the very last day upon which they could reply.

London Conference Rejected.

When the telegram was sent they rejected the idea of a London conference. They said that they preferred dealing direct. We wired back to say that the London conference was suggested with a view not merely to clearing up the Polish situation, but to try and establish peaceful relations throughout Europe. But we did not insist on it. We advised the Poles to apply immediately for an armistice and they did so without delay, on July 22.

The answer came from Soviet Army Headquarters on the 24th, fixing July 31 for the reception of the Polish delegation on the Bolshevist frontier—a quite unnecessary lapse of time if there had been a real desire to stop the fighting and to have peace. I cannot imagine why there was such a long interval. When the Polish delegates arrived there our information is they were kept there three days and treated with great insolence during these three days. The conditions of an armistice were not communicated to them. The Russians challenged not so much the credentials of the Polish envoys, but they stated they had not full authority and sent them back without communicating any of the conditions under which an armistice would be granted.

Under these circumstances we again communicated with Moscow and urged them to take immediate action with a view to putting an end to hostilities. By that time the Soviet Army had crossed the ethnographical frontier and were inside Poland.

Last Friday Mr. Bonar Law and I met Kamenef and his colleagues and suggested to them that after such a considerable delay in the negotiations for an armistice, and if it would assist that peace terms should be added—such time had elapsed with considerable fighting, a good deal of bloodshed and loss of life—would it not be better to have a truce lasting for a few days which would give time for negotiations for an armistice and, if necessary, peace. They pressed for reasonable guarantees that the interval should not be utilized by either the Poles or the Allies to re-equip, reconstruct or strengthen the Polish forces and the Polish position. All these guarantees we were prepared to advise our Allies and the Poles to accept.

They promised to communicate at once with Moscow and inform us by Sunday morning. The answer has been published. It is a refusal of a truce on the ground that the Poles had accepted the arrangement for the discussion of an armistice at Minsk tomorrow and under these conditions they thought it would be the speediest way to achieve the purpose we had in view.

That is the position up to the meeting of the Allies at Lympne. So far as I know there is no condition put forth in reference to General Wrangel which would in the least interfere with the negotiations. I cannot recollect that any difficulty arose over General Wrangel. There has been what I consider a very suspicious delay in coming to a discussion of an armistice and to stop fighting and to negotiate for peace. The Soviet Government and Soviet Army could have fixed a date at least a week or ten days ago.

Somebody has said: "You are going to have a war, not on the question of the independence of Poland, but on the question of forty-eight hours." We are not. That is the second point of agreement. The third point is this: That the Allies should advise Poland to endeavor to negotiate an armistice and to make peace as long as the independence of ethnographical Poland is recognized. It was agreed that the recommendation should go from the Allies, and it has gone. I felt confident we need not await the sanction of the House to that. I felt certain the House would agree on that subject, and as time mattered we sent it yesterday.

The fourth point is this: If Poland accepts the terms, the Allies will certainly not intervene at all, either to prevent or to upset any arrangement if they agree to terms. If they negotiate an agreement at Minsk we do not propose to intervene to upset any arrangement which is acceptable to the Poles. It is their affair.

I sincerely trust it will be peace. Suppose it is not. We have got to face that. Well, that is a small matter compared with the peace of Europe. I hope no one will take any personal party point into account when there is such a grave situation of this kind in existence.

If the Minsk Conference Fails.

Now I will take two suppositions. Supposing the Minsk conference fails. There are two alternative suppositions as to the possible reasons for its failure. Supposing it fails because the Poles refuse the conditions which in the circumstances, and having regard to the military position, the Soviets are entitled to exact from them. The Allies in that contingency could not support Poland. Take the other supposition. Supposing the Bolsheviki insist upon terms which are absolutely inconsistent with the independence and existence of Poland and the Poles are prepared to fight for their independence. Then undoubtedly a very serious situation arises.

As I have already stated, the Allies cannot be indifferent to the existence of Poland. There is the moral right of a nation. We are responsible for the resurrection of Poland at the price of much blood and treasure spent by the Allies.

We have entered into a covenant with the nations who signed the Peace Treaty to have recourse to other methods than the brutal methods of war for the purpose of settling international disputes, and the whole governing and root idea of that covenant, and the whole sanction of it, depends upon the nations who signed it banding themselves together to defend those of their members who cannot defend themselves. Unless that is recognized that covenant is a scrap of paper, a miserable scrap of paper. To put it in industrial language, it is a trade union of nations where the whole of the community engages to defend and protect the weak members. Unless that is recognized in principle the covenant goes. No amount of appeals, meetings, pamphlets, speeches or prayers for it can keep it alive and, therefore, we cannot, unless we abandon the whole basis of the League of Nations, disinterest ourselves in the attack upon the existence of a nation which is a member of the league and whose life is in jeopardy. [Cheers.]

We have entered into a covenant with the nations who signed the Peace Treaty to have recourse to other methods than the brutal methods of war for the purpose of settling international disputes, and the whole governing and root idea of that covenant, as I understand it, does not contemplate, necessarily, military action in support of an imperiled nation; it contemplates economic action and pressure. It contemplates support of the struggling people, and when it is said that if you give any support at all to Poland it involves a great war, with conscription and all the mechanism of war with which we have been so painfully acquainted during the last few years that is inconsistent with the whole theory of the covenant into which we have entered. It contemplates other methods of bringing pressure to bear upon recalcitrant nations which are guilty of acts of aggression against their neighbors and endanger their independence.

The second point is this. I have already referred to it, but I think it is necessary when we come to consider action that I should repeat it. It is not merely that we are morally bound to interest ourselves in the life of a nation which is an ally and which we have undertaken to give support to in the event of its national existence being endangered. There is in addition to that the danger which is involved to the peace of Europe.

If you have a great aggressive Soviet empire coterminous with Germany, I have pointed out before what that means. There are those who believe that the Soviet Republic is essentially a peaceful one. Let them believe it; but if in spite of every effort to make peace they reject the conferences for a purpose, they postpone, if they introduce conditions which involve practical annexation of another country, whatever the Soviet Republic was yesterday, today and tomorrow it will become an imperialist, militaristic power. That is the point I want to put. It is one of the perils one has always had in mind, and that is the real peril.

If the Soviet Republic insists upon overrunning Poland when she can exact all the guarantees which she is entitled to and which another country with the same conditions would exact, if she prefers to overrun Poland practically to annex it—whether she nominally annexes it—from that moment, whatever the Soviet Republic was a week ago or a month ago, from that moment it becomes an aggressive, imperialist State, which is a menace to the freedom and independence of the whole of Europe. If that is the new policy—I don't assume it, I am not going to assume it until I see the result of the Minsk conference, but I have taken two contingencies, and I am bound, since the House is separating in a few days, to take into account both contingencies. Even if it did not separate, I should put forth the whole of the policy today. There is no time to lose. Not merely the House of Commons but the whole country is entitled to know to what we are committed, and therefore I am examining both contingencies. I am hoping that the second contingency will not arise, but it would be blind, I should be indeed reckless, if I assumed that it would not arise and took no precautions.

Who will tell us whether that assumption is correct or whether it is not. I am not sure that the Soviet Government themselves know which of those two assumptions is correct. I wish I were certain of that.

I am going to give an indication of what the Allies have in their minds as far as I can without giving information which would be injurious to the efficiency of action which we take. The first is that no action will be taken except to support the struggle for Polish existence and independence.

The second point is that we can only give that support to a nation that struggles itself. The Poles are a brave people; no braver in Europe. They have always made fine soldiers and some of the greatest military genius in the history of Europe stands to their record. They have got their difficulties. They are a nation which has been split up into three very unequal parts for over a century and a half. They are not a people who had control of their own destinies during that period.

They were suddenly called upon without preliminary preparation or training to undertake the functions of nationhood in the most perilous position you could place them—enemies behind them, enemies in front of them, difficulties to the south and difficulties to the north, great hatreds toward them, some of them traditional—some racial and some religious—furious savage hatreds surging around them—a nation with no frontier which is a defensive one, no great mountains to defend them. There is no nation in the world placed in such a position of jeopardy by Providence as Poland. She struggled for centuries, she fell, she was torn to pieces.

Poland Has Blundered.

Now there has been a resurrection and she was starting a new life. But it was a new life without training, without discipline, with tradition lost, with none of her leaders trained either in government or in war. Of course she blundered. It was a blunder of responsibility. (Some Opposition cheers). Well, it is nothing to laugh at. (Cheers.)

They are people who have been trampled upon for a long time. Theirs were mistakes of inexperience and of a people who had no chance to learn how to govern. And that is their weakness in their struggle for independence. It is not lack of gallantry, bravery, heroism or patriotism. There is no more heroic, patriotic or gifted race in the world than the Poles, but they have not had the necessary training, and catastrophe has come upon them before they found themselves or their leaders or their strength or were able to organize themselves.

I appeal to a party which is organized and claims to be organized to protect the weak and knows what organization means in protection of the weak, not to be too hard on the unorganized and very largely unskilled labors of statesmanship in Poland. (Cheers.)

An Honorable Member—Or in Moscow.

Well, that is a very different story. There they have machinery at their disposal which is a very old one and in many senses a very perfect one. It is because they have that machinery that they have been able to survive so many attacks. But that is another matter. The Poles—and I must speak very friendly here—not having this experience must trust to those who possess it. I do not want to disparage the Soviet armies, but with the force at the disposal of the Poles, if it is well directed and well organized, there ought to be no difficulty in resisting. They are no doubt very ably led, but as we know armies in Western Europe they are not formidable.

The equipment, transport and artillery are not formidable. They have brought no artillery forward that would reduce a second-rate fortress, and could not in the time at their disposal. It is therefore essential that if the Poles are to defend their freedom they must accept the advice and direction of people who have had four years' experience in the greatest war the world has ever seen and who have shown capacity for it. No support would be of the slightest avail unless that is done.

No Allied Troops to Poland.

That is one condition. The next point is that no allied troops will be sent to Poland. I made that clear before in this House, and it is a position we have taken definitely.

Colonel Wedgewood—Does that include Hungarian troops?

I am talking now about France and those who were present at the conference.

Lieut. Col. Murray—Does that include all the Allies?

Colonel John Ward—Does it include Montenegro?

We are sending no allied troops to Poland, and that is an essential we should make clear to this country, and it would not be necessary if Polish resources were thoroughly organized and well directed.

The next point is this—this is on the assumption that the Minsk conference fails, and fails not because of any obstinacy on the part of Poland and not because Poland refuses to accept terms which we think in the circumstances are as good as she has a right to expect; it is on the assumption that the Bolshevist Government imposes conditions which are inconsistent with national freedom and existence—in that case the Allies, out of the stores at their disposal, will help equip the Polish people for their own defense.

The next point is that they will be supplied with the necessary military advice and guidance. The next action we shall be prepared to take is action which has always been contemplated in cases of the kind, and that is the exercise of economic pressure upon Soviet Russia in order to release her stranglehold on the lives of the Poles. We propose to do so either by naval action or by international action, or by both.

Now I come to what we shall be forced to do very reluctantly in the contingency I have described—

Interruption by an Honorable Member—And America?

We certainly should appeal to America. America up to the present time has not ratified the treaty, and there is the confusion which exists when the treaty was the subject of a conflict between the two great parties and cannot be settled, and it is not for me to say what view the American Executive will take. All I can say is this: I am only judging from the attitude of America at the Peace Conference. America was a strong protagonist of Polish independence. No man took such an active, determined and I may say zealous part in setting up Polish independence as President Wilson [cheers], and I am quite certain that, whatever differences of opinion there may be in America with regard to the League of Nations, there will be no differences of opinion in the general attitude toward Polish independence. [Cheers.]

I was just coming to another point. We have taken no steps to assist the attack upon Soviet Russia inside her own territory. There is a very formidable attack which has developed upon Southern Russia. We have sent no supplies.

An Honorable Member—Batum.

That is not so. Batum is not in our hands. If any, they are sent by Georgians. We have absolutely no control. We have evacuated Batum. We are not there, and therefore we cannot be supplying them.

At any rate, I can assure the House that if we really wished to support General Wrangel we could have done so much more effectively, and any one who knows the condition of things there knows that there is no country that we could have supported so effectively. We have not done so, because we are anxious to secure peace.

Britain May Aid Wrangel.

But in the contingency I have indicated, we should consider ourselves free to equip his forces. There are stores available in that quarter of the world, very substantial stores, captured and otherwise, which up to the present have not been allowed to go to General Wrangel, which we should feel ourselves free to agree to dispatch to his support, and we should also feel ourselves free to use our fleet for the purpose. All this is on the assumption that the negotiations break down.

These are measures which we should be called upon to take.

Honorable Member—War with Russia!

I am not going into that question. I believe the honorable gentleman is a great supporter of the League of Nations and if that is his view he will render the League ineffective and nugatory if he says that every time you bring economic pressure to bear in order to compel nations to conform to decrees of the League it means war.

I come to another point. In view of statements made in the press, especially the subsidized press [ironical cheers] and especially of the statements made to me today by Labor representatives.

An Honorable Member: Why did you receive them.

If any responsible body of men representing a large body of citizens of this country asked to present their case to me, as long as I am here it is my duty to receive them. In view of statements made to me I am bound to make one or two observations. I gathered from them, as I gathered from the press, that we were supposed to be engaged in a reactionary conspiracy to destroy a democratic Government represented by the peasants and workmen. If any one was under that impression it must have been dispelled since the recent Socialist visits to Russia. One distinguished Socialist came back and said that the Soviet Government was neither Socialist, democratic nor Christian, and that the working classes were in a condition which approximates in many respects to slavery. What then becomes of this claim that we are a reactionary Government trying to destroy a free Government?

I come to another member of the House who is a singularly able spokesman of his party. I mean Thomas Shaw. It is really important in view of the statements which have been circulated that this is an organized conspiracy of great capitalists like myself [laughter] against the workmen and peasants of Russia, that we should understand exactly what the position is. This is what Shaw said a few days ago at a Socialist conference at Geneva: "In Russia there is no freedom, no democracy, only autocratic rule by a small group."

Will Thorne, interrupting: "He did not say that. I was there."

In the absence of Mr. Shaw I accept that statement. But I will quote another stateme it which he did make. This is what Shaw said in an interview in The Edinburgh Evening News of June 22: "The people are submitting not only to military compulsion but to industrial compulsion, which the workers of Britain have never dreamt of."

Colonel Wedgewood (interrupting)—Not even under this reactionay Government. (Laughter.)

We have listened a good deal to the honorable member extolling Bolshevism, but he must bear with me for a few moments while I assure the House of Commons, and through the House of Commons the country, that this is really not a sort of trade union organization representing six millions of downtrodden workmen and ten millions of downtrodden peasants, but quite the reverse.

Quotes Bertrand Russell.

I trust the members of the House and the country will read the very remarkable articles of Bertrand Russell.

Mr. Lawson (interrupting)—You prosecuted him.

Lloyd George (continuing)—We did prosecute him, and I believe he was sentenced. I should have thought he had everything that would commend him to the Bolshevists. He qualified in every possible way, and he went there a Communist pacifist sympathizer with Bolshevism in every respect, and he has written his account of it. He said: "All the real power is in the hands of the Communist Party, who number about 600,000 in a population of about 120,000,000." That means, if you reduce them to the same proportion, that 200,000 men in this country would govern, and all the rest would be ruled out. It would mean only one-thirtieth of the trade unionists of the country, so they must not imagine that Soviet government means a government of trade unionists. It means a government by that little section of trade unionists who assume that they have got all the intelligence, all the intellect, all the knowledge and all the prescience of the party and try to tyrannize over the workers of the trade union world.

Let us see how this democratic government is constituted, this Soviet Government of the people, this reign of the people. [Laughter.] I would really like to have the attention especially of the honorable members opposite. It is really worth their while, because this is what I am afraid they are trying to negotiate.

Will Thorne—Are you trying to get us out of temper? [Labor cheers.]

Lloyd George—I know my honorable friend is a very good-tempered man. Surely we must not lose our tempers the moment we have something we do not like. That is all very well in the Soviet system [laughter], but in the Parliamentary system we are accustomed to listen to disagreeable things about one another and about one's friends.

Now, this is what Russell says about this great democratic Government: "No conceivable system of free election would give majorities to the Communists either in the town or country. Various methods are therefore adopted for giving the victory to the Government candidates."

A Labor Member—The coupon. [Loud laughter.]

Lloyd George (continuing)—I can assure my honorable friends they have improved enormously on it [laughter], and if they will only listen they will see how much better they understand electioneering there than we poor infants. [Laughter.]

In the first place, the voting is by a show of hands, so that all who vote against the Government are marked men. In the next place, no candidate who is not a Communist can have any printing done. [Laughter.] It is quite right—the printing works are all in the hands of the State. In the third place, he cannot address any meetings, because the halls all belong to the State. The whole of the press is, of course, official. No independent daily is permitted.

Now, that is how they elect representatives of the peasants and workmen in this great democratic State which we poor, wretched reactionaries are trying to suppress. [Laughter.] That is what they have done in the towns. It is nothing to the country. There are few Communists among the workmen, but there are none among the peasants.

In the country districts the method employed was different: (Reading) "It was impossible to secure that village Soviets should consist of Communists because in the villages where I was there were no Communists. When I asked whether they were represented I was met with the reply that they were not represented at all, but all agreed in the assertion that if they elected a (non-Communist representative he could not obtain a pass on the railways and, therefore, could not go near the Soviets."

There is so much that indicates the democratic kind of government, representing the workmen and peasants of Russia, whom we are supposed to be fighting against! I am all for peace, and I do not think it makes a difference whether it is the Czarist Government or a government you approve or do not approve, but do not let us pretend that a Parliament which is elected by practically universal suffrage, whether in France or in Great Britain, where the vast majority of the electors are workingmen, that they are simply out to destroy a workmen's government in Russia. There are no workmen or peasants in the Russian Government. Lenin, I believe, is an aristocrat and Trotzky is a journalist. In fact, my right honorable friend, the Secretary for War (Winston Churchill) is the embodiment of both. (Laughter.)

Answer to Labor Deputation.

I want to say this because of a misconception in the minds of people—deliberately sown in their minds. [Cries, "There is none."]

Yes, there is. I listened to a trade union deputation today and I told them I would give my answer here. Here is the theme before me and my friends: "You are fighting this Government because it is a revolutionary Government. The workmen of this country will not tolerate your overthrowing a government merely because it is revolutionary."

When the revolution took place we instantly recognized the Government. The second Government was a moderate one with Socialists interspersed, and the third Government was purely a Socialist Government with as good Socialists as any in this House. We recognized it and we supported it. We gave it support in munitions as long as they were faithful to Russia's bond. (Cries of "Bonds.") I say "bond" (cheers). What is the bond of a nation that will not stand by her word? She was in the war before us. France came in to support Russia. Belgium came in to support France. We came in to support Belgium and France.

Russia was in first and we agreed that no one should go out and negotiate a separate peace. Who broke that word? (Cries of "The Czar.") No, he did not. (Considerable interruption during which the speaker said that honorable members would have plenty of opportunity to reply later.] I want to make it clear to the people of this country, because up to the present we have had propaganda. [Cheers.] We will have real facts in the minds of the people. [Interruptions.] I make this assertion: These three revolutionary governments were recognized and supported, and if we broke with the present one it was not because it was revolutionary, but because it broke the bond with us to pursue the war to the end.

Ready for Peace with Sovietism.

I say now that if they want peace they can get it. The London conference proposal was intended to establish peace with Sovietism. We are prepared to fight it with the same weapons as we fight other political creeds with which we do not agree. In the end one or the other will triumph, or something else will emerge better suited to the conditions of the time. If any one here wants to preach the doctrines of Sovietism we can meet them I trust in the common sense of the people of this country. (Cheers.) Peace is essential for all creeds that are worth preserving.

We made the offer which, if the Soviet Government really meant peace, they would have accepted. They could have met all the nations of Europe and probably America at the council table and discussed all conditions. I do not believe that mere revenge on Poland, mere punishment of Poland, mere destruction in Poland, is enough in itself to induce the Soviet Government to decline peace. The point is this: Are they for peace or have they something else in view? Frankly, I think they themselves are divided. In every land you get men who urge wild, extravagant, irrational methods. In every land you get divisions and shades of opinion—in every Government. The whole point is whether these were of that type. They are in the minority in Russia. Whether they are in a minority in the Soviet I do not know. Those are men who are out merely to destroy and shatter, who only dance to the music of smashing furniture. The doubt is whether these men are to be in control or whether saner elements. I saw a crazy charlatan, who is writing today, who wanted us to widen the conflict, as if it was not wide enough. If you get a real desire for peace you can get it, but if you are out to challenge the institutions upon which the liberties and civilization of Europe depend, then we shall meet at Phillippi.

Text of Secretary Colby's Note on Russia and Poland

was fully known to this Government and sympathetically comprehended. Prudence, self-interest and loyalty to our associates made it desirable that we should give moral and material support to the Provisional Government, which was struggling to accomplish a twofold task—to carry on the war with vigor and, at the same time, to reorganize the life of the nation and establish a stable government based on popular sovereignty.

Quite independent of these motives, however, was the sincere friendship of the Government and the people of the United States for the Great Russian nation. The friendship manifested by Russia toward this nation in a time of trial and distress has left with us an imperishable sense of gratitude. It was as a grateful friend that we sent to Russia an expert commission to aid in bringing about such a reorganization of the railroad transportation system of the country as would reinvigorate the whole of its economic life and so add to the well being of the Russian people.

While deeply regretting the withdrawal of Russia from the war at a critical time, and the disastrous surrender at Brest-Litovsk, the United States has fully understood that the people of Russia were in no wise responsible.

Faith in Overcoming Anarchy.

The United States maintains unimpaired its faith in the Russian people, in their high character and their future. That they will overcome the existing anarchy, suffering and destitution we do not entertain the slightest doubt. The distressing character of Russia's transition has many historical parallels, and the United States is confident that restored, free and united Russia will again take a leading place in the world, joining with the other free nations in upholding peace and orderly justice.

Until that time shall arrive the United States feels that friendship and honor require that Russia's interests must be generously protected, and that, as far as possible, all decisions of vital importance to it, and especially those concerning its sovereignty over the territory of the former Russian Empire, be held in abeyance. By this feeling of friendship and honorable obligation to the great nation whose brave and heroic self-sacrifice contributed so much to the successful termination of the war, the Government of the United States was guided in its reply to the Lithuanian National Council, on Oct. 15, 1919, and in its persistent refusal to recognize the Baltic States as separate nations independent of Russia. The same spirit was manifested in the note of this Government of March 24, 1920, in which it was stated, with reference to certain proposed settlements in the Near East, that "no final decision should or can be made without the consent of Russia."

In line with these important declarations of policy, the United States withheld its approval from the decision of the Supreme Council at Paris recognizing the independence of the so-called Republics of Georgia and Azerbaijan, and so instructed its representative in Southern Russia, Rear Admiral Newton A. McCully.

Want Russian Backing for Armenia.

Finally, while gladly giving recognition to the independence of Armenia, the Government of the United States has taken the position that final determination of its boundaries must not be made without Russia's co-operation and agreement. Not only is Russia concerned because a considerable part of the territory of the new State of Armenia, when it shall be defined, formerly belonged to the Russian Empire; equally important is the fact that Armenia must have the good-will and the protective friendship of Russia if it is to remain independent and free.

These illustrations show with what consistency the Government of the United States has been guided in its foreign policy by a loyal friendship for Russia. We are unwilling that while it is helpless in the grip of a non-representative Government, whose only sanction is brutal force, Russia shall be weakened still further by a policy of dismemberment, conceived in other than Russian interests.

With the desire of the allied powers to bring about a peaceful solution of the existing difficulties in Europe this Government is, of course, in hearty accord, and will support any justifiable steps to that end. It is unable to perceive, however, that a recognition of the Soviet régime would promote, much less accomplish, this object, and it is therefore averse to any dealings with the Soviet régime beyond the most narrow boundaries to which a discussion of an armistice can be confined.

That the present rulers of Russia do not rule by the will or the consent of any considerable proportion of the Russian people is an incontestible fact. Although nearly two and a half years have passed since they seized the machinery of government, promising to protect the Constituent Assembly against alleged conspiracies against it, they have not yet permitted anything in the nature of a popular election. At the moment when the work of creating a popular representative government, based upon universal suffrage, was nearing completion the Bolsheviki, although in number an inconsiderable minority of the people, by force and cunning seized the powers and machinery of Government, and have continued to use them with savage oppression to maintain themselves in power.

Without any desire to interfere in the internal affairs of the Russian people, or to suggest what kind of government they should have, the Government of the United States does express the hope that they will soon find a way to set up a government representing their free will and purpose. When that time comes the United States will consider the measures of practical assistance which can be taken to promote the restoration of Russia, provided Russia has not taken itself wholly out of the pale of the friendly interest of other nations by the pillage and oppression of the Poles.

It is not possible for the Government of the United States to recognize the present rulers of Russia as a Government with which the relations common to friendly Governments can be maintained. This conviction has nothing to do with any particular political or social structure which the Russian people themselves may see fit to embrace. It rests upon a wholly different set of facts. These facts, which none disputes, have convinced the Government of the United States, against its will, that the existing régime in Russia is based upon the negation of every principle of honor and good faith, and every usage and convention, underlying the whole structure of international law, the negation, in short, of every principle upon which it is possible to base harmonious and trustful relations, whether of nations or of individuals.

The responsible leaders of the régime have frequently and openly boasted that they are willing to sign agreements and undertakings with foreign powers while not having the slightest intention of observing such undertakings or carrying out such agreements. This attitude of disregard of obligations voluntarily entered into, they base upon the theory that no compact or agreement made with a non-Bolshevist government can have any moral force for them. They have not only avowed this as a doctrine, but have exemplified it in practice.

Indeed, upon numerous occasions the responsible spokesmen of this power, and its official agencies, have declared that it is their understanding that the very existence of Bolshevism in Russia, the maintenance of their own rule, depends, and must continue to depend, upon the occurrence of revolutions in all other great civilized nations, including the United States, which will overthrow and destroy their governments and set up Bolshevist rule in their stead. They have made it quite plain that they intend to use every means, including, of course, diplomatic agencies, to promote such revolutionary movements in other countries.

It is true that they have in various ways expressed their willingness to give "assurance," and "guarantees" that they will not abuse the privileges and immunities of diplomatic agencies by using them for this purpose. In view of their own declarations, already referred to, such assurances and guarantees cannot be very seriously regarded.

Threats of the Internationale.

Moreover, it is within the knowledge of the Government of the United States that the Bolshevist Government is itself subject to the control of a political faction with extensive international ramifications through the Third Internationale, and that this body, which is heavily subsidized by the Bolshevist Government from the public revenues of Russia, has for its openly avowed aim the promotion of Bolshevist revolutions throughout the world. The leaders of the Bolsheviki have boasted that their promises of non-interference with other nations would in no wise bind the agents of this body.

There is no room for reasonable doubt that such agents would receive the support and protection of any diplomatic agencies the Bolsheviki might have in other countries. Inevitably, therefore, the diplomatic service of the Bolshevist Government would become a channel for intrigues and the propaganda of revolt against the institutions and laws of countries, with which it was at peace, which would be an abuse of friendship to which enlightened Governments cannot subject themselves.

In the view of this Government, there cannot be any common ground upon which it can stand with a power whose conceptions of international relations are so entirely alien to its own, so utterly repugnant to its moral sense. There can be no mutual confidence or trust, no respect even, if pledges are to be given and agreements made with a cynical repudiation of their obligations already in the mind of one of the parties. We cannot recognize, hold official relations with, or give friendly reception to the agents of a Government which is determined and bound to conspire against our institutions: whose diplomats will be the agitators of dangerous revolt; whose spokesmen say that they sign agreements with no intention of keeping them.

Opposes Invasion of Russia.

To summarize the position of this Government, I would say, therefore, in response to your Excellency's inquiry, that it would regard with satisfaction a declaration by the allied and associated powers that the territorial integrity and true boundaries of Russia shall be respected. These boundaries should properly include the whole of the former Russian Empire, with the exception of Finland proper, ethnic Poland, and such territory as may by agreement form a part of the Armenian State.

The aspirations of these nations for independence are legitimate. Each was forcibly annexed, and their liberation from oppressive alien rule involves no aggressions against Russia's territorial rights, and has received the sanction of the public opinion of all free peoples. Such a declaration presupposes the withdrawal of all foreign troops from the territory embraced by these boundaries, and in the opinion of this Government should be accompanied by the announcement that no transgression by Poland, Finland, or any other power, of the line so drawn and proclaimed will be permitted.

Thus only can the Bolshevist régime be deprived of its false but effective appeal to Russian nationalism and compelled to meet the inevitable challenge of reason and self-respect which the Russian people, secure from invasion and territorial violation, are sure to address to a social philosophy that degrades them and a tyranny that oppresses them.

The policy herein outlined will command the support of this Government.

Accept, Excellency, the renewed assurance of my highest consideration.

BAINBRIDGE COLBY.

His Excellency, Baron Cammillo Romano Avezzana, Ambassador of Italy.

POLES ASK WEYGAND TO LEAD THEIR ARMY

With Bolsheviki Closing In on Warsaw, They Turn at Last to Foch's Assistant.

BUT DISLIKE HIS PLANS

He Would Evacuate Galicia and Lublin Region to Concentrate on Big Offensive.

MINISTER OF WAR RESIGNS

Armies Battling on the Warsaw-Danzig Railroad—Ciechanow Lost, Then Recaptured by Poles.

PARIS, Aug. 10 (Associated Press).—General Weygand of the French Army has been offered supreme command of the Polish forces by the Polish Council of National Defense, according to a Warsaw dispatch to the Havas Agency. The decision was taken at a meeting of the body called to discuss the defense of Warsaw and the reorganization of the army.

Belief is expressed in Warsaw, says the Havas message, that General Weygand will accept the command under conditions that the troops in Eastern Galicia and the Lublin region be evacuated to concentrate all available forces for a big offensive. Polish circles, however, it is added, do not view this manoeuver with favor.

Slowly but surely the Bolsheviki are closing in on Warsaw, according to the latest news reaching Paris. Appreciable reinforcements appear to have been brought to the Northern Soviet Army, and in the Mlawa region their advance is growing more dangerous. While the latter movement does not immediately threaten communications between Warsaw and Danzig through the Vistula Valley, the Poles, nevertheless, will be obliged to form a new army north of Warsaw to cope with it.

To do so the Poles would have to draw on the army which is concentrating north of Lublin with the object of falling on Russian forces which managed to cross to the left bank of the Bug River in that region, a manoeuvre which military experts believe might be the means of saving Warsaw and inflicting a serious check on the Bolsheviki. But apparently this operation is no longer possible, for the situation is notably worse on the Bug east of Warsaw, the Bolsheviki having succeeded in extending two bridgeheads they held on the left bank below Drohiczin.

French military opinion is convinced the Poles will be obliged to abandon the Bug River, where they are still holding on, and fall back on the Vistula, after making a brief stand on the Vieprz River. Under these circumstances the battle of Warsaw would be fought in Warsaw itself.

Ciechanow Taken Then Lost by Reds.

WARSAW, Aug. 10 (Associated Press).—Ciechanow, a town thirty-five miles northwest of this city, has been reached by Bolshevist detachments which are attempting to reach the Warsaw-Danzig Railroad, according to an official statement issued here late last night. It is indicated that the Soviet forces were driven back following their entry into Ciechanow. No changes of significance in the rest of the battle line northeast and east of Warsaw are shown in the text of the statement, which follows:

"Bolshevist detachments, continuing their pressure toward the Danzig Railroad, occupied Ciechanow for a short time. East of Siedlce, the Poles are regrouping their forces. Between the Bug and Narew Rivers the situation is inactive.

"Polish detachments that reoccupied Brody have expelled the enemy from Radziwilov, capturing a battery of cannon and machine guns. North of Brody the enemy is actively preparing an attack to the westward. Between the Stripa and Sereth Rivers our forces have defeated the Bolsheviki, taking 400 prisoners, including a regimental staff, and capturing machine guns.

War Minister Resigns.

General Leszniewski, Polish Minister of War, has resigned and has been succeeded by General Solnokowski, it was reported here this morning.

Evacuation trains are leaving Warsaw hourly on the last line remaining open to the Baltic by way of Thorn. All these trains are crowded to capacity. All the Americans, with the exception of those having urgent business in Warsaw, were notified by the legation to leave by Wednesday night or their passports would be taken up. This, it is stated, is a precautionary measure to prevent the possibility of the passports falling into the hands of the Bolsheviki.

Major Michael Fibich of Brooklyn, American Military Attaché here, has resigned in order to organize a Polish artillery detachment. Major Fibich was born in America of a Polish mother.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—Entry into Warsaw by Soviet troops this week is expected by Bolshevist sympathizers in this city, says The London Times, quoting a correspondent, who declares that immediately after Warsaw is taken a Soviet Government will be established there.

Members of the Polish Government are reluctant to leave Warsaw, says a dispatch from the Polish capital to the same paper bearing a Monday date. It says the Ministers declare nothing is settled and that for the present they will remain in the city.

"It is clear there is the greatest reluctance to going," says the correspondent, "and this is not surprising, since the departure of the Cabinet would probably be the signal for the appearance of a rival Government."

In view of the Soviet threat to cut the direct railroad from Warsaw to Danzig the Poles have repaired the line between the two cities, which runs by the way of Thorn, Bromberg and Dirschau, says The Times. This road is fully twice the length of the direct one, but is well outside the area of military operations, and by it the Poles can keep in communication with their Baltic port.

Progress on all sides in the advance from Warsaw is announced in Monday's official statement from Moscow, received by wireless today. (Reports on Monday from other sources already had chronicled most of the advances recorded in this communiqué.) The statement reads:

"The Soviet troops have occupied Przasnysz and Ostrolenka and points 12 to 14 miles southwest of Ostrolenka. We forced the River Narew near a suburb of Rozan and occupied the suburb. We have reached points ten miles northeast of Wyszkow, and have occupied the village of Brok and Malkin station. We have occupied Sokolow.

"In the direction of Siedlce and Lukow (seventeen miles south of Siedlce), after breaking the enemy's resistance on the left bank of the Bug, we occupied Pilatrovo station and a point ten miles west of the Bug. Fighting is proceeding for Wlodawa (on the Bug south of Brest-Litovsk). In the Chelm region (forty-five miles east of Lublin) we forced the Bug south of the Chelm-Kovel Railway and occupied a number of villages on the west bank of the Bug.

"Fierce fighting is proceeding with a considerable enemy force near Brody.

Germans Say Poles Are Collapsing.

BERLIN, Aug. 10 (Associated Press).—The north wing of the Polish Army, destined to defend Warsaw on the north, is dissolving under pressure of the Fourth Russian Army, says a special dispatch to the Vossische Zeitung from the East Prussian frontier.

Accompanied by the First and Second Caucasian Artillery Corps, adds the dispatch, the 12th, 18th and 44th Russian Divisions have crossed the foremost lines held by this north wing. The Russians are backed up also by eight infantry divisions and the Third Caucasian Artillery Corps. Their movement supposedly is directed against Thorn.

Up to this time the former German boundary at the southern end of the Soldau sector has not yet been crossed by the Russian patrols. The Russian front, the East Prussian dispatch indicates, now runs from Mlawa (a little to the southeast of Soldau) to Ciechanow and thence east to Rozan.

The Poles, it is added, have declined to furnish battle between Ostrolenka and the Bug River. They have retired in the direction of Wyszkow (about thirty-five miles northeast of Warsaw), where they are being flanked on the east. The Soviet forces have also advanced beyond Sokolow.

The special dispatch states that the Red cavalry is likely to invade the Danzig corridor at any moment, and that it is tactically impossible for the Poles to leave their north flank exposed.

LITTLE HARD FIGHTING SEEN.

Observers Tell of Few Polish Wounded—Confusion Due to Staff.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—Notwithstanding reports of "bloody fighting," "desperate counterattacks" and of "stubborn resistance" that come not only from the Poles but from the Bolsheviki there appear to be hardly any Polish wounded. Sir Maurice Handkey, just back from Warsaw, told the Premiers at Hythe that he only saw a single wounded man in the whole Polish capital. Statements by Red Cross and other American relief workers returned to Paris from Warsaw concur entirely.

"We saw masses of retreating troops," they say, "some in fairly good order, some weaponless and disorganized and laden with poultry, wheat sheaves and other edible loot. We saw floods of refugees also, but we saw no wounded, nor was there a sound of shellfire, even in the localities that Reds were entering."

For a week or more French dispatches from Warsaw have been referring more or less covertly to the difficulties experienced by General Weygand. Today the Echo de Paris correspondent says straight out that the real source of trouble is disagreement between the Austrian-trained, Russian-trained and German-trained high polish officers. The latter are probably the most efficient but the former most influential. Add to the mixture a strong French ingredient in the shape of a military mission and the only wonder is that the result has not been a violent explosion instead of simply confusion and mutual negation of effort.

HOPE SEEN IN TRUCE TERMS.

British Cabinet Said to Judge Them Good Basis for Negotiation.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Wednesday, Aug. 11.—The Daily Chronicle's political correspondent says the view of the Ministers on the Russian armistice terms is that on the whole they prove a satisfactory basis for negotiation although there are conditions which obviously require elucidation not only in the interest of the Poles but in the interest of a stable peace.

"The Cabinet, as Lloyd George stated," he goes on, "are naturally precluded from expressing in advance their views on these proposals, which have to be discussed at Minsk today. They have, however, communicated their first impression on the terms to the Polish Government. It is agreed that a new situation has been created by the proposal of the armistice terms, which are not, at any rate, lacking in a reasonable spirit."

Editorially The Daily Chronicle says:

"The armistice terms proposed by Russia do not challenge the independence of Poland. They accept the armistice line laid down in Lord Curzon's note and offer some additional territory within the future frontier with a flourish of generosity. The military terms are severe, but they are such as a successful army may be expected to demand.

"The great fact which we must acclaim at the moment is that the Bolsheviki at last have offered the minimum terms which Lloyd George laid down and that thanks to him and to Millerand Poland is no longer required to make the supreme sacrifice."

SENDS RELIEF FUND TO DANZIG

Joint Distribution Committee Acts to Aid Refugees There.

The Joint Distribution Committee in New York yesterday received the following wireless message:

"Danzig overrun with war victims from Poland. Situation is critical. Immediate help necessary. Local community doing utmost, but unable to handle the problem. It is impossible to connect with Joint Distribution Committee at Warsaw. Local representative Jews appeal that we cable Joint Distribution Committee, New York, for 150,000 German marks for emergency relief pending transmission. Detailed report by mail. Please act immediately."

Immediately upon the receipt of the message the committee appropriated the 150,000 marks and forwarded the money to Danzig.

COX SETS OUT TODAY TO OPEN FIRST TOUR

Goes to Columbus to Clean Up State Affairs and from There to Camp Perry to Speak.

TO VISIT NEW HAVEN AUG. 28

He Talks Again with Suffragists and May Send Wilbur Marsh to Tennessee to Aid Cause.

Special to The New York Times.

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 10.—Governor Cox starts on the long trail tomorrow. He will go to Columbus in the morning, attend to State business and receive the latest reports concerning the suffrage fight which is being waged in the Tennessee Legislature, and leave for Camp Perry, Ohio, early Thursday morning. He will make the long trip by automobile, make an address at the rifle grounds at Camp Perry and then return by motor to Columbus.

On Saturday the Governor will go to Wheeling, W. Va., by automobile, and make two addresses there.

Word was received here today that a night meeting in New Haven, Conn., has been added to the Governor's engagements for Aug. 28. On that day the Governor will speak first at the Police Field Day at Sheepshead Bay and then take a 6 o'clock train for New Haven to deliver his address there. He will return to either Dayton or Columbus from New Haven and prepare for the long swing into the far West.

Governor Cox was suffering from a slight attack of neuralgia today and endeavored to spare himself as much as possible. It is believed that he caught a slight cold on Sunday while making campaign phonograph records. He expects to be in top form again tomorrow.

Cox Votes in Primary.

Governor Cox was up early today to vote in the Primary Election. He cast his ballot, No. 12, at a booth fitted up in a combination barber-shop and candy store in the little town of Carrmonte. The Governor folded his ballot tightly and put it in the box. He would not tell for whom he voted.

Later in the day Governor Cox had a talk with Mrs. Abbie Scott Baker, political manager of the National Woman's Party. Mrs. Baker told the Governor that the situation of the suffrage amendment in the Tennessee Legislature was again alarming. She said that several of the Senators who had promised to vote for ratification were wabbling and that one or two, at least, were actually working quietly to defeat ratification.

Governor Cox was urged today by the suffrage workers to send Wilbur Marsh or some other prominent Democratic leader to Nashville to take personal charge. The Governor endeavored to get Mr. Marsh on the telephone, in Chicago, to talk over the situation with him, but failed. It is probable that a decision as to the course to be followed will be made tomorrow.

Mrs. Baker, discussing the situation with your correspondent, said that what the women wanted was a little direction. She was satisfied, she said, that if the leaders, Democrats and Republicans, would take hold as if they meant it, the success of the measure was assured. But Mrs. Baker added that she wasn't satisfied with the way the thing was being done.

Leaves to See Harding.

When Mrs. Baker left Governor Cox's office she headed for the railroad station, asserting that she was going to Marion to "put it up" to Senator Harding. She may return to Columbus tomorrow for another talk with the Democratic nominee.

Governor Cox received another big batch of telegrams and letters today congratulating him on his speech of acceptance. Secretary of the Navy Daniels sent this message:

"Your speech more than met the highest expectations. It will receive the hearty approval of all who believe in plain speech and brave action. Am writing."

Frederick D. Gardner, Governor of Missouri, sent this telegram:

"On behalf of Missouri democracy please allow me to congratulate you on your great speech. It was clear, explicit and understandable, just what people like. Push Harding off the porch. Then we will have them on the defensive."

Dr. Burris of Kansas City, Mo., who persisted in presenting the name of William G. McAdoo to the San Francisco Convention, stopped off at Trails End to personally congratulate Governor Cox on his address. He is of the anti-Reed faction and expressed the belief that the Democrats would carry Missouri in the Fall election.

WOMEN TO GO ON STUMP.

Republicans Plan to Have 2,000 to Speak on Same Platforms as Men.

Special to The New York Times.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Mrs. John T. Pratt of New York, Vice Chairman of the Republican Ways and Means Committee, spent a busy day at Republican national headquarters here, conferring on plans whereby a small army of Republican women is to be enrolled to take the stump for Senator Harding. Republican women to the number of 2,000 or more are to discuss the issues from the same platform as men during the Presidential campaign.

The women's speaking campaign will be conducted on the "Minnesota plan," the features of which are:

1. Women will speak from the same platforms everywhere with the men at old-fashioned political rallies.
2. The greatest encouragement will be given development of women speakers in all local communities.
3. Every State will be urged to follow the "Minnesota plan" of special training for women speakers through Congressional district and county organizations.

HARDING MEN AIM TO SHIFT CHIEF ISSUE

disposition either by Senator Harding or the Republican National Committee to mix in anything but national politics. Some episodes of the 1916 Presidential campaign are still fresh in the memory of Republican leaders.

"There has been no thought of a change in plans relating to Senator Harding's part in the campaign," Mr. Hays said. "It has been a conviction of Senator Harding that he can speak deliberately at home and befittingly cover a variety of interesting topics, and neither he nor his close friends have found a reason to change their minds. It was said at the start that the decision is not unalterable, but there is no program in contemplation which involves a change. A couple of especial speeches for exceptional events are not unlikely when the proper time comes."

Asked when the main part of the Republican speaking and advertising campaign would begin, Mr. Hays replied: "Not much before the middle of September."

"What part will Mr. Taft play in the campaign?" Mr. Hays was asked.

"He is going to take an active part, of course," he answered.

"Will he take the stump?"

"I don't know. Mr. Taft is in Canada now and I have not been able to talk with him."

To Receive Porch Pilgrims.

Senator Harding having announced he would not leave his front porch to speak in other cities before the first of October, his headquarters are making arrangements for delegations to Marion during this month and September.

Edmund M. Wasmuth of Huntington, Ind., Chairman of the Republican State Committee, and Judge Vernon W. Van Fleet of South Bend, head of the Indiana League of Republican Clubs, talked with Senator Harding today about plans for several Indiana delegations to visit the front porch during the campaign.

They are planning at least four or five Indiana demonstrations in Marion, of which the first will be on Aug. 28.

Delegations from Indianapolis and the northern part of the State, particularly the Tenth, Twelfth and Thirteenth Congressional districts, will come at that time. Others will be arranged later as dates can be given to them.

"The Indiana situation is now the best I have known since I have been in politics," said Chairman Wasmuth. "We had some friction over the earlier contests, but Senator Harding's nomination did much to smooth matters out, because in his campaign before the primary he gave offense to none of the other candidates or their supporters. Two years ago we carried the State by 50,000, and we will do at least that well this year."

ROOSEVELT STARTS ON WESTERN TOUR

Will Open Democratic Campaign with Speech in Chicago Auditorium Tonight.

READY FOR IRISH QUESTION

Will Meet It When Raised, He Says —To Discuss West's Problems In His Addresses.

On his way from his Hyde Park home to Chicago where he is to open the Democratic Presidential campaign tonight with a speech at the Auditorium Theatre, Franklin D. Roosevelt, Democratic candidate for Vice President, stopped off at the National Committee headquarters in the Grand Central Palace yesterday long enough to hold a conference with George White, chairman of the National Committee, Senator Pat Harrison, in charge of the speakers' bureau, and other party leaders.

From Chicago Mr. Roosevelt will start on his western trip, which will take him to the Pacific Coast and back. The Auditorium speech will be the first of the campaign. It was announced that great interest has been aroused in Chicago over the speech and that 5,700 tickets have already been issued by the Cook County Central Committee. It is likely that an overflow meeting will be held.

Receives Message from Cox.

Mr. Roosevelt devoted a part of his time yesterday to reading telegrams and letters congratulating him upon his speech accepting the Vice Presidential nomination. Among these, Mr. Roosevelt said, was a telegram from Governor Cox wishing him good luck and a pleasant trip on his fifteen-day tour. Before boarding a train for Chicago last night Mr. Roosevelt declared he had absolute confidence that the Democratic Party would triumph in the election.

"The splendid enthusiasm shown at Hyde Park yesterday," he said, "has confirmed my belief that this country does believe in ideals, and in making those ideals practical realities. It is typical of the American people that they are not content to dream dreams, but insist on making them come true. I have unshaken confidence that the people will decide in favor of my party because my party is striving to make ideals realities. I feel that our task as spokesmen for the party in this campaign is to convince the people of our sincerity and earnestness in our purpose. That they will approve the purpose itself I have not the slightest doubt.

"Of course the West had tremendous problems peculiarly its own; problems which I sometimes feel the East little understands. These problems will, of course, be taken up in my speeches. I hope at the same time to receive a very clear idea and understanding of the needs of that great section of the country through which I will travel."

While still at national headquarters Mr. Roosevelt was asked if the party leaders were afraid that the League of Nations covenant, as desired by President Wilson would drive the Irish Democrats out of the party, as had been predicted by Senator Gore, Senator Walsh and others.

"I am prepared to meet that proposition at any time," replied Mr. Roosevelt quickly, "but I have not dived into it as yet because it has not yet been presented. I am going West where there are not many Irish," Mr. Roosevelt went on with a laugh, "and I may not deal with the idea at all. But whenever it comes up I will be prepared to meet it."

To Make Labor Day Address.

When Mr. Roosevelt returns to the East he will make an important Labor Day address at a meeting in Boston on Sept. 6.

Chairman White of the National Committee was at his desk yesterday for the first time since he attended the Cox notification address at Dayton. Asked about the stand of the Irish on the League of Nations issue Mr. White said: "We believe that the League of Nations is the solution of all international war problems, and I believe that all Democrats will accept it as such when they come fully to understand it. Governor Cox dwelt at length on the subject in his address, and whatever we do in the campaign will be in harmony with his ideas."

The Chairman said that Governor Cox had accepted an invitation to address a Democratic rally in New Haven on Aug. 26, the same day on which he speaks here at the police field games.

Mr. Roosevelt's advocacy of administrative reform at Washington was indorsed yesterday by the New York Committee of the National Public Works Department Association. In a formal statement the committee, of which Adolph Lewisohn is Chairman and J. Parke Channing Vice Chairman, declared that the Democratic Vice Presidential nominee had placed himself squarely in line with the purposes of the association and had handsomely fulfilled the assurance made to the Secretary of the committee, James T. Grady of Columbia University, recently that he was in thorough sympathy with the project to eliminate waste from the conduct of public business.

Among the members of the New York committee are A. Barton Hepburn, George Gordon Battle, H. Hobart Porter, T. Coleman du Pont, Clarence H. Kelsey, Francis Blossom, Miss Mabel Choate, L. J. Horwitz, Henry R. Towne, W. A. Starrett, Miss Mary Garrett Hay, Lewis Nixon, Dean George B. Pegram of Columbia University, Samuel McCune Lindsay and Miss Lillian Wald.

LUNN OPENS PRIMARY FIGHT

Candidate for Nomination for Senator Assails Tammany.

Special to The New York Times.

BINGHAMTON, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Mayor George R. Lunn of Schenectady launched his primary campaign for the nomination for United States Senator on the Democratic ticket in a speech at the Broome County fair grounds this afternoon. Owing to threatening weather the crowd was not very large.

"I was advised by one of the up-State leaders," he said, "that it might be well for me to see Mr. Murphy or let it be known I wanted to see him. To this I replied that I could see no reason why I should ask Mr. Murphy or any other member of the machine for the nomination, but could see many reasons why the candidate for United States Senator should be free to serve the people without any sense of political obligation to a machine.

"The Tammany machine will do everything it can to beat me. It may succeed, but I can guarantee it will need overhauling after it completes the job."

M'GRAW FACES ACTION BY LAMBS

the manager had only recently been reinstated after a three months' suspension. The fight with Knight, whom the manager thought he was attacking when he hit Boyd, began as friendly fisticuffs, but didn't end that way.

Mr. Brown said that no other member of The Lambs was to be suspended. He said that McGraw had been asked to appear before the House Committee at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon, but had failed to do so. Mr. Boyd, however, appeared and gave a full account of the affair. It was said that Slavin had acted as a peacemaker and had not been hit while in the club.

"I cannot understand, however," Mr. Brown added, "how Slavin could have got his injuries, such as they are described, by a fall. It is hard to fall on both sides of one's face."

Mr. Brown said that the Federal prohibition authorities had got in touch with him yesterday concerning the possible sale of liquor in the club. Mr. Brown said that he had offered to cooperate in every way with them, and had invited Chief Agent Shevlin to come to the clubhouse today as a guest and make a complete search of the place for liquid contraband. Mr. Shevlin said he would go there this afternoon.

"Any liquor in this club," remarked Mr. Brown, "could have been brought in only in a bottle or in the members' stomachs."

At McGraw's home a reporter managed to ascend to the fifth floor and knock at the manager's apartment. The door was opened by Magistrate F. X. McQuade, Treasurer of the New York Baseball Club, who said that McGraw would have no statement to make. It was said that the manager was in his apartments, and had been there ever since Sunday morning, except for one brief trip to the Polo Grounds clubhouse.

JAPAN'S TRADE REPORT BAD.

Her Imports Exceed Exports Nearly $250,000,000 in Seven Months.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Japan's foreign commerce for the first seven months of 1920 resulted in an unfavorable trade balance of nearly $250,000,000, Commercial Attaché James F. Abbott, at Tokio, reported today to the Department of Commerce.

Imports amounted to approximately $885,000,000, the report stated, while exports were about $636,000,000. While the balance for seven months was a slight increase over that of $242,000,000 for the first six months, the report continued, the rate of increase was smaller than the increase in the unfavorable balance during June, when the figures jumped from $220,000,000, the unfavorable balance for the first five months. The unfavorable balance for the first four months was $163,000,000, and for the first quarter $130,000,000.

AJAX RUBBER PROFITS.

Six Months' Earnings Will Pay Year's Dividends, Says President.

Commenting on the report of the Ajax Rubber Company for the first half of this year, which showed an increase in volume of approximately 16 per cent. over the corresponding 1919 period, Horace De Lisser, President, said yesterday: "Not only has our gross business shown a decided increase, but we have earned a sufficient profit during the first six months to provide the dividend for the entire year 1920, two quarterly payments of which already have been made. In addition, there is a substantial amount added to our surplus account, which, as of June 30, shows to be $3,000,000 after deducting all dividends paid to date.

"There is every indication that our business for the remainder of the year will continue to show an increase in volume over any previous year."

German Warships Open to Visitors.

The five German warships, which reached this port Monday, are open to public inspection daily from 1 to 5 P. M. while they are anchored in the Hudson River, and they may be reached from the pier at Eightieth Street, the Navy announced yesterday.

It is a popular legend in America that no theatrical manager ever lets a day go by without rejecting the manuscript of a superb play, which, could the public once get a chance at it, would make his and the author's everlasting fortune. This legend is wont to receive a severe setback when, as occasionally happens, an impatient playwright picks up the spurned masterpiece, brushes aside all interference and carping criticism, and produces it himself. So it has befallen in the case of Wilson Collison, the Kansas City druggist who, under the corrective supervision of the expert Avery Hopwood, entered into fame and fortune with "Up in Mabel's Room" and "The Girl in the Limousine." He has taken over the Punch and Judy Theatre and presented there a singularly mirthless and vulgar farce called "The Girl with Carmine Lips."

The title rôle is essayed, with quite explicable anonymity, by an actress who, like the play itself, is known on the program only as The Girl with Carmine Lips. This is the delightful device that was last employed some twenty years ago, when The Girl with the Auburn Hair used to tour the vaudeville circuits singing "Je-roos-ull-em, Je-roos-ull-em," behind a gauze curtain. The identity in this case is equally difficult, though not so important to establish, as there is reason to believe it is her first appearance on any stage.

In a cast full of players notable for their exceptional lung power, our old friend and fellow-sufferer, Dallas Welford, shines like some giant headlight. Mr. Welford has been innocently identified with more than his fair share of the failures of Broadway and the Strand.

EQUITY PICTURES FIRM SUED

Two Directors Ask Accounting and Dispute Treasurer's Election.

Setting forth in their complaint that the affairs of the Equity Pictures Corporation of 33 West Forty-second Street have not been conducted for the best interests of the stockholders, Harry I. Garson and Herbert K. Sanborn, Directors and stockholders, yesterday asked the Supreme Court to compel the corporation and Patrick A. Powers and Emanuel H. Goldstein, also Directors, to render an accounting. The plaintiffs also applied for an injunction restraining the corporation from paying Powers as Treasurer the sum of $300 weekly.

The plaintiffs allege that at a meeting of the Directors held in May Powers was elected a Director, but not an officer of the company. Subsequently, the plaintiffs charge, some one altered the minutes of the meeting making it appear that Powers had been elected Treasurer at a salary of $300 a week.

Garson and Sanborn also allege that since the last Directors' meeting in May they have been refused access to the books of the corporation. The assets, it is stated, consist of $1,000,000 worth of films, some of which feature Clara Kimball Young.

Late yesterday Supreme Court Justice McAvoy, at the request of Joseph I. Schnitz, President of the Equity Pictures Corporation, vacated the appointment of ex-City Chamberlain Alfred J. Johnson as receiver for the corporation. This was the first public intimation that Johnson had been appointed receiver.

Al Jolson Heads Harding League.

It was announced at Republican National Headquarters yesterday that Al Jolson had accepted the Presidency of the Harding and Coolidge Theatrical League. He will direct the league's activities from an office in the Republican Committee Headquarters. The latter part of this month it is expected that Jolson will lead a delegation of actors and actresses to Marion, Ohio, to offer their support to Senator Harding in person.

FATIGUE TAKES HER SPEECH

Mother of Lieutenant Governor of Colorado Found Here.

Speechless from exhaustion after a journey from Denver, Mrs. Elizabeth Stephan, 80 years old, who arrived at the Pennsylvania Station last Monday evening, wandered about the city for seven hours until 1 o'clock yesterday morning, when she was found by Policeman Monahan of the West Forty-seventh Street Station. Mrs. Stephan is the mother of four sons, one of whom is George Stephan, Lieutenant Governor of Colorado. She is the daughter of the late Judge George Watson, a partner of Edwin M. Stanton, Secretary of State in Lincoln's Cabinet.

Mrs. Stephan said that when Mrs. Jesse Larrabee of 243 West Fifty-fourth Street, her sister, failed to meet her at Pennsylvania Station she started to walk to the Fifty-fourth Street address. Monahan found her three doors from her sister's home. She was able to give her name, but too tired to talk further. At Bellevue Hospital, where she regained strength yesterday afternoon, she gave the police her sister's address. Mrs. Larrabee, who was not expecting her sister until later in the season, went to the hospital and took Mrs. Stephan home. Mrs. Stephan's other sons are Dr. Jesse Stephan of Kansas City, William, a contractor in Alabama, and Edison Stephan, a surveyor at Washington. Her brother-in-law, Jesse Larrabee, was personal counsel for the late J. P. Morgan from 1885 to 1901.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

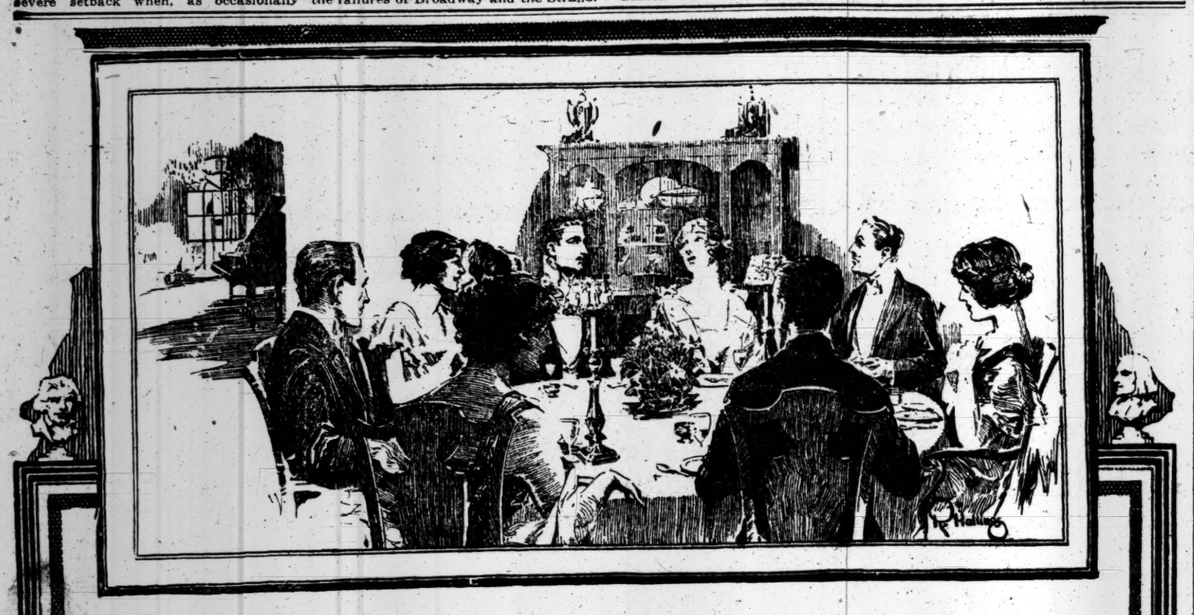
"Not So Long Ago" will move from the Booth Theatre to the Nora Bayes Theatre next Monday night. The next attraction at the Booth will be "Happy-Go-Lucky."

"Lady Billy" will be the title of the musical comedy in which Mitzi will appear this season. The book and lyrics are by Zelda Sears, and the music by Harold Levey.

George Marion will be in the cast of "The Toreador," in which Leo Carrillo will be starred by the Selwyns.

"The Magic Melody" will be sent on tour this season, opening in Buffalo next month.

Frances White has left the cast of "The Greenwich Village Follies," now playing in Chicago, and has begun rehearsals in "Jimmie," a musical comedy in which she will be starred. It will open on Sept. 20.



At a Dinner Party

"Across the ocean,
Balmy breeze and scent of spring are blowing"

SHE sat next me at dinner and quite suddenly without warning, sang with an indescribable effect these lines. There was a fervor in her singing of the simple phrase that touched us all; just a few notes and no more.

I turned in amazement, not realizing that she was singing the opening bars of that immortal song from "Madame Butterfly" with which Cho-Cho San makes her entrance. Then it all came to me.

We had been hearing delicious soft music during dinner, never loud enough to intrude; one could hear it but did not listen to it except now and again when it rose over the sound of the chatter and laughter of our gay little party. But that one phrase had reached her and out of her heart came the voice which caused us all to cease conversation for the moment and listen to the lovely music of Puccini's opera which was being played very, very softly on the piano in a distant room.

And so we began to talk of the opera, our favorite singers, and great performances heard abroad and in the metropolis — a pleasant topic surely. Then from the piano, always exquisitely played and with a dreamy softness, came a delicious waltz, and presently a gay number from one of the musical comedies which set us all to chattering with renewed enthusiasm.

Such music heard so delightfully at a dinner in a friend's house was a novelty which charmed everyone.

At the restaurants we are not unfamiliar with it and those who have dined at the Ritz-Carlton or the Plaza in New York will recall the exquisite effect of the music in these splendid restaurants. The orchestras are of the finest and the programs of a very high order. But the chief charm lies in the fact that they are not placed in the dining room itself but in an adjoining room so that it is heard as if from a distance.

Music heard in this way adds an indefinable charm to any social gathering.

To return to the little incident of the singing of the phrase from "Madame Butterfly" and the music which so delighted us all. There was great curiosity as to who the artist could be who had been engaged and who played with such a delightful touch and subdued effect. Our hostess, quite unwilling to gratify us too soon, insisted that we "wait and see." Upon our return to the drawing room we were astonished to find that no living artist had been playing to us, but that several had entertained us with their best offerings by means of the Ampico, that wonderful instrument about which lately we have been hearing so much.

There are so many ways in which the Ampico may be employed to give pleasure. One of them is to provide music during dinner or at afternoon tea or any of the little affairs that are a part of our social life.

Truly music has its place at a dinner party and the Ampico is a welcome guest and an important one, too, for though it does not have a seat at the table it may prove from the next room to be the merriest guest of all, indeed the "life of the party."

The AMPICO

It is this wonderful instrument that we invite you to hear. For hearing the Ampico will convince you that such music, heard in the quiet of your own home, will mean more to you than any music you ever heard before. Quiet, restful Studios have been provided so that you may enjoy an impromptu recital of all the music you love best. Call at any time that suits your convenience. The Ampico awaits your pleasure.

Knickerbocker Barbers
now at Hotel Commodore

Doubtless to many of its patrons the closing of the Knickerbocker Barber Shop comes as something akin to a personal loss. They miss the men and women who served them long and well.

We have been fortunate in being able to add to our staff the nucleus of the barbers and manicurists who formerly served you at the Knickerbocker. They may now be found combined with our own forces at our shop in the Hotel Commodore.

In this Terminal Barber Shop the former patrons of the Hotel Knickerbocker Shop will find the same familiar faces and the same excellent service to which they have been accustomed, rounded out and supplemented by Terminal training and methods. These barbers and manicurists will be as happy and anxious to serve in their new surroundings as they were in the old.

Just the name "Terminal Barber Shops" is in itself a recommendation—a guarantee that patrons old and new will always find satisfaction in the shops where no small detail is overlooked and no effort spared to place our service in a class by itself.

A TRIUMPH WORTH WAITING YEARS TO SEE
WILLIAM FOX Presents
WILLIAM FARNUM
In the Greatest of Screen Romances
"IF I WERE KING"
From the Wonderful Stage Success and Novel
By Justin Huntly McCarthy. Directed by J. Gordon Edwards.

"William Farnum has never appeared to better advantage. The presentation is splendid from every point of view." —N. Y. Tribune.

"William Fox has never sponsored a better picture. It combines distinction with story and production. William Farnum as Villon is at his best. It moves with the breathless suspense of a Jack London story."—N. Y. American.

"The flavor of romance, of picturesque adventure in a colorful world has been caught. A spectacular and swiftly moving melodrama the result. Farnum's performance one of the best things he has ever done."—N. Y. Times.

"Justin Huntly McCarthy's story is ideal film material. Is an ideal vehicle for William Farnum, who repeats the success he made in 'A Tale of Two Cities.' Plays with the dash and verve the colorful story demands. The production has great charm." —Louella O. Parsons, Morning Telegraph.

EXPRESSMEN GAIN $30,000,000 RISE

the various expressmen's organizations gathered here. The general opinion was that the unions would accept the award. It is practically assured that the companies will abide by the decision and probably use it as an argument to obtain permission for higher express rates from the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Immediately after the issuance of the expressmen's increase, officials of the Board, of which R. M. Barton is Chairman, stated that the members would give a hearing on Friday to the wage demands of Pullman porters and conductors and to the employes of a short line railroad in Maine. Workers on all other short lines will be heard later.

The general effect of the wage award for the American Railway Express Company will be to reduce the turnover problem, according to Louis P. Gwynn, assistant to George C. Taylor, President of the company.

Figures $10,000,000 More.

"The award will enable us to retain our good workers and fill vacancies that have existed for some time," he said. "In wages it will amount to nearly $40,000,000 annually, instead of $30,000,000 as figured by the board. The board dealt with only straight time. The total number of our employes, including both the regular and the temporary at busy periods of the year, is around 90,000. We figure on another $10,000,000 in overtime payments."

The chiefs of the four organizations affected went into joint session tonight to study the award, and will refer it back to the various locals with recommendations that it be either accepted outright, accepted "under protest" or rejected. Indications tonight are that the union chiefs will recommend that the award be accepted without further ado.

A. Bollinger, Grand President of the Order of Railway Expressmen, said tonight:

"I am of the opinion that the majority of the employes will accept the award as granted and in a manner be satisfied. In our demands there was a request for a change of working conditions. However, the board did not see fit to touch upon the same at this time. This matter is left open and our order expects to ask for a hearing on working conditions in the near future."

Seeks $100,000,000 Rate Increase.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Recommendations that express rates be increased $30,000,000 to absorb the wage award announced today by the Railroad Labor Board will be filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission soon, it was announced today by T. B. Harrison, General Counsel for the American Railway Express Company.

The company already has before the commission an application for rate increases approximating $72,000,000 to meet increased costs aside from advanced wages, and should all of its recommendations be adopted by the commission express charges would be increased so as to produce a total of more than $100,000,000 added revenue annually.

FEMININE HOSIERY SHOP—Main Floor

JOHN WANAMAKER

Broadway at Ninth, New York Telephone Stuyvesant 4700 Store Hours 9 to 5

22 truck loads of new FURNITURE came on to the floors over the week-end. All in the August Sale at 10 to 40 per cent. off

"Wholesale prices dropped an average of slightly more than 1 per cent. in the last 30 days, Labor Department reports showed today."

So begins the news in a double column item in last Saturday's "Sun and New York Herald." And it was considered a very gratifying and gladdening piece of news.

One per cent.! Why, we are selling furniture in the August Sale at ten to forty per cent. off—giving ten to forty times cause for gladness.

Then again—in the next day's newspapers we saw this heading—

WHY LUMBER PRICES CONTINUE TO RISE

The Government Presents New and Startling Facts Regarding U. S. Timber Supplies.

CUTTING EXCEEDS GROWTH

Certainly not news calculated to make one defer purchasing furniture for the home.

These items of news serve to emphasize the economies of the August Furniture Sale, and the need for investigation into its opportunities by prudent home-builders.

Nothing like it

There's no other Sale like it. It is the living up to 30 years of August Furniture Sale values—the making good to people who have made this Sale what it is—the great, big, mid-year institution dedicated to the home-builders of America.

GOOD Furniture

is all it offers. No over-elaborated pieces—no gilded lies in wood—no compromising in hidden parts. Absolutely dependable—all of it. Do you like this piece, or that? That's the only problem facing you.

Whatever you choose will please you in service. Whatever you choose is better value at its August price than you can get again this year.

It's moving out

We had to bring in 20 truck-loads from our reserves, over the week-end.

Every day the freight elevators are busy moving sold furniture out, and bringing new furniture in — dining-room suites, bedroom suites, living-room suites, and separate pieces.

Have YOU availed yourself of the August Sale values in furniture?

Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Galleries, New Building

"If Every One Would Mend One All Would Be Mended"

is an adage almost as old as the hills.

Like unto it is this—

"If every one swept before his own door all the street would be clean."

Scissor this out and place it under the picture where you may see it often to teach us its homely lesson to help things along.

Seventy years ago it was not uncommon to see the housemaids sweeping halfway across the streets on which their homes fronted.

The little villages near the city were always kept clean by the residents sweeping before their own doors. New York can sometimes learn from the little towns surrounding it.

For Miss 14 to 20

New tailleur Frocks of Cloth

Slim silhouettes.
Long loose waist lines.
Long neckline.
Piquancy of side panels.
Modish cape a la militaire.
Lengthening sleeve.
—these are the new fashion points.

Extreme simplicity of line, so becoming and smart, is the predominant note of this forecast of 1921 fashions.

Poiret twill, tricotine and French serge are the materials favored. Navy blue is the color.

Most frocks in the collection are $63.50; one is $95.

Second floor, Old Building (Tenth street side).

NEW

Silk Frocks for women

Satin and crepe meteor gowns are an indispensable part of the smart woman's wardrobe at every season of the year; particularly important to fill between season needs.

The long waist line is one of 1921 Fashion's most important dictates and consequently is conspicuous in this assemblage of new gowns.

The deep neck line and panelling of skirt are two more indications of the mode which these frocks indicate.

Beautiful workmanship, embroidery, daintiness of vestees have received careful attention.

Black, brown, navy blue.

Second floor, Old Building.

New Ginghams in pretty checks

The Dress Fabrics Salon has just received a new shipment of much-wanted ginghams, in small and medium checks — red, green, brown, pink, blue and heliotrope.

75c, 90c, $1.25 yard.

Main floor, Old Building.

Women's Fall Top Coats

Just a few—of bolivia, velours, broadcloth and fortuna cloth, secured quite fortunately to sell at the moderate price of $79.50.

Deep cape and shawl collars of fur—taupe, nutria and Hudson seal (dyed muskrat).

Self collars, too, are used.

Straight, loose lines, Russian blouse, belted models are in the collection.

All full lined with figured pussywillow silks or plain satins of a fine quality.

Navy blue, brown, taupe, black.

Second floor, Old Building.

Japanese Silk Kimonos

One model, embroidered with flowers of a heavy silk floss, comes in copenhagen blue, rose, plum and navy blue, $12.50.

Striped habutai silk is the material of a very interesting plain model, excellent for hot weather. White stripes on a gray or blue ground, $15.

For traveling is a soft pongee kimono which, with cap and slippers, fits into a small bag about 12 inches square. Ashes of roses, navy and black, trimmed with black and white check, $16.50.

Third floor, Old Building.

Men's Fall Suits with two pairs trousers, $57.50

An earlier-than-usual economy.

Plain blues and grays and browns, and two heather mixtures. Year-'round flannel suits with waistcoat, and single-breasted or double-breasted two and three-button coats.

Burlington Arcade Floor, New Building.

THE FINAL ARGUMENT.

FITZ JAMES STEPHEN, writing on the inconclusiveness of political controversy, declared that all disputing between men of different parties comes down in the end to an assertion that one is morally superior to the other. "I am better than you. I know "more—I am more virtuous. So "what is the use of your arguing?"

Could there be a more accurate description of the Republican attitude at present? The party's inconsistency is exposed. Its candidate is shown to be vacillating and uncertain both of himself and of what his managers want him to say and do. The position of Governor Cox is easily seen to be not only clearer and bolder than that of Senator HARDING, but closely in line with what leading Republicans who have championed the League of Nations have professed to desire. Yet what do the latter do? They swallow their own brave words and excuse themselves for doing so by affirming that, after all, the Republican Party is the party of intelligence and morality. That is what all the long explanations and defenses and ingenious bringing in of side-issues boils down to. Men like Mr. TAFT put forward many other arguments, but their final argument is that they cannot consort with such ignorant and wicked beings as Democrats. "I am better than you are." As the Countess says in the play: "Marry, that's a bountiful answer that fits all questions."

BALANCING PEACE AND WAR.

LLOYD GEORGE has been these past few days in an immensely difficult position. In addition to having to seek a common basis of action in the Polish crisis with France, he has had to keep an eye on the backfire of the English Labor Party. It openly threatens a general strike if the Government makes any warlike moves against Soviet Russia. So that if the Prime Minister were to take a high tone with LENIN, the Russian autocrat might reply to him: "Look to "your own security. I have more "friends in England than you have. "You will take steps against me at "your peril and the peril of your "country."

This Labor attitude, which is also seen in France, gives a new aspect to the whole question of making war. Not simply to Parliament has the Premier to make his explanations; he has to consult the workers. This might for the moment look like a fulfillment of the old internationalist dream of the Socialists. They were to maintain their "solidarity" in all lands in such fashion as to override the appeals of nationality. Workingmen in France would never consent to go to war with their brothers in Germany. But we saw how this beautiful theory broke down in 1914. Socialists made preliminary protests, but when their nations were swept into war the Socialists were carried along with the others. And it is to be noted that in the existing emergency it is not opposition to war as such that is animating the British labor leaders. They are no pacifists. They are sympathizers with Soviet Russia. War against it they violently object to as a war against a workingman's republic. The faults, follies and miseries of that régime have been reported to them by their own comrades who have visited Russia. Their early illusions on that subject have been largely dispelled. Yet they cling to their fixed idea that the Russian Government of today stands for labor, while all others are in the thrall of capital, and threaten LLOYD GEORGE with a gigantic "direct action" against him if he goes to war in aid of Poland against Russia.

It may not come to that. The difficulty may be met by peaceful agreement. All must hope so. Yet LLOYD GEORGE made it clear that there are limits beyond which England will not go. He admits the right of Soviet Russia to demand military guarantees from Poland; but anything like a repartition of her territory, or the attempt to suppress her nationality, or the taking away from the new Europe of the safeguard of an independent Poland, cannot be tolerated. The issues are delicate and complicated. They require the greatest care and prudence in the handling. But if, after everything is done that can be done in the spirit of conciliation and of honorable settlement, there should be a flat rejection of the terms by the Bolsheviki, only one course would be open. The English Government, with the support of the great majority of the people, would have to take the measures required by the national interest and by solemn international agreements. And if the labor unions sought to impose their veto, they would have to be met as resolutely as the English railway unions were last December—and defeated.

REPUBLICAN PAIRS.

Wolf Slayer is honing his tomahawk. Soon the avenger will be on the trail. "Senator WILLIAM E. BORAH," a Washington dispatch to The Sun tells us, "is expected to go on "the stump as one of the chief speakers for the Republican Party, and it is understood that he will trail Secretary of State BAINBRIDGE COLBY, "who will speak in the Eastern States "in support of Governor Cox and "President WILSON'S League of Nations." What with MOSES and LODGE and BRANDEGEE and WADSWORTH and KNOX and the rest of the faithful, one would suppose that the Republicans of the Eastern States could depend upon their local industries for explosives against the League; but Mr. BORAH, like Mr. HIRAM JOHNSON, has a depth and height of detonation equaled by few and excelled by none.

Since, however, there are thousands of Republicans who believe in the League of Nations and thousands more who insist that Senator HARDING proves himself to be in favor of it by being against it, wouldn't it be wise campaign management to send the Republican speakers in pairs? Thus Mr. BORAH would be accompanied by Mr. TAFT, Mr. JOHNSON by Mr. WICKERSHAM, Mr. KNOX by President LOWELL, and so on. In this way the Republicans could satisfy both wings of their party. No doubt the Republican leaders think that the docility of Mr. TAFT will be imitated by Republicans who hold his views about the League of Nations; but there are numbers of young and not so young insurgents who are under no obligation to the Republican Party, have never held or wanted to hold office, and have the bad taste to prefer principles to discipline. Possibly the Republicans will find it wiser to bo on both sides, as the combat deepens. However that may be, the pairing plan is offered, free of charge, to our sagacious and omnidextrous young friend, Mr. WILL HAYS.

EXPRESS RATES AND WAGES.

The Railway Labor Board has awarded an increase of $30,000,000 wages annually to 80,000 workers of the consolidated express companies. The award is retroactive to May 1, and the necessity for it dates much further back, to the time when regulation of the express companies had the effect upon the companies' finances which it would have had upon those of the railways, if not stopped in time. The express companies waged an unequal struggle against the extremely scientific regulation of the rates by the Interstate Commerce Commission and the competition of the parcel post service. Their income and their business disappeared together, and the service was preserved only by the Director General's intervening and allowing an increase of rates as a war measure. Now there must be an increase of express rates to care for the increase of wages as well as to keep the company alive. The company had asked for 25 per cent. increase to give it $70,000,000, and there is a suggestion of 15 per cent. more to cover the $30,000,000 wage increase.

It is part of the demonstration to the commission that capital must have its wage, and to the public that service is more important than rates. The express rates provide service which at least is better than freight service; and the dearer service is worth the difference. The postal parcels must be delivered to the Post Office by the shipper and are carried by the railways at an underpayment by the Post Office, which it was necessary to remedy. There are complaints of the express service, but there are worse complaints of the parcel post service. Those thinking most of cost use the parcel post service. Those thinking most of what the price procures prefer the express. Those thinking the postal service cheaper do not see the deficit borne by the taxpayers and are callous to the underpayment of the postal employés.

The express service is worth preserving and that can be done only by consolidating the companies which have been starved out. There are objections to the consolidation, as there are to the increase of rates, but it is evident that the business cannot be carried on at the present deficit, and it is not clear how it can be carried on at all without the consolidation. It is a monopoly, of course, but it is a regulated monopoly, and it is tiresome to repeat too often that regulation and competition are incompatible.

When railway service becomes normal—that is, when freights are delivered reliably in days instead of weeks and months—there will be less need of express service, and the cheaper service will be preferred. But now express service is cheaper than delivery and collection by motor trucks. There is such similarity between freight and express situations that the State Commissioners and the shippers who found their position untenable in the one case ought to be more easily convinced that they are unreasonable also in the other.

NOMINATIONS FOR JUDGES.

Four Democratic Justices of the Supreme Court, Mr. ERLANGER, Mr. GIEGERICH, Mr. GUY, Mr. PLATZEK, and one Republican, Mr. FORD, who was not recommended by the New York Bar Association, have been designated by both the Republican and the Democratic organizations for renomination in the primaries, as have Judge ROSALSKY, Republican, and Judge CRAIN, Democrat, of the Court of General Sessions. This is in accordance with the sound rule of keeping competent Judges in office. On most of the new names designated it would be premature now to comment. An exception must be made in the case of District Attorney SWANN, named for Justice of the Supreme Court by Tammany. It is cynically suggested that the District Attorney's multifarious activities have made Tammany view him with alarm and seek to promote him for the purpose of getting rid of him.

This is unjust to Mr. SWANN, whether it is unjust to the deep-revolving minds of East Fourteenth Street or not. Mr. SWANN was elected a Judge of the Court of General Sessions in 1907, and served till his resignation in 1910, when he became District Attorney. Mr. MURPHY had his somewhat sharp lesson last Fall in regard to picking judicial candidates. If his personal and political comfort would be fostered by the translation of Mr. SWANN from the District Attorney's office to his earlier occupation as a Judge, at least he has Judge SWANN'S previous service on the bench to point to as justification; and it has sometimes seemed that the judicial temperament had been a little ruffled by divers sharp controversies in which the public prosecutor liked or had to plunge.

ENDING SOME WARS.

With war apparently once more the natural state of man, it is comforting to find peace prevailing in certain quarters. The ratifications of the Bulgarian treaty were exchanged yesterday, so there is one war ended for the time being. Bulgaria is entirely unreconstructed in the spiritual sense, to be sure, but so long as the hard-headed STAMBOLISKI is in power she is hardly likely to upset the Balkans by any new adventures.

Meanwhile Paris dispatches state that the Greeks and Italians have come to an agreement on the Dodecanesus, so that the Turkish treaty could be signed also. Mere signing of the treaty will not advance the solution of the Turkish question very much, for even the gentlemen who will put their names to the document are most probably in sympathy with MUSTAPHA KEMAL. But it is something if the Dodecanesus has been disposed of. Mr. GIOLITTI has denied the policy attributed to him by a correspondent of holding the Dodecanesus to be exchanged for wheat, raw materials and credits, and the reported agreement goes back in general to the terms of last Spring. Greece will get all the islands except Rhodes; Italy will hold that, apparently, to be given back to Greece whenever England gives up Cyprus, which, like Rhodes, is predominantly Greek in population. There still seems to be some disagreement over the plebiscite in Rhodes, but if the Greeks sign the treaty it may be presumed that this is settled. The Italo-Greek agreement, in which the Dodecanesus was only an item, was one of the most creditable accomplishments of Mr. NITTI'S Government, and if GIOLITTI goes back to it conditions in the Mediterranean will begin to encourage hopefulness.

THE IRISH IN OUR POLITICS.

There is no need of getting excited over the disclosure that a large sum of money was voted out of the Treasury of the Irish Republic to be spent in American politics. It was at no time a secret. When the row occurred among the Sons of Irish Freedom, in connection with the proper course to pursue at the Chicago Convention, the charge was openly made that Mr. DE VALERA had "misappropriated" several thousands of dollars of Irish funds for political propaganda in the United States. But an explanation was promptly forthcoming. Mr. DE VALERA hastened to point out that the amount he had laid out had been regularly appropriated to him for that purpose. The Irish Republic is nothing if not regular. And as it has never been recognized by our Government, its Minister cannot be sent out of the country for meddling in our politics.

This strength of the Irish position in the United States is heightened by another important consideration. The political parties dare not quarrel with each other or attack each other for angling for the Irish vote. In the platform of the New York Democrats, for example, there was a "vow" in favor of recognizing the Irish Republic, "without intervention." If this would fool any Irish voters, then they certainly deserve to be fooled. It was merely an empty gesture. Yet we have looked in vain for any Republican newspaper or politician to denounce it as insincere. The reason is plain. Irish votes are to be alienated as well as won, and neither party will venture to run the risk of such a calamity. This leaves the Irish-Americans in the happy position of being free to do and say whatever they please. But they always feel free to do that, anyhow.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Suggesting a Way to Mr. Harding.

Senator HARDING, it will be remembered, has stated it as his "belief" that the Government ought to make Liberty bonds worth all that patriotic purchasers paid for them. This means, of course, that they ought to be salable at par. How to bring this about has been a puzzle which financiers have confessed themselves unable to solve. But an advertiser in The Journal of the American Medical Association, which a medical correspondent has been good enough to forward to this office, shows that it is as easy as rolling off a log. "We buy Liberty bonds at par," is the announcement. Payment in cash? Well, not exactly. "We give in return Certificates of Deposit on North Dakota banks, same running three years at 5 per cent." And note this: "Certificates guaranteed by North Dakota Depositors' Guarantee Law."

It is hard to say which ought to be more admired—the offer to buy Liberty bonds at par or the beautiful implied compliment to Non-Partisan League banking in North Dakota.

Moral Suasion Prevents One Lynching.

An Oregon Sheriff was recently called upon, in unusual circumstances, to prevent a mob from breaking into a jail and getting hold of an assassin in custody. The murderer had killed the Sheriff's brother. The enraged men who were threatening a lynching were acquaintances and friends of the dead man and of the Sheriff. The latter, however, stepped out before the angry crowd and said: "Boys, I'll would not want you to do this. If I'll were alive, he would insist that law and order prevail. If you respect his memory, you will do as I ask you and go home."

The appeal was successful. The men looked at each other and finally said: "All right. We guess you are right. We'll go home."

The method cannot be commended for general imitation. It was successful in the instance given because of special reasons. The ordinary Sheriff had better be prepared with machine guns than with moral suasion. Yet the final aim and motive are the same in all cases—to prevent private citizens from taking the law into their own hands.

A Superior View of the Temperature.

Othello ought to be in New York. He could satisfy his desire to be roasted in sulphur and washed in steep-down gulfs of liquid fire. And he could add to his punishment that ever-climbing percentage of humidity, which the ancients were content to call "mugginess." Meanwhile, high up in air, the New York weather shaman sits in his hanging gardens, spanned by aerial bridges, all of ice, chanting happily "Push Dem Clouds Away," and assures the panting and irritated multitudes in the street that it isn't hot at all. A mere 85 in the shade on the pinnacles of heaven is nothing. They only think it's hot. It really is going to be hot. Prepare for the worst.

So far as he encourages the philosophic mind, and stimulates people to resist that internal irritation which inflames the human boiler and temper, the lofty sage speaks well; but he forgets that most of us cannot dwell on the chilly heights of his oracle. For that matter, no thermometer even on the street is ever equal to registering the heat and miscellaneous discomfort of an extreme blazing and muggy day. Many naïve souls roundly curse the mercury, deeming it Laodicean, dishonest, a mihimiser. At any rate, the temperature that folks attempt to breathe and work in and the temperature of the serene gods of the weather observatory can't be reconciled. Happy and humorous cloud-girt observer, cool, tranquil, sipping, one loves to think, an interminable "horse's neck." The limp man in the street can't help envying him and ought, perhaps, to forgive him. Still, if the theory of transmigration be true, the next incarnation of these human snowballs of the sky will be as stokers on the Flying Dutchman's ship, now, of course, the dean of tramp steamers; and they will have to work twenty-four hours a day, with no assuaging oatmeal water.

Cruelty in the Movies.

Current discussions of the Chaplin divorce suit have too hastily assumed that the "mental cruelty" of which Mrs. CHAPLIN complained meant only, or chiefly, the famous CHARLIE'S devotion to socialism. Mrs. CHAPLIN'S complaint was more serious than that; she objected that her husband was devoted to thought.

Her feminine charity attempts to find an excuse for this vicious habit; "he is an artist, and artists, I suppose, must have their temperaments." Still, it is evident that the little woman was sorely puzzled. Not only did her husband think, but he did his thinking out of doors. Perhaps he found thought within the four walls of the home incongruous, if not impossible. Weather had no terrors for him: "the harder it rained the longer he walked and the harder he thought." When a man has gone this far there seems little hope for him, and divorce proceedings are justifiable.

The theory once entertained by the wicked that an artist was entitled to certain liberties not safe for the common man has pretty well disappeared along with the line that divided the wicked from the rest of us. What an artist may do any one may do. If thought on the part of a movie artist has such devastating consequences, what would happen if movie audiences began to think?

Restoration of Westminster Abbey.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

I am grateful for the letters I received from Americans on the above subject and am forwarding subscriptions I received to the fund in London and will be glad to do so until an American committee, which I believe is being organised, is ready to take charge of this matter.

Westminster Abbey is a Mecca for visitors from all parts of the world. In the Poets' Corner rest the remains of many of those who made English letters what they are to the English-speaking peoples and unite them as one great family throughout the world.

THE RUSSIAN TRAGEDY.

A "National Storm" Approaching Which Will Clear Away the Evils?

To the Editor of The New York Times:

There has never been a country in a more terrible condition than the Russia of today. Holy Russia but yesterday, today she has no religion and no clerical authority recognised by the people at large. The Red soldiers sing a song, "We Sent God Into Retirement." (See April and May issues of Current History.) The Patriarch Tikhon, who anathematised the Bolshevist rulers, is said to be kept in the Kremlin a prisoner himself, deprived of all authority. For long centuries the people used to apply to the Church in cases of marriage, birth and death, and now they are ordered to ignore the clergy and to mind only the Bolshevist officers.

And the Government? There is no government in the Russia of today. There are different aliases exercising far more cruel despotism than that under Ivan the Terrible, for he knew nothing of such bloody terrorism, wholesale murder, persecution and execution as that witnessed by the unfortunate Russians of today.

The great peasantry of Russia, one hundred million strong, is not only terrorized and demoralised, but even dishonored. They are made partners in the Bolshevist plunder. They were allowed to grab all the lands belonging to other classes than the peasants. They did it, but, conscious of their crime, they save money to pay for their land to rightful owners when there will be a real Government. This is the most significant bit of news I noticed the other day in THE NEW YORK TIMES.

And the workmen of factories, mills and other works? These are penal undertakings where thousands of men are forced to work, and other thousands of men, called the Red guards, play the rôle of overseers. And both the workmen and the overseers know very well that they are engaged in a colossal sham, for that kind of work never covers even its expenses.

The great country is broken to pieces. The people are terrorized, demoralized and dishonored. The Church is undermined and ridiculed by the official movies. All the savings of the country made during long centuries are plundered by meh without name or country. What used to be the Empire of Russia is today but a huge madhouse. And the end? A country of graves? No. A national storm is approaching and we will soon witness a restoration of Russia.

HARDING'S FOREIGN POLICY.

Fear of Offending Foreign Elements an Impossible Guide.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Once again, this time in his address to the delegation from Wayne County, Ohio, who besieged his front porch stronghold, Senator Harding has issued a formulation of his attitude toward America's foreign policy. If, as ever, he is to be taken seriously, there is surely cause for sincere alarm among true Americans.

In that address Senator Harding says that this country cannot take its place in the present League of Nations because of the presence in our midst of large numbers of people of foreign birth who would cease to be "rejoicingly American when the land of adoption sits in judgment on the land from whence they come."

Has America kept herself free from entangling European alliances all these years only to come to this? Have we kept for ourselves a standard of international morality which carried us even into the war against the offending German Empire only to have it scrapped at a time when it is needed as never before? Are we now to cease our struggle to achieve international justice for the sake of soothing the feelings of any part of our population?

Surely no one could truly be "rejoicingly American" who would be willing to see America debase herself in this manner. Surely no American citizen, either of foreign birth or of foreign extraction, can be said to have fully realized the spirit of America who cannot whole-heartedly support our every effort to secure the broad principles of international truth and justice even though it lead to action against the land of his birth.

The Senator may boast as noisily as he will about his ardent patriotism and his unapproached Americanism, but those who have a nobler and clearer view of the world today can and will see that the patriotism with which he would put to everlasting shame the supporters of the League is of the kind to bring America to disgrace in the eyes of the world.

A WINDOW AND A TREE.

A window and a tree are all my world!
An upper window looking brightly south,
Where-through I watch the pageant of the days
From blossom-time to blossom-time again.
And, set so near its branches brush the pane,
A slender elm, a slim but sturdy elm,
That talks or not, according to my mood.

What wondrous magic work the wizard years!
Content sits comfortably here with me,
To whom the mad commotion of the Street
Once brought the inspiration that was life,
The utmost to remind me of those days
A pair of peevish grackles bickering,
Three stories down among the ripened leaves.
In no one's way, contending with no man,
A window and a tree are all my world.

A meadow-lark awakens me at dawn
To wonder that a diva's arias
Have stirred my hands to feverish applause;
And when a jay's blue wings go flashing by
I marvel that a painted coryphee
Should pirouette her way into my heart!
My heart? Nay, not my heart! The robins come
And mate and build, and then it is I know
How false, how futile was that dalliance
The thoughtless twenties pedestaled as love!
The tiny fingers of a neighbor's child,
That labor through a simple exercise,
Bring more delight than harmonies complex
Respondent to a smug maestro's touch.

I cannot mark the straightness of the tree—
Its straightness and its strength—and not forget
These withered limbs and palsied hands of mine!
And when the stars gleam through the friendly boughs
Unfaith in future bliss evanishes—
What may not be when I am here vouchsafed
My upper window where the elm looks in?

WILSON FULFILLS PROMISE TO MINERS

Calls on Scale Committee to Adjust Inequalities of Bituminous Award.

STRIKERS HAVE RETURNED

President Commends Them in Requesting Meeting Next Friday to Settle Differences.

Special to The New York Times:

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—President Wilson today asked the Scale Committee of the bituminous coal operators and miners in the central competitive field to meet in Cleveland, August 13, to try to settle their differences. This request followed his recent telegram to John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers of America, as a result of which the coal strikes in southern Illinois were called off.

In a letter sent today to Mr. Lewis and to Thomas T. Brewster, chairman of the Joint Scale Committee, the President said:

"In a statement issued by me to the striking members of the United Mine Workers of America on July 30, 1920, requesting them to return to work, I said:

"'In the consideration of the nation-wide wage scale involving many different classes of labor by the Bituminous Coal Commission in the limited time at its disposal some inequalities may have developed in the award that ought to be corrected. I cannot, however, recommend any consideration of such inequalities as long as the mine workers continue on strike in violation of the terms of the award which they had accepted as their wage agreement for a definite length of time. I must therefore insist that the striking mine workers return to work, thereby demonstrating their good faith in keeping their contract. When I have learned that they have thus returned to work, I will invite the Scale Committee of the operators and miners to reconvene for the purpose of adjusting any such inequalities as they may mutually agree should be adjusted.'

"I have been informed that in compliance with my request the striking miners have now resumed work, an action on their part which I desire to commend. In conformity, therefore, with the promise contained in my statement I hereby request the members of the Joint Scale Committee of operators and miners of the central competitive coal field to meet in the city of Cleveland, Ohio, on Friday morning, Aug. 13, 1920, for the purpose of considering any inequalities that may have occurred in the award of the Bituminous Coal Commission and the joint agreement growing out of the same and adjusting any and all such inequalities as the Joint Scale Committee may mutually agree should be adjusted."

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 10.—Thomas T. Brewster, Chairman of the Coal Operators' Scale Committee in the central competitive field, announced that the operators' committee would meet with the miners' committee at Cleveland Friday, as requested by President Wilson today, if the majority of the committee approved such a conference.

INDIANAPOLIS, Aug. 10.—John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers of America, late today received the telegram from President Wilson calling a meeting of the Scale Committeen. He at once telegraphed the district Presidents of the union to instruct the members of the Scale Committee to be in Cleveland at the time designated.

LEAGUE'S LABOR BOARD.

Albert Thomas of France Director, with Englishman as Deputy.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Information to the Department of Labor discloses the organization and permanent establishment of the international labor offices of the League of Nations, including its two principal divisions—the diplomatic and the scientific.

The Director General of the International Office is Albert Thomas, of France; the Deputy Director General is Harold B. Butler, of Great Britain, who was Secretary General of the International Labor Conference convened by President Wilson in Washington, Oct. 29, 1919. E. J. Phelan of Great Britain, who was chief assistant secretary of the Washington conference, is chief of the diplomatic division and Dr. Royal Meeker, formerly United States Commissioner of Labor Statistics, is chief of the scientific division.

There are also six technical sections, as follows: Unemployment, under the direction of L. Varlez; emigration, under Dr. W. A. Riddle; seamen, under J. Randall; agriculture, under Dr. G. di Palma Castiglione, who attended the Washington conference as one of the delegates from Italy; Russian inquiry, under Dr. G. Pardo, who was Deputy Secretary General in charge of editing and translation at the Washington conference; social insurance, under J. J. Derrode, and co-operation, under Dr. G. Fauquet. As the work of the office progresses other sections will be organized as necessity arises.

The diplomatic division will negotiate with the different Governments, employers, organizations and trade unions to obtain ratification of the conventions adopted by the International Labor Conference.

The scientific division, under Dr. Meeker will collect information with regard to the social and economic problems of the world and will edit a number of publications of a scientific character.

The emigration and unemployment sections are at present occupied with the organization of the International Emigration Commission and the problem of reciprocity of treatment of worker emigrants.

The Russian inquiry section just now is at work on a report following a study of all available Russian sources of information, including official decrees, wireless messages, newspapers and the work of foreign observers in Russia. This report will deal with the principal problems of labor conditions. The governing body is now considering the advisability of sending a commission to Russia.

WOLCOTT SOCIETY MEETS.

Descendants of Henry Wolcott Here for Annual Reunion.

The sixteenth annual reunion of the Society of Descendants of Henry Wolcott opened yesterday at the Hotel Astor and will continue today and tomorrow. Members of this family, which has figured in the affairs of America since 1634, came from several States. One, Henry B. Wolcott, came from Jamaica, West Indies.

Six members of the Wolcott family have been Governors of Connecticut. Oliver Wolcott was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, and his son, Oliver Wolcott, Jr., was a member of Washington's Cabinet. Thirty-six Wolcotts have been Judges of the higher courts, and among the illustrious members of the family of the present generation are United States Senator Wolcott of Delaware, United States Senator Wadsworth of New York and Congressman Strong of Pennsylvania.

JAPANESE PAPER CHIDES US.

Military Organ Blames American Opinion for Agitation.

TOKIO, Aug. 6 (Associated Press).—Assertions that Americans are "fostering disloyalty", among the people of Japan and that American missionaries in Korea are "using the cloak of Christianity to instill anti-Japanese sentiment there" are made in a series of articles appearing daily in the newspaper Kokumin Shimbun.

This journal is considered the organ of the military groups, and its proprietor and editor is Iichiro Tokutomi, one of the leading journalists of Japan.

America is declared to be "using Japanese educators, thinkers and business men as tools to spread dangerous thought, destroy military discipline and influence Japanese youths to avoid conscription in the army." The newspaper says Americans "foment labor troubles for the purpose of hindering Japanese industrial development and reducing her production."

"America is puffed up since the war," says another article, "and considers herself the sole arbiter of the world."

Plans for a larger United States Navy are regarded by the writer of the articles as "completely removing America's false mask of justice and humanity" and "exposing her claws of militarism." America is seizing every opportunity to protest against Japanese actions, and is influencing China against this country, it is alleged.

"Many of our intelligent men are enamored of America," the Kokumin says, "and because of this public opinion is not excited, even when our national dignity and the rights of our empire of spotless perfection have been insulted."

The latest article quotes a "former high official in the Korean Government General," who names a dozen or more American missionaries who are charged with instigating a Korean revolt against Japan. This article asserts that during the Korean insurrection mobs were influenced and assisted by the Americans.

It is said Leo A. Bergholz, former American Consul General at Seoul, published an article which discussed the theory that it is the privilege of peoples to insist upon self-determination, and declared the Japanese were wrong in refusing to listen to the Koreans. Specific details are given in the discussion of charges against some missionaries.

A review of the newspapers of Japan shows that influential journals have refrained from attacks on America. They hold the opinion that the Japanese occupation of Russian territory is not wise, as it is likely to create complications with the powers. The people of Japan are eager readers of newspapers, which have admittedly grown in influence in recent years. Some Japanese go so far as to declare the newspapers are more representative of the opinion of the empire than the Japanese Diet.

ASKS PRINTERS TO BUY RELIC

Finley Would Preserve House Where "America" Was Printed on Map.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 10.—Dr. John H. Finley, State Commissioner of Education, today suggested at the luncheon of the International Typographical Union, holding its golden jubilee convention here, that the printers of America start a fund for the maintenance of the house in the Village of St. Die, France, where the word "America" was first put on the printed page of a map. Dr. Finley has asked for an option on the property until such time as he can complete negotiations.

"I make this as the golden jubilee suggestion," Dr. Finley told the printers, "of one who would himself be proud if he were worthy to be enrolled as a member of the Guild of Cadmus and of the Typographical Union of America."

There is good reason to believe that before the convention comes to an end the suggestion of Dr. Finley will be acted upon.

The luncheon, which took place in the roof garden of the Ten Eyck, was the only formal event scheduled for today, business having been suspended until tomorrow, when various committees are expected to make their reports and the real business of the convention begins. Mayor James R. Watt, Governor Smith, Dr. Finley and President Winchester of the Chamber of Commerce were at the speakers' table. There were covers for 500, the capacity of the roof garden. The Governor made one of his characteristic speeches and received an ovation.

While the other delegates were enjoying the sights of Albany, the committees were hard at work behind closed doors, preparing for the fray to be waged when the business session opens tomorrow in the Assembly Chamber. The Laws Committee has already completed its work and has drafted its report, which it will submit tomorrow.

Unofficial forecasts of the doings to come agree on a rather spirited skirmish on the question of whether the International shall continue to issue charters to news writers' unions. The history of such organizations, according to the delegates, is said to constitute a record of failure, and sentiment of the International membership at large is said to be against continuing to sponsor efforts of the news writers to organize themselves as a part of the International movement. The fight for continuance of the custom is slated to be made by representatives of Montreal and Boston Unions, whose delegates are working in behalf of the sentiment they represent.

In the State Educational Building today a papermaking exhibit was opened by the American Writing Paper Company of Holyoke, Mass., and was visited by many of the printers and their wives. The plant is complete, and the paper turned out is given to the visitors as souvenirs.

The Women's Auxiliary of the I. T. U. met again today in the Common Council Chamber. Mrs. Jesse W. Armistead of Atlanta, Ga., presided, and detailed reports were read by Mrs. R. J. Lowitser of Des Moines, Ia., Secretary and Treasurer; Mrs. B. W. Bellamy of Medicine Hat, Firat Vice President; Mrs. A. J. Simons, Second Vice President, and Mrs. M. D. Gritzmacher, Third Vice President. The women will meet again tomorrow.

MORE ANIMALS FOR ZOO.

Red-Eyed Ape, Burmese Lizard and Reptiles Due Here Friday.

The Atlantic transport liner Minnesota, which has a collection of animals, including rare birds and reptiles on board for the New York Zoological Garden, will arrive on Friday from London, according to the wireless message received yesterday.

Among the queer specimens on the vessel are the wild African horse, known as Onagram; two Hollock Gibbons, a species of small black ape with bright red eyes, from Kuala Lumpur in the Malay Federated States, and the small Burmese spiney-tailed lizard, which haunts the quaint nooks of the old pagodas and utters a shrill cry resembling the word "Hecky" when the bells ring.

NORTH CAROLINA'S SESSION.

Governor to Call for Suffrage Ratification in Special Message.

Special to The New York Times.

RALEIGH, N. C., Aug. 10.—The special session of the North Carolina Legislature which was called by the Governor for the purpose of fixing constitutional tax limitations under the Regulation act convened today at 11 o'clock. Both the Senate and House heard the Governor's message on the revaluation act and then adjourned. It was expected that the Governor would touch on the suffrage question and the galleries were crowded with both suffragists and antis, but they were disappointed.

The Governor announced later that he would send a special message to the Legislature on Thursday, recommending ratification of the amendment.

Both suffragists and antis are well organized and are canvassing the Legislators individually. It is believed that the Senate is for the adoption of the amendment by a good majority, but that the House is not. The leaders in the House are against suffrage and they are said to be gaining ground daily.

SUFFRAGE COMES UP IN TENNESSEE TODAY

Joint Resolution Introduced Yesterday Expected to be Sent to Judiciary Committees.

RESULT REMAINS DOUBTFUL

Suffragists Report Pledged Legislators Deserting Them—Cox Makes New Appeal.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 10.—Preliminary steps looking toward joint action by Republican and Democratic members of the Tennessee Senate favoring ratification of the Federal woman suffrage amendment were taken late today at a meeting of leaders of the Democratic ratification forces in the upper house. Senators E. N. Haston of Van Buren County, Douglas Wilkie of Williamson and Frank Fuller of Shelby were appointed a committee to arrange a meeting with Republican leaders, and it was expected a conference would be held some time tomorrow. In addition to the appointment of this committee Senator Haston was selected as Democratic floor leader for the contest.

The meeting was preceded by a conference between the Senators and more than 100 Tennessee suffragists. Miss C. Williams of Memphis, Chairman of the Woman's General Ratification Committee, told the Senators that the women did not desire to attempt to influence or advise members of the Senate how to vote, but looked to their friends in the upper house to conduct the fight.

Senate and House Republicans will caucus tomorrow morning.

The joint ratification resolution was introduced today in the Senate and House, and under the rules went over until tomorrow, with the leaders planning to refer it to committee. Parliamentarians said there was a possibility the resolution might be discussed in each house if members disagreed upon which committee to refer it, inasmuch as it properly could be sent either to that on Judiciary or Constitutional Amendments. Debate on motions to refer, it was said, undoubtedly would result in discussion of ratification itself.

Speaker Walker of the House said today that the resolution would be referred to the Judiciary Committee in that body, but the Senate leaders had not reached a decision.

Vote May Come Late in Week.

There was much speculation tonight as to when a vote on ratification would be reached. The committee, it was said, would probably arrange a joint public hearing Thursday or Friday night. The resolution might be reported the following day and go to a vote immediately. Some legislators believed the issue would be settled by the end of the week, but others were of the opinion a vote would not be held before next week, since Speaker Walker declared today that an attempt in the House to rush matters would not be permitted.

Mr. Walker announced today that he would oppose ratification and his defection from the ranks of the suffragists occasioned much discussion. He had been regarded as a staunch suffragist and it had been planned that he would introduce the ratification resolution in the House. Speculation was rife as to what influence his move would have on other members of the lower body.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt, President of the National American Woman Suffrage Association, in a statement several hours after Mr. Walker's announcement, declared that her poll was unshaken.

"When I came to Tennessee three weeks ago I announced that a majority of both Senate and House were pledged to vote for ratification," she said. "No development has overturned that majority. I have absolute confidence in the integrity of the Legislators of Tennessee and believe that they will stand by their pledges."

Judge Joseph Higgins, of Nashville, President of the Tennessee Constitutional League, stated today that if the Legislature ratified the amendment the league "would be constrained to go into the courts and inhibit the

JAMES O'NEIL DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Famous Romantic Actor a Victim of Cancer of the Stomach in His 71st Year.

MONTE CRISTO 6,000 TIMES

His Roles Included d'Artagnan, Virginius and Julius Caesar—Associate of Booth and Cushman.

NEW LONDON, Conn., Aug. 10.—James O'Neil, the actor, died at the Lawrence Memorial Associated Hospital early today. He had been ill for two months at the hospital, suffering from cancer of the stomach. His wife and sons, James, Jr., and Eugene, were at the bedside. He was 70 years of age.

Mr. O'Neil had been in a state of coma for a month. He was left in a weakened condition nearly two years ago after he was struck by an automobile in New York. When his health began to fail last Spring he was sent to St. Vincent's Hospital, New York. After leaving that institution he suffered a relapse and was brought to his home here.

James O'Neil recognized even at a very early age as an actor of the first rank and who in his long career on the stage entertained millions, was born in Kilkenny, Ireland, Nov. 15, 1849, and was brought to this country when he was 5 years old and was educated in Buffalo and Cincinnati. After working in a clothing store he made his first appearance on the stage in 1868 as a "super" in the National Theatre, Cincinnati, during an engagement of Edwin Forrest. After a season of barnstorming and at the St. Louis Varieties he joined the company of Robert Miles in Cincinnati, leaving that to become leading juvenile at the Holliday Street Theatre, Baltimore, and leading man at the Academy of Music, Cleveland, where he played Icilius to the Virginius of Edwin Forrest He also appeared with Charlotte Cushman in "Macbeth." In 1871 Mr. O'Neil became the leading man at McVicker's Theatre, Chicago, a place he retained for two years. He also appeared with Adelaide Neilson and Edwin Booth.

In 1875 Mr. O'Neil joined A. M. Palmer's New York company, playing two years at the Union Square Theatre. He created the part of Pierre in "The Two Orphans" in this country, played the Prince in "Danicheffs" and Jean Renaud in "A Celebrated Case."

Acted Christ in "The Passion Play."

An unusual incident in Mr. O'Neil's career was his impersonation of Christ in "The Passion Play," produced in San Francisco in 1880. Mr. O'Neil was a liberal Catholic and it was reported that he objected at first to playing the part of Christ from a feeling of the deepest reverence, but after he consented to play it he was so reverent about it that he was often in tears and after every scene he would retire to his dressing room, light conversation being distasteful to him. However, the effort was frowned upon by the authorities, despite the fervor and reverence with which Mr. O'Neil essayed the part and, after running for a few weeks, it had to be withdrawn.

Mr. O'Neil was best known as Edmund Dantes in "The Count of Monte Cristo." For more than fifteen years and in more than 6,000 performances he appeared in this rôle, and his name became so associated with the play that in the minds of drama lovers to mention one was to suggest the other.

His Romantic Roles.

It was after Mr. O'Neil had played in "Deacon Crankett," in 1882, and starred for a while in "An American," that he made his first appearance in "The Count of Monte Cristo" at Booth's Theatre, early in 1883, under the management of John Stetson. Charles P. Thorne, Jr., played the part of Edmund Dantes the first night and died the next day. Mr. O'Neil then took the part.

In 1886 Mr. O'Neil appeared as D'Artagnan in "The Musketeers," and since then he had appeared in many romantic dramas, but his reputation was chiefly associated with "Monte Cristo" and "the Musketeers," "Virginius," and "Julius Caesar." He played an engagement in his repertoire at the Lyric Theatre in the Fall of 1907, and in the following Fall he appeared in the title rôle of "Abbé Bonaparte." Mr. O'Neil appeared as Jacob and Pharaoh in "Joseph and His Brethren" at the Century Theatre, New York, January, 1913.

Mr. O'Neil married Miss Ellen Quinlan of Chicago, and they celebrated their golden wedding in Philadelphia in October, 1918. He was then appearing as the father in the Biblical spectacle, "The Wanderer." His son Eugene is author of the play, "Beyond the Horizon."

ELBERT BALDWIN MET HIS FIANCEE AT FIUME

New Yorker Who Was in Relief Administration Engaged to Jenny Mitchell of Trieste.

Mr. and Mrs. John Mitchell of Dundee, Scotland, and Trieste, Italy, announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Jenny Maria Hermine Mitchell, to Elbert Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis Baldwin of 27 East Sixty-second Street and Marholm, Lakewood, N. J.

Miss Mitchell and Mr. Baldwin first became acquainted when he was connected with the American Relief Administration and stationed at Fiume about a year ago. Miss Mitchell's father is manager and part owner of one of the large industries of Trieste, Jutificio Triestino, fostered and developed by the family in Scotland. During the war Miss Mitchell and her family were interned by the Austrian Government. When they returned to Servola, a suburb of Trieste, after the armistice, they found their home partially destroyed through aerial bombardment.

Mr. Baldwin is a graduate of Williams College, class of '16, and saw service with the American Ambulance Corps in France, later serving with the naval forces in the Mediterranean and Adriatic. He commanded the naval guard which escorted the first food train to traverse Jugoslavia and Hungary, arriving at Budapest during the Bolshevist régime. After his release from the navy he was at Fiume with the American Relief Administration, also acting as interpreter to General Summerall. He returned here last December, and is now in Italy for an exporting and importing firm of this city.

After their marriage the young couple will make their home in this country.

Inches-Ayer Nuptial in England.

The marriage has been announced of Miss Elizabeth Ayer, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. James B. Ayer of Boston, and Henderson Inches, son of Mrs. Charles E. Inches and the late Dr. Inches, also of Boston. The ceremony took place last Saturday in Bath, England. The bride was graduated from Bryn Mawr College, class of '14, and has been in France for the last two years engaged in war work.

SEARLES WILL FILED.

Large Part of Estate Goes to Cousin's Three Children.

SALEM, Mass., Aug. 10.—The will of Edward F. Searles, multi-millionaire of Methuen, filed for probate here today, contains no direct public bequest. It provides, however, that if any legatee or beneficiary under the will shall take any legal proceedings of any kind to set aside the will or oppose its probate, the legacy to such person shall be annulled and shall go to the Regents of the University of California.

A large part of the estate is bequeathed to Benjamin Allen Rowland, George Rodman Rowland and John Bruce Rowland, minor children of Mr. Searles's cousin, Mary Allen Rowland. Pine Lodge, the estate at Methuen, including the Vanderbilt art collection in the mansion, goes to Benjamin, with provisions for its succession to his issue or to the other children in order if he dies without issue. The will expresses the "earnest wish" that all three shall assume the family name of Searles, and that if any of them do so they shall become entitled to a life estate in Pine Lodge.

Trust funds are set aside amounting to $2,500,000 for Benjamin Rowland, $500,000 for George and $1,000,000 for their mother; $250,000 is left to Albert Victor Searles, a nephew, and there are minor personal bequests.

Arthur T. Walker of New York, a friend, receives the residue of the estate. Mr. Walker and Lewis L. Delafield, also of New York, are named as executors and trustees. The value of the estate was not indicated.

A. E. F. PASSES INTO HISTORY

Headquarters, Last Unit to Demobilize, Ceases to Exist Aug. 31.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The American Expeditionary Forces will pass into history Aug. 31, when the only remaining unit of the army that fought in France, A. E. F, headquarters here, ceases to exist. Records of the great army that was will be transferred to custody of the War Department and the following day General Pershing will open headquarters in his new capacity as General of the army.

In announcing the date for winding up finally the work of the expeditionary forces Secretary Baker today made public the names of officers who will be assigned on General Pershing's staff in his new rôle as permanent head of the army until he carries out his announced intention of retiring to private life. All of these officers were with him in general headquarters of the American Expeditionary Forces. They are Brigadier General Fox Conner, Lieut.-Col. Michael J. O'Brien, Major George C. Marshall, Jr., Major John G. Quekemeyer, Captain G. E. Adamson and Lieutenants John T. Schneider, William J. Cunningham and R. A. Curtis.

Editor Retracts Alleged Libel.

Marcus Garvey, of 338 West 121st Street, editor of The Negro World, through his attorney, Louis Vorhaus, made a public apology in General Sessions yesterday before Judge Thomas C. T. Crain. The retraction was in connection with an indictment against Garvey who was charged with libeling Assistant District Attorney Edwin P. Kilroe in articles published in The Negro World in 1919. Mr. Kilroe agreed that publication of the apology would result in quashing the criminal libel indictment.

THE SCREEN

Basil King's "Earthbound," a motion picture which some may consider dull and others inspiring, but which all must admit is unusual, was shown last night by the Goldwyn Company to invited spectators at the Astor Theatre. It will open for its public run at the same house this evening.

This photoplay must be dealt with from two points of view, the technical and the dramatic. From the first none will dispute its excellence; from the latter will spring differences of opinion.

Mr. King's picture, which is based on a story of which he is also the author, is primarily and always a sermon. It preaches the doctrine of growth through love, using age-old Christian precepts and relatively modern, if not scientifically accepted, ideas of spiritism, with an application of the theory of evolution, to set forth its teaching. And, like many sermons to many people, it will probably seem stimulating in spots, tedious and trite, when not untrue, in places, and much too long to be delivered without the relief of an intermission. Also, some will be unable to escape the feeling that annoys them whenever the stage or screen becomes nonetheless, namely, that it's all insincere, probably not very positively believed by those who do the preaching and certainly without influence on most of those who applaud it.

However, to the story. It concerns chiefly five persons, Richard and Caroline Desborough, Jim and Daisy Rittenshaw and Harvey Breck. The three men are old friends; the two women the wives of those whose names they bear. Daisy Rittenshaw is something of a vampire and draws Richard Desborough away from his wife and child. Both he and Jim Rittenshaw are professed materialists, and Richard falls back on this philosophy when he finally consents to go away with Daisy. Before they leave, however, Jim learns of their plans and kills his friend. From then on Richard's ghost moves among the living, at first "earthbound," and later, when freed by repentance and love, an active agent in influencing the other three principals to the tragedy to realize and accept love as the dominating motive of their lives.

Harvey Breck is a sort of arm-chair philosopher, frankly avowed a sage by the photoplay, whose aphorisms and maxims are thrown on the screen from time to time, apparently to keep "The Truth" always before the spectators. Whether or not the things Breck is quoted as saying are true may be a question, but those who admit their truth must also agree that most of them are platitudinous and that the manner and frequency with which they are plastered in weakens whatever dramatic force the story has. It is hard not to be impatient with a solemn individual who is always popping up at calm and critical moments with wise sayings, even if the sayings are wise, and when, as in Harvey Breck's case, they are the dressed-up utterances of every pulpiteer in the land, one feels, almost, that there is deliberate injustice in the murder of a perfectly normal human being while such an appropriate victim is at hand.

For those to whom the photoplay is not important it will be somewhat redeemed by its technical excellence. It is a work of cinematographic distinction. There have been ghost pictures before, but never one in which the spirit was so continuously present and in which were so well illustrated the subtleties of its presence, its growing fatuity to the vanishing point and strong almost to materialization according to the perception of those on this side of death and the dramatic significance of the action. Also some of the scenes, by their lighting and composition, are notable works. Mr. Hayes Hunter, who directed the production, and Mr. King, who was associated with him, are to be credited with a truly extraordinary accomplishment so far as the technical presentation of their story is concerned. Edfrid A. Bingham, the scenarist, should also be included in this praise.

The acting is satisfactory, on the whole. Wyndham Standing, as the man who is killed, does, perhaps, the most noteworthy acting, the ghost scenes. Naomi Childers, as Caroline Desborough, is often convincing, and so are Mahlon Hamilton as Jim Rittenshaw and Flora Revalles as his wife. Lawson Butt, as the moral pendulum, Breck, probably couldn't help himself.

The picture is strikingly presented by S. L. Rothapfel, with the assistance of John Wenger.

SAYS SHE IS SANE NOW.

Woman Who Shot at Detective Burns Seeks to be Released.

Miss Gertrude Wormworth of 784 Prospect Place, Brooklyn, who has been an inmate of the State Hospital at Central Islip, L. I., since March, 1919, when she fired several shots at William J. Burns, a private detective, in the Grand Central Station, was brought before Justice Squiers, in the Supreme Court, yesterday, on a writ of habeas corpus sued out by Abraham Levy, her lawyer. Mr. Levy contends that Miss Wormworth has fully recovered her sanity and should be released.

Previous to the attempted shooting of Mr. Burns, Miss Wormworth wrote several "crank" letters to Colonel Edward H. Green, son of the late Hetty Green. It was because of these that she was under the surveillance of the Burns Agency. A. J. Pierson, representing Colonel Green, was in court yesterday and stated that his client had no objection to the release of Miss Wormworth providing that she is sane enough to be at large.

"We do not wish to see a repetition of the tragedy that occurred in a Manhattan church not long ago," he said. Counsel for Mr. Burns stated that his client felt the same way.

On the application of the Attorney General's office the case was adjourned until next Tuesday.

POLICE FIELD DAY STICKERS.

Red Pasters Will Show Automobilists Have Bought Tickets.

Criticism has come from several quarters, including letters to newspapers, of the method resorted to by policemen in selling tickets for the Police Field Day events on the last two Saturdays of this month. It was asserted by automobilists that policemen solicited them more than once and that they practically were compelled to buy tickets.

A meeting of the Police Field Days Committee was held and resulted in the printing of 25,000 pasters, which may be placed on the windshield of an automobile or other vehicle. The paster is printed in red, is triangular and inscribed, "Police Field Days."

An order was sent out to policemen stating that when an automobile displays the little red paster it is a sign that tickets have been bought.

HOLD ESPERANTO CONGRESS

Speeches in Same Language Made by Delegates of Many Countries.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

THE HAGUE, Aug. 10.—The Hague is becoming the meeting place of international congresses which follow fast one upon another. At the International Esperanto conference which held its opening ceremony yesterday in the old Knights' Hall seldom used except for the opening of Parliament, there were almost 400 delegates, representing every conceivable country and including America's representative, Mr. Trost.

Speeches were made in Esperanto by delegates from practically every country. The Italian delegates' speech was greeted with great applause, although he has known Esperanto only six months. The Hague Burgomaster Patyn, who welcomed the congress, referred to the great difficulty two of the world's greatest statesmen, Wilson and Orlando, had in understanding each other.

At today's congress many new points were discussed and a program arranged for the following congresses which will be resumed Wednesday. The President of the congress read a telegram from Sir Eric Drummond, expressing his regret at being unable to represent the League, owing to the San Sebastian meeting.

Unionist Defeats Laborite.

LONDON, Aug. 10.—In the bye-election at Woodbridge, Suffolk, to choose a successor to Robert F. Peel, Unionist, who has been appointed to a Colonial Governorship, Sir A. Churchman, Coalition Unionist, won. He polled 9,886 votes, as against 8,707 by H. Harden, the Labor candidate.

Miss Oglesby Weds Lieut. Pickett.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The marriage of Miss June D. Oglesby, daughter of Captain Oglesby, U. S. A., of Salt Lake City, to Lieutenant George E. Pickett, third son of the late Major George E. Pickett, took place this afternoon. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. C. G. Bradley in the home of the bridegroom's grandmother.

RESUMES NEWPORT INQUIRY

Senate Committee Plans Thorough Investigation of Vice Squad.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 10.—The committee of the United States Senate appointed last Spring as the result of charges made in regard to certain activities of a naval vice squad here last year plans to be most thorough in its inquiry, which began in Washington and is to continue here.

Senator W. H. King of Utah arrived today, and he and his two associates, Senators Ball and Keyes, had their first session. The Senators conferred with the Rev. Stanley C. Hughes, rector of Trinity Church, and one of the ministers prominent in sending to President Wilson an open protest against the methods used by the naval squad. Mr. Hughes was also one of the important witnesses before the Naval Court of Inquiry of last Winter that inquired into the same matter, and whose report has not yet been made.

The committee has before it much of the evidence taken by this naval court, and until the Senators have gone over this evidence it is doubtful if any witnesses will be called. The Senators are hoping to find witnesses who will be able to throw some light on the subject other than those who testified before the naval court.

NEW AUTO MAIL RECORD.

Run from San Francisco to New York in 4 Days 14 Hours 43 Minutes.

Announcement was made yesterday that a new unofficial record for a transcontinental automobile trip was established when a five-passenger touring car carrying United States mail from San Francisco to New York arrived here Monday after a run of 4 days, 14 hours and 43 minutes.

An official of the American Automobile Association said this was at least one day faster than any previous unofficial record.

The route traveled by the machine is 3,347 miles long. Stops were made and drivers changed at Elly, Nev., Cheyenne, Wyo., Council Bluffs, Iowa., Davenport, Iowa., Valparaiso, Ind., Lima, Ohio, Wheeling, W. Va., Cumberland, Md. and Easton, Pa.

ADMIRAL HUTCHINS DIES AT PEKING

Retired Veteran Was Visiting His Son, Naval Attache at the American Legation.

PEKING, Aug. 9.—Rear Admiral Charles T. Hutchins, U. S. N., retired, died today of paralysis. He was visiting his son, Commander Charles T. Hutchins, Jr., Naval Attaché at the American Legation here.

Rear Admiral Charles Thomas Hutchins was born at Kingston, Pa., Feb. 5, 1844, a son of Richard and Emily Little Hutchins. He was graduated from the United States Naval Academy in 1866. He married Marion Clementine Borup at St. Paul, Nov. 17, 1876.

He served on the sailing ship Relief on its voyage to France with supplies for the starving French in 1871. Later he was navigator of the Wyoming with Commander Cushing when he made his voyage to Santiago de Cuba to retake the Virginius. Again he was watch officer and navigator of the flagship Lancaster at the bombardment of Alexandria, Egypt, and in command of the fleet landing party on shore for five days.

From 1893 to 1900 Rear Admiral Hutchins commanded several vessels, among them the U. S. S. Buffalo, on special service, carrying troops to China. He was Naval Secretary of the Lighthouse Board from 1902 to 1904, when he was appointed commander of the new battleship Maine.

Ford Already Makes Right-Drive Car

Special to The New York Times.

DETROIT, Aug. 10. — If England passes a law banning the manufacture of automobiles equipped with left hand drives it will not affect the Ford Motor Company's business there, said an official of the company this evening. "Our plant in Manchester has been producing cars with the right hand drive for the last eight years," he declared.

Gen. R. N. Bowerman Dies at 90.

BALTIMORE, Ohio, Aug. 10.—General Richard Neville Bowerman, 90 years old, probably the oldest ranking retired officer of the Union Army, died here yesterday. ARNSTEIN ORDERED TO ANSWER QUERIES

Judge Hand Rules Defendant Lost Protection by Failing to Claim Privilege in Schedules.

DEFENDANT WILL APPEAL

Bankruptcy Proceedings to Resume Aug. 24—Questions Seek to Bare Alleged Bond Plot.

An order signed yesterday by Federal Judge A. N. Hand directed Jules ("Nicky") Arnstein to answer certain questions prepared by Saul S. Myers, counsel for the National Surety Company, relating to information contained in schedules filed by Arnstein in bankruptcy proceedings pending against him. William J. Fallon, counsel for Arnstein, announced that the decision of the court affects the constitutional rights of the defendant and that an appeal from the order would be taken directly to the United States Supreme Court.

Arnstein is under bail in a criminal proceeding. He refused to answer all questions asked him in the bankruptcy proceedings on the ground that his replies might be used against him in a criminal proceeding on charges of concealment of assets. On June 19 Judge Hand denied an application to punish Arnstein for refusing to answer questions, but this protection was removed by Arnstein's failure to claim privilege when he filed his schedules.

The contention of Arnstein's counsel that stolen property could not be considered an asset of the bankrupt's estate was answered by the Court in a statement that in regard to securities "thought to have been stolen from the surety companies" the contention, made on the ground that theis only effect would be to incriminate the witness, should be rejected.

"The proceeds of this property which may have reached the bankrupt," read the opinion, "would be payable to his trustee even though they were subject in the hands of the trustee to the equitable lieas in favor of the owners of the original securities which would consume the proceeds.

"I think, therefore, that the examination in regard to these securities should not be stopped upon any theory that neither they nor their proceeds could belong to the bankrupt estate. It is a fact, however, that an attempt to require the delivery to the trustee of the specific securities referred to in the petition on the ground that the bankrupt has not accounted for them, cannot succeed, at least at present, because it does not appear that they belonged to the estate."

Mr. Myers said the examination of Arnstein would be resumed Aug. 24. An appeal, however, would serve as a stay of proceedings.

The questions allowed by the court will be asked for the purpose of disclosing whether Arnstein heard any conversation during the last six months between Joe Gluck and Nick Cohen; where Arnstein got the automobile in which he returned to this city after his flight; how much money he had under his control when he last saw Gluck, and if he knew David Sullivan, W. W. Easterday, Norman S. Bowles, Lou Bleet, "Cheeks" Ginsburg, Mattie Pandolfi, Joe Moreno, Sam Gireau, Irving Gluck, Rudolf and Herbert Bunors and a dozen others mentioned in the case.

Mr. Myers will show Arnstein a list of securities and ask him if he ever had any of them in his possession or under his control; whether he had seen any stocks or bonds during the past year anywhere; if he had handled any money since Feb. 10 or 11 of this year; where he had been from Feb. 10 until his return here; whether he knows any brokers in this city and whether he had met the Gondorfs in Atlantic City. Other questions will relate to the passing of property between Arnstein and Nick Cohen, and to communications between them.

These questions also will be asked: "Do you remember going to Washington, D. C., with Nick Cohen on or about Oct. 12 last? Do you remember meeting Joe Gluck and going with him at the same time? Do you remember meeting David Sullivan in the Pennsylvania Station at the same time, and of receiving money from Nick Cohen in Washington on or about Oct. 13 last?"

Mr. Myers will also ask Arnstein if he went to Boston with Joe Gluck and Cohen in October and whether he went to Baltimore in the same month with Gluck and Cohen. The object of the questions is to trace the movements of each of the suspected men during the period when it is thought plans might have been laid for concealing the bankrupt's assets.

NEW SHIPS FROM TAX FUND.

Two Concerns to Build Under Jones Act Provisions.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The Shipping Board announced tonight the approval of applications from two shipping concerns to construct vessels under the tax exemption provisions of the Jones Merchant Marine act.

Operators of vessels reegistered under the American flag are allowed a ten-year deduction in excess profits taxes on each vessel provided an equivalent sum is set aside yearly in a trust fund for the building in American shipyards of new vessels of a type and kind approved by the board.

The applications approved by the board are those of the Cromwell and Thurlow Steamship Company of Boston for two 4,400 deadweight ton cargo steamers to be built by the Bath Iron Works, Maine, and of W. R. Grace & Co. of New York for one 10,000 deadweight ton oil tanker to be built by the New York Shipbuilding Company.

Applications are under consideration by the board from the Pacific Mail Steamship Company of New York for one 8,800 deadweight ton oil tanker to be built by and New York Shipbuilding Company; the Sun Company of Philadelphia for one 12,000 deadweight ton oil steamer to be built by the Sun Shipbuilding Company of Chester, Pa., and the Newcastle Shipbuilding Company of Newcastle, for a five-masted schooner now under construction.

PLAN THREE LINES FROM RIO

Two Monthly Sailings to End Here, One at New Orleans.

RIO JANEIRO, Aug. 9.—Plans for the establishment of three lines of steamers for United States ports have been approved by the Directors of the Brazilian Lloyds. Ten of the largest and best vessels owned by the company will be employed, and will be withdrawn from the Brazilian-European trade.

Monthly sailings will be maintained, and the first ship will leave this port for New York on Aug. 15. One line will consist of three express steamers from Rio Janeiro to Barbados and New York; the second will be made up of four steamers, which will call at Buenos Aires, Montevideo, Brazilian ports and New York, and ships of the third will ply between Brazilian ports and Havana and New Orleans.

SOFT COAL EXPORT GAINS.

Exceeds by 5,000,000 Tons the Shipments of 1919.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Exports of bituminous coal from the United States during the fiscal year just ended exceeded by more than 5,000,000 tons bituminous shipments during 1919, according to foreign trade figures issued today by the Department of Commerce.

During the fiscal year 1920, 22,976,325 tons of bituminous coal worth $132,299,978 were exported, compared with 18,132,337 tons valued at $75,826,696 a year ago. In addition, bunker coal laden on vessels engaged in foreign trade in 1920 amounted to 836,453 tons valued at $7,238,478.

Canada took nearly half of the bituminous coal exports of 1920, receiving 10,470,516 tons. Italy, with a total of 2,862,773 tons, stood next as an export market for American coal and Cuba, with a total of 1,243,093 tons, was third.

FOUR MEN INVESTORS.

Six months ago my company underwrote an issue for an established organization marketing a labor-saving device in use for over 15 years throughout the world, said organization operating under license arrangement with the United States Government.

Disposition of a portion of this underwriting is now to be made. We desire contact either directly or through introduction with a few business men who think in terms of large participation.

Our financial references are the National City Bank and the Guaranty Trust, New York, and the reference of our client is the National City Bank, New York. The underwriting is small. It can be arranged by units permitting representation on the board of our client. The profit participation is unusual.

The production, sales, and administrative programs of our client are open to the type of business man we seek. Please do not answer unless you are personally interested or can arrange for introductions to men who you believe will be. The proposition is only for men with money, its acceptance subject to conference with us. Reply by letter to L. Zuckerman, Room 414, 522 5th Av.

Gray Goods Continue Inactive.

Business in gray goods yesterday was described as very dull and inactive. Nothing was reported in the way of future trading, and buyers show no disposition to interest themselves in such contracts. There were sales of 36-inch 56-60s, 4-yard goods, at 17 cents, and of 37-inch, 48 squares, 4-yard goods, at, 15¼ cents. Transactions also occurred in 36-inch 48-52s, 4.70-yard goods at 15 cents and in 36-inch 48 squares, 5-yard, at 13¼ cents. Thirty-six-inch, 6.25, 60-48s, sold for 12½ cents.

May Cut Down Visits.

One effect of the railroad rate increase, suggested a resident buyer yesterday, may be to cut down the number of visits by buyers to this market. He pointed out that, with passenger rates up 20 per cent., the extra money spent on a long-distance trip would amount to quite a respectable sum, not including the additional Pullman charges. During the present period, he said, the buyers have considered it necessary to make two or three trips to the market before finishing up their purchases for the season. So liberal an amount of traveling, he thought, would not be possible when the expense grows heavier.

Smaller Hats Foreseen.

Following the demand which sprang up almost overnight for smaller straw hat designs, the styles created in Fall and Winter headgear are featuring this tendency. On derby hats a short brim somewhat rolled is considered the best design, when accompanied by a crown slightly fuller than has previously marked the fashion. Soft hats follow the tendency of a shorter brim and a fuller crown. Wider ribbons are being used also. The popular color for Fall, it is predicted, will be brown. Cloth hats are getting a larger representation in the line, owing to their increased popularity last season.

Spring Clothing Lines.

Clothing manufacturers, who find little to comfort them in the present situation of the industry, are also in considerable doubt about the outlook for Spring. They feel, however, that if the showing of new lines can be postponed until well after the election conditions may be more favorable to them. Because they think a late opening is more desirable, the clothiers are not very much concerned over the prospects of a late start on Spring woolen lines. An opening in September would enable them to have lines prepared for early in December and, as the retailers seem to prefer to operate closer to the actual selling season, they are not much opposed to delay.

Increase in Rubber Footwear.

Following a convention of branch managers from all over the country, Homer E. Sawyer, Vice President of the United States Rubber Company, stated yesterday that the prospect for a heavier demand for rubber footwear of all kinds was regarded as a certainty. Last Winter was unusually wet, and it was practically impossible for the company to build up reserve stocks owing to the demand. What is to-day, said Mr. Sawyer, "that the volume of our business this year in rubber footwear will be approximately 40 per cent. in excess of last year." Footwear, mechanical goods and tires each form roughly a specialty, about a third of the company's business.

Question Early Opening Benefit.

The question of when an opening should take place has never aroused so much interest in the woolen industry as at present. The trade is divided into two groups. One believes a market for goods ought to be established by an opening of Spring lines. The other fails to see how this can accomplish any good, and contends that buyers have to be better satisfied with the outlook than they are at present before they will be in the mood to place orders for Spring. The latter group also points out that, if an opening took place and prices were put low enough to attract buyers, the clothing and garment manufacturers would be greatly demoralized by reason of having accepted orders on a basis higher than Spring woolen values.

After Higher Commissions.

The increase in railroad rates will place a further burden on traveling salesmen, who claim they are no longer able to make their commissions cover their expenses and yield them a fair wage. Consequently the movement to have higher commissions paid has gained impetus since the announcement of higher railroad rates. While prices were high in the ready-to-wear trades the salesman's commission meant more in dollars and cents, it is pointed out, and he was able to struggle along fairly well with the constantly mounting cost of living and traveling. But, now that prices have come down, the commission percentages do not yield their former revenue, with the result that the salesmen are much dissatisfied.

Demand Found at Auction.

A fair demand was found for the finer qualities of woolens and worsteds at a sale conducted yesterday by Burling, Dole & Co., auctioneers. There were 850 pieces of woolens from the American Woolen Company in the offering and 775 pieces of fancy worsteds from other well-known mills. The medium and cheaper goods did not attract very active bidding or find very good prices. Some small sales of duplicates were made. Those present consisted of small clothiers and jobbers from this city and nearby territory. Mr. Burling was asked about a rumor to the effect that the American Woolen Company would sell out its entire stock, as was done in December, 1918. He said nothing to substantiate this had reached him. The sale started yesterday will be continued today.

Judging the Situation.

In the opinion of a leading resident buyer, retailers who are holding off in the purchases ought to measure themselves of the ability of their usual sources to supply them if it turns out later that merchandise is needed. "The retailers must not forget," he said, "that during the war and after it quite a number of mushroom concerns sprung up that could make out all right when anybody could sell goods, but that are now up against it. In short, the old-established houses, as in the past, are willing to stock goods against their judgment of a future demand, but the market speculators have to have actual evidence of prosperity before they will take a chance. Consequently the retailer who depends upon a mushroom concern to help him out may later on find his mistake."

BRITAIN BIG COTTON BUYER.

Takes Half Our Year's Export—Japan Does Some Buying, Too.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Great Britain took nearly half of the 6,915,408 bales of cotton exported by the United States during the fiscal year 1920, the Department of Commerce announced today.

A total of 3,323,075 bales, worth $683,083,249, were shipped to Great Britain during the past fiscal year, compared with 2,411,280 bales, valued at $405,636,706 in 1919. Japan ranked next taking 875,637 bales at $175,977,260, an increase of 126,221 bales over last year.

Italy received 603,852 bales worth $118,561,592, an increase of 66,325 bales over the 1919 totals.

BUSINESS NOTES.

C. E. Harty has been appointed buyer of waists, sweaters and lingerie for Stanley Chase, resident buyer, to succeed Miss M. E. Chase.

Stanley C. Macrae, resident buyer, 1,270 Broadway, has added the following to his list of accounts: The Fair, Georgetown, Texas, and M. J. Kaufman (cloak and suit department), Champaign, Ill.

BUSINESS RECORDS

In Town.

SAMUEL BRAUNSTEIN—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Samuel Braunstein, dealer in furs and skins at 236 West Thirty-first Street, by these creditors: Philip Lack, $25; R. Friedman, $500, and G. Lindner, $1,000. He also made an assignment to Marcus Helfand. Liabilities are reported to be $60,000 and assets $20,000 to $30,000.

WIENER & JONAS—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Wiener & Jonas, composed of Daniel Wiener and Max Jonas, dealers in dress goods at 1,745 Madison Avenue, by these creditors: Brustein & Butler, $153; S. E. Levy, $119, and S. Kaufman, $235. They also made an assignment to Max Roekmore.

FINN & SIMMONS CO.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Alex Finn, Leo Simmons and Max Kaufman, comprising the firm of Finn & Simmons Company, wholesale dealers in furs and skins, at 219 West Twenty-eighth Street, by these creditors: William P. Sacks, $1,000; G. Lindner, $2,200, and B. R. Jacoby, $1,500.

EQUITABLE STEAM LAUNDRY COMPANY, INC.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Equitable Steam Laundry Company, Inc., by these creditors: Louis Balabar, Leizer Diamond and Boruch Bielberg, creditors, for $7,249, balance due on twenty-four notes.

ISAAC GROSSMAN—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against Isaac Grossman, jobber in woolens at 24 East Twenty-first Street and 1,123 Broadway, by these creditors: Cohn, $235; Berger-Levrant, $1,156, and J. Freinack, $731. It was stated that liabilities are about $65,000 and assets $20,000.

LEHIGH VALLEY TEXTILE CO., INC.—A petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the Lehigh Valley Textile Co., Inc., dealers in silks and satins at 488 Fourth Avenue, by the Vogue Silk Company, Inc., a creditor for $110,600. Liabilities are stated to be $40,191 and assets $30,000.

LOUIS BARR of 274 West Nineteenth Street has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $4,229 and no assets. The largest creditor is the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, $3,630, a judgment obtained on April 23, 1919.

WILLIAM DINERSTEIN—Judge A. N. Hand has appointed Francis L. Kohlman receiver for William Dinerstein, dealer in furs at 44 West Thirtieth Street, in bond of $5,000. The free assets are $46,000. A meeting of creditors was held three weeks ago and a settlement at 35 cents on the dollar was approved by all the creditors present, but two or three creditors afterward refused to accept, and the offer did not succeed. The business has since been under the control of a committee of creditors.

NICHOLAS ARNSTEIN—Judge A. N. Hand has rendered an opinion in the case of Nicholas Arnstein, in which the Judge says Arnstein must answer all the questions in Schedules A, B, C, D and E, except 5 in Schedule A, 2 in Schedule C, 13 in Schedule D and 5 in Schedule E.

Out of Town.

Special to The New York Times.

ROCHESTER, Aug. 10.—Benjamin Glassman, carpenter-contractor, has filed a petition in bankruptcy, with liabilities of $11,000 and assets of $7,000.

TRENTON, N. J., Aug. 10.—Temporary receivers have been appointed by the United States District Court for the Slocum Avram and Slocum Corporation, New York, manufacturers of automobile parts, with offices in Newark, and the plant in the Lodi Corporation of Lodi, Bergen County, and Arthur F. Hendrickson of Mountain Lakes, Morris County. It is alleged by the complainants that the defendant corporation has assets of $1,011,662.74 and liabilities of $1,036,066.03.

Civil Service.

United States.

The commission announces examinations on Oct. 1 for bacteriologist and junior bacteriologist, male and female, 18 years and over, in the Public Health Service. The register of eligibles will be used for filling vacancies at $150 to $180 a month and associate bacteriologist at $90 to $130 a month. The register of junior eligibles will be used for filling vacancies in the positions of assistants at $70 to $90 a month; junior bacteriologist at $70 a month; and junior bacteriologist, part time, at $30 to $50 a month. Appointees will be allowed subsistence and quarters. The duties of bacteriologists will require ability to identify the ordinary pathogenic microorganisms; to make and preferably interpret sections of pathologic tissues; to make examinations and analyses of water, milk, urine, stomach contents, and body fluids; to make blood counts and do complement fixation tests. Associate bacteriologists must have familiarity with most of the preceding technique and capacity to learn any of it. Assistant bacteriologists must have familiarity with staining, culture making, bacteriologic diagnosis of infectious diseases, urinalysis, alkalis, and capacity for development. On account of the needs of the service papers will be rated promptly and certification made as the needs of the service require. Competitors will be rated on: physical ability 10, education, training and experience 90. Applicants for the examination for bacteriologist must be graduates from a college or university in a course including biology and bacteriology and have had at least two years' postgraduate experience. Applicants for the examination for junior bacteriologist must have graduated from a four years' high school course or equivalent; and have had at least one year's experience. Ability to do a satisfactory Wasserman reaction is absolutely necessary for any of these positions.

The commission announces examinations on Sept. 21 for draftsmen, male or female, age more than 22, in the Reclamation Service at salaries ranging from $1,200 to $3,000 a year. The registers of eligibles will be divided into the following grades: Grade 1, $1,200 to $1,440 a year; Grade 2, $1,500 to $1,740 a year; Grade 3, $1,800 to $3,000 a year. Competitors will be rated on: drafting 40, education and experience 60. For engineering draftsman, applicants for Grade 1 must have had one year of engineering or architectural experience; for Grade 2 at least three years, and for Grade 3 five years. For topographic draftsman, applicants for Grade 1 must have had at least one year's experience in plotting of topographic surveys and making of topographic maps; for Grade 2 at least three years, and for Grade 3 five years. The completion of each year of an engineering course in a college or university of recognized standing will be accepted in each case as equivalent to three months of the required experience. Age limits do not apply to persons entitled to preference because of military or naval service.

The commission announces for Sept. 22, an open competitive examination for junior drainage engineer, males, uder 30, for vacancies in the Bureau of Public Roads, Department of Agriculture, for duty in the field, at entrance salaries ranging from $1,200 to $1,920 per year, with necessary expenses. Appointees whose services are satisfactory may be allowed the temporary increase granted by Congress of $20 a month. Competitors will be rated: Surveying, engineering and hydraulics 50, report writing 10, education, preliminary training and fitness 40. Applicants must show that they are graduates in civil engineering from a college or university. Six years of preliminary training in civil engineering showing satisfactory advancement and indicating special fitness will be accepted in lieu of graduation. Additional credit will be given for undergraduate or postgraduate work in hydraulics or soil technology. Under the second subject each competitor will be required to write, in the presence of the examiner, a composition of not less than 1,000 words on any subject in the field of engineering the competitor may choose. Age limits do not apply to persons entitled to preference because of military or naval service.

THE WEATHER.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Pressure has fallen throughout the Eastern and Southern States. It remains relatively low over the great central valleys and the plains States and is rising rapidly in the Far Northwest. This pressure distribution has been attended by general showers east of the Mississippi River and local showers and thunderstorms in the West Gulf States, the Rocky Mountain region and the Dakotas. Heavy local rains fell in the Middle Atlantic States, the East Gulf States and Tennessee.

The temperature has fallen decidedly in the Northwestern States, where readings are now below normal. The weather remains warm in the interior of the Pacific States and normal temperatures prevail generally throughout the Middle West and the Eastern and Southern States.

The outlook for the Middle Atlantic and New England States is for cloudy weather and local showers and thunderstorms Wednesday and partly cloudy Thursday without decided change in temperature. In the South Atlantic and East Gulf States, Tennessee and the Ohio Valley the weather will remain unsettled, with showers and thunderstorms Wednesday and Thursday, without material change in temperature.

In the region of the Great Lakes the weather will be partly cloudy Wednesday, and cloudy and showery on Thursday, with lower temperature in the upper lake region.

FORECAST TODAY AND THURSDAY.

Southern New England—Showers Wednesday. Thursday partly cloudy, not much change in temperature.

Eastern New York—Cloudy in north, thunder showers in south portion Wednesday. Thursday partly cloudy.

Eastern Pennsylvania and New Jersey—Showers and thunderstorms Wednesday. Thursday partly cloudy, not much change in temperature.

Western New York—Partly cloudy Wednesday. Thursday probably showers and thunderstorms.

The temperature record for the twenty-four hours ended at 11 P. M., taken from the thermometer at the local office of the United States Weather Bureau, is as follows:

	1920.	1919.		1920.	1919.
3 A. M.	73	63	4 P. M.	77	76

MANNIX IN LONDON; WATCHED BY POLICE

the primary purpose of his visit to Ireland was to see his 90-year-old mother.

"Of course, I want to tell the Irish people what the Australians and Americans think of their cause, and that's the reason the British Government prevented me from going," said the Archbishop.

Father Vaughan, describing the voyage from New York, said it was uneventful until the destroyers arrived except that one day there was a rumor on the ship that parts of three airplanes had been found in the cabin of Archbishop Mannix.

"The rumor," he added, "soon subsided, but not until many people had a lot of fun out of it."

ONE MAN IS KILLED IN DUBLIN CELEBRATION

Troops Fire Into Crowd Which Refuses to Disperse—Two Soldiers Killed in Clonakilty.

DUBLIN, Aug. 10.—Many of Dublin's streets were ablaze last night with bonfires in celebration of Archbishop Mannix's arrival from America. The belief still exists here that the Archbishop will visit Ireland.

The demonstrations resulted in one civilian being shot and another wounded by the military.

After midnight military patrols notified demonstrators in various sections who were singing around the bonfires that they must disperse in accordance with the Curfew law. In most cases the parties left, but one crowd in the Chapel Street district remained. A military lorry arrived and ordered them to disperse. Just what followed is not clear, but the military fired a volley, killing the one civilian and wounding the other.

All the bonfires were deserted by 3 o'clock and the streets were quiet. Military patrols in armored cars with searchlights patroled the city.

At the Dublin Corporation meeting last night it was announced that the Government had refused to pay grants amounting to £170,000 unless the Corporation refused to recognize the Dail Eireann, "Irish Republican Parliament."

It was stated that the immediate result of this refusal would be the shutting down of municipal institutions, including three hospitals.

CLONAKILTY, County Cork, Aug. 10.—Two soldiers were shot dead here last night.

BOYLE, County Roscommon, Aug. 10.—This town, which has been in the throes of a police boycott for the last fortnight, is greatly alarmed over the receipt from a mysterious source of threatening messages by leading Sinn Feiners and Republicans who refused to serve in the constabulary. A typical specimen of these messages follows:

"You were warned before to prepare for death, but, considering your wife and helpless children, we have decided to give you a chance. Remember, if the boycott is not off by the 12th your end will be sure and swift. Any injury to the police and their friends will be avenged tenfold. (Signed)
"ON BEHALF OF THE BLACKBIRD GANG."

One prominent Republican has been notified that he is condemned to death.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—Commenting today on the statement of The London Evening Standard that the Sinn Fein Congress had authorized him to spned $500,000 in connection with the campaign for the Presidency of the United States, Eamonn de Valera, "President of the Irish Republic," declared that he had received no official notification of the recent acts of the Irish Congress.

"To speak of these allocations as a political fund to be used in the Presidential campaign so as to create the impression that they were to be used for partisan purposes—that is to further the interests of any particular candidate or party—is a misrepresentation, whether these allocations were actually made or not. In public and private I have been scrupulously careful to avoid even appearing to take sides in the party politics of this country. Apart from any possible illegality, it would obviously be bad taste on my part and most inexpedient."

CALL IRISH PROTEST MEETING.

Sympathizers Here to Gather on Sunday to Denounce Mannix Affair.

Frank P. Walsh will preside at a mass meeting of Irishmen of New York and vicinity next Sunday night to protest against the removal by British authorities of Archbishop Mannix from the liner Baltic. The meeting was organized yesterday by laity and clergy of the Catholic Church here. The ushers who served at the reception to the Archbishop on July 18 were summoned to a preliminary meeting on Thursday.

The Rev. Timothy Shanley headed the Committee of Arrangements hastily called together yesterday to make plans for the mass meeting, upon the insistence of many, it was said, that Irish sympathizers here may again express their loyalty to the Archbishop. His countrymen wish also to denounce the passage of what Mr. Walsh yesterday described as the eighty-eighth coercion bill for Ireland in 120 years.

An invitation to the mass meeting was sent to Archbishop Hayes and other prominent Catholic dignitaries, but it was learned that the Archbishop would not attend. He was ill, it was said, and had gone to the mountains for a brief vacation. Archbishop Hayes presided at the welcome mass meeting to Archbishop Mannix on July 18.

The speakers besides Mr. Walsh will include Lawrence Ginnell, a member of the "Dail Eireann," just arrived in this country to assist Eamonn de Valera, and the Rev. Norman Thomas, a Presbyterian minister and editor of The World Tomorrow. Ex-Governor Martin Glynn also had been invited to address the gathering, it was announced.

LEAVES VICEROY'S COUNCIL.

Sir Thomas Stafford Protests Against Refusal of Dominion Rule.

DUBLIN, Aug. 10.—Sir Thomas Stafford has resigned his membership in the Viceroy's Advisory Council because, he says, the Premier "has refused to take the only step giving a chance for peace, namely the firm and immediate offer of a form of Dominion Government."

Next to Frank Brooke, who was assassinated on July 20 by three men in a railway directors' room in Dublin, Sir Thomas Stafford has been the closest personal friend of Viscount French, the Lord Lieutenant.

COPENHAGEN, Aug. 10.—Arrangements have just been completed by which a group of American capitalists, under the leadership of the American Glue Company of Boston, will take over 5,000,000 marks of the newly issued shares of the Scheidemandel Chemical Works of Berlin and furnish it with raw materials.

Are you one of them?

THERE are many people who buy and hold stocks for a long period of time and then flatter themselves on taking a profit which does not even cover the interest on their money.

It is sad enough to be fooled in speculation, but it is sadder still not to realize it.

ESSEX MOTOR CARS

Essex Carries U. S. Mail San Francisco to New York in 4 days, 14 hours, 43 minutes

All previous records for endurance, time and reliability were broken by an Essex stock touring car when it crossed the American continent—San Francisco to New York—3,347 miles in 4 days, 14 hours and 43 minutes, and carried for the first time in history by automobile, a sack of transcontinental mail.

This was a test of supreme endurance. No other car ever made such a record. It is just another demonstration of Essex performance.

The transcontinental record making Essex car is at our Salesroom—1842 Broadway.

Come in and see it.

SMITH GIVES HOPE OF HOUSING SESSION

Governor Ready to Call Legislature if Convinced Relief Can Be Assured.

NEW YORKERS ASK ACTION

Call Would Include Special Elections in Districts of Expelled Socialist Legislators.

NEED 100,000 APARTMENTS

Calder Committee Told This Number Will Be Increased by 25,000 in 1921.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, Aug. 10.—Governor Smith said tonight that if the passage of new laws or the amendment of existing statutes will afford practical relief to the housing situation, now most acute in New York City and in other cities of the State, he will call an extraordinary session of the Legislature.

The Governor was waited on this afternoon by a delegation of New Yorkers, headed by Philip Goodart, who presented a petition with about 2,000 signatures asking for an extra session to pass housing legislation before Oct. 1.

The question was an important one during the regular session last Winter, and new laws were enacted after an investigation by a special committee. One of these laws was intended to place a limitation of 25 per cent. on rent increases, and the Governor was told that unless the law was made more explicit, owners of property would undertake to increase rents 25 per cent. after Oct. 1. They would take the ground, the Governor was told, that the law passed at the regular session of 1920 permitted an annual increase within the limitation. It was also stated that there was much confusion in the courts in interpreting the new housing laws, and that the situation needed correction.

While Governor Smith believes that the solution of the housing question rests on a Constitutional amendment there is not sufficient time before the next general election to cause the publication of the proposed amendment and for that reason no time would be saved in having the proposed amendment adopted in an extraordinary session.

Section 295 of the election law provides that the Secretary of State shall cause such concurrent resolution after two houses agreeing to a proposed amendment to the Constitution, which is referred to the Legislature to be elected at the next general election of Senators, to be published three months before such election and thereafter twice in each of the three months next preceding such election in two newspapers in each county.

Before a Constitutional amendment becomes effective it must be passed upon by two Legislatures having a different Senate, and as the Senatorial term is two years, a proposed amendment cannot be passed in accordance with the Constitution and be submitted to the voters before the general election in 1923.

The Governor informed the delegation that he still had the calling of an extraordinary session under consideration. He started for New York tonight to attend the funeral of a friend tomorrow morning. He will return to Albany at noon.

If the Governor should determine to call the legislators back he will also issue a call for special elections in five assembly districts in New York, Kings and Bronx Counties formerly represented by the expelled Socialist Assemblymen. Governor Smith believes these five districts are vitally interested in the housing condition of New York City and that they would be represented in the Assembly when the subject is considered.

MANN PUTS HOUSING PROBLEM UP TO RICH

Tenement House Commissioner Says They Should Come to Rescue to "Save Own Skins."

With an existing shortage of 100,000 apartments and indications that this number will be swelled by 25,000 in 1921, the solution of New York's housing problem lies in part in moneyed men coming to the rescue, not as a philanthropical measure, but rather as a protection to their own interests in having a contented people, Tenement House Commissioner Frank Mann told the United States Senate Committee on Reconstruction and Production at a hearing in the Engineering Societies' Building in West Thirty-ninth Street yesterday afternoon. Senator William M. Calder, Chairman of the Committee, presided.

Exemption of mortgages from the Federal income tax will go a long way toward solving the problem, Walter Stabler, Controller of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, told the committee. He asserted that the country is facing a situation more serious than it has ever known. The responsibility, he asserted, is up to Congress.

The failure to keep up the normal annual construction during the last four years, Commissioner Mann said, was due to shortage of money, building material and labor. The normal construction in this city is about 28,000 apartments a year, in addition to two-family houses and hotel apartments, but during the last four years the average construction dwindling to about 4,000 apartments a year. At present, he said, there are under construction 300 tenement houses.

One remedy to attract builders, Mr. Mann said, would be to exempt new structures from local taxation for a period of years. This would not be a discrimination against the owners of existing houses, he added, because the high cost of construction now more than offsets the difference. The need of the day, he said, is for workingmen's apartments to rent for about $35 a month. The average workingman can't pay more. These houses could be built to accommodate six families to a house, each family having five rooms, he said. Five-room apartments now being constructed cannot rent for less than $75 to $100 a month, which the Commissioner said is not relieving the situation for the workingman.

In reply to a question from Senator Calder the Commissioner said he did not think there should be any change in the law relative to the rate of interest. In this connection he advised the wealthy to dump their money into the mortgage market and help solve the problem. "It is the job of the men of wealth to take up the question of housing," the Commissioner said. "The wealthy should take up this question seriously to save their own skins."

The Commissioner said that the wealthy should not look for immediate returns, but rather consider the part they would be playing in "giving stability and contentment to the laboring people."

Mr. Mann favored the exemption of income taxes on mortgages. He asserted that the builder today needs six to ten times as much capital as he did a few years ago. He said that 90 per cent. of the houses for dwelling purposes have been constructed by speculative builders. If the necessary capital were supplied he predicted that 1,000 houses of the six-family type could be got under construction right away. He mentioned another thing that would go a long way toward relieving the situation, as he viewed it—the curtailment of non-essential building. He said that $35,000,000 of theatres are projected, and several millions more in loft and other buildings.

Walter Stabler, Controller of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, said that exemption of mortgages from taxation would go a long way toward relieving the situation. Senator Calder remarked that it was the disposition of Congress to hold off on further exemptions.

"I can't urge on you too strongly," Mr. Stabler said, "to do all you can to aid in the exemption of the tax on mortgages. We are facing a most serious situation, more serious than the country has ever seen. It is growing worse steadily and the responsibility is up to Congress. If Congress does not do its share there is bound to be further trouble, I warn you. Why, I know of places uptown where twenty-five people are living in apartments which formerly housed five."

As an instance of the increase in rents, he cited a four-room apartment in a six-story elevator house on Washington Heights, which five years ago brought $50 to $60 a month and now is bringing $200 a month.

The Metropolitan is the largest lender of money on mortgages in New York, Mr. Stabler told the committee. It has outstanding $268,000,000 on mortgages covering city property and $45,000,000 on farms.

More than $29,000,000 of mortgages in Manhattan and the Bronx, Mr. Stabler said, have been transferred in the last six months by individuals and trustees who have been paying taxes on them to savings banks, where they escape taxation. He declared that hundreds of millions of dollars of mortgage money is being driven from the market because of the mortgage tax law. "If something is not done in this direction pretty soon you will have no mortgages to levy taxes upon," he said.

Hylan Would Lend City Money.

Rudolph P. Miller, Superintendent of Buildings for Manhattan, said activity in the building field is confined principally to large business buildings. Normally, he said, 35 to 40 per cent. of the building permits are for living quarters, but at present only 6 per cent. are for housing purposes. He also said that two-thirds of the alteration permits issued tended to decrease the existing housing facilities in Manhattan.

Tomorrow morning at 11 o'clock the committee will continue its hearings. Daniel Willard, Chairman of the Advisory Council of the Association of Railway Executives, will testify, and the committee expects he will offer suggestions for relieving the transportation difficulties as regards building materials. Otto H. Kahn will testify on the financial and transportation problems of the period of reconstruction.

Mayor Hylan yesterday requested Corporation Counsel John P. O'Brien to give him an opinion as to the legality of the plan suggested by Allison T. Briggs, formerly Secretary of the Court House Board, to invest sinking fund money in bonds and mortgages for the construction of homes and dwellings. Mr. Briggs, in a letter to Edward P. Doyle, Secretary of the Mayor's Housing Committee, declared that this money could be used for this purpose if an ordinance passed many years ago were amended by the Board of Aldermen. The Mayor said:

"If it can be done legally, I see no reason why sinking fund moneys should not be loaned on bonds and mortgages directly to those who wish to construct houses for themselves or as dwellings for others."

SECOND BERGDOLL ON TRIAL

Court That Convicted His Half Brother Hears Desertion Charge.

Erwin Rudolph Bergdoll, half-brother of the fugitive slacker Grover Cleveland Bergdoll, who was sentenced by a military court to five years' imprisonment for dodging the draft, was placed on trial on Governors Island yesterday before the same court which convicted his brother. The prosecution charges that Bergdoll is a wartime deserter and punishable as such. The defense asserts that the youth, who lives on the outskirts of Philadelphia, was married and a farmer and hence not subject to the call.

While a sentry with a loaded rifle guarded Bergdoll, the court, with Colonel William H. Allaire, presiding, was convened and sworn. The prosecution was conducted by Lieut. Col. Charles C. Cresson, assisted by Captain Robert Hannay, Jr., and Lieutenant Thomas L. Heffernan. Two military counsel, Captain Ambrose Clogher and Lieutenant Samuel Kohn, represented Bergdoll.

William S. Ellis, Chairman of Bergdoll's draft board, testified that it was represented to him, in the presence of Bergdoll, that the youth did not want to fight because "he wouldn't want to shoot any relations he had on the other side if obliged to enter the army."

Ellis said that on the night before Bergdoll was to appear for physical examination, he called at the Ellis home accompanied by a Mr. Deeves and a Mr. Hall, who begged him to excuse Bergdoll from examination, and gave the explanation about Bergdoll's disinclination to shoot Germans. Bergdoll was informed he was an American citizen and must report for examination.

Ellis said he never again saw Bergdoll, who was a fugitive until he surrendered voluntarily on July 21, when he confronted the defendant in court. The witness added that the board investigated Bergdoll's exemption claims and placed him in Class 1 A.

Walter B. Johns, Treasurer of the Media Trust Company of Media, Pa., identified as in the handwriting of Mrs. Erwin R. Bergdoll, deceased wife of the alleged slacker, a letter asking why Bergdoll had been placed in Class 1 A when he was married and the sole manager of a farm. The case was then adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

Peruvian Refugees from Chile Charge Systematic Expulsion

LIMA, Peru, Aug. 9.—Two hundred and sixty Peruvian refugees from Chilean ports were brought to Callao today on the Pacific Line steamer Chile.

Lima newspapers are filled with interviews with the refugees tending to indicate there is a systematic campaign of persecution and expulsion of Peruvians in Chile.

Refugees arriving from Valparaiso declare that sixty Peruvian residences and business houses were looted and destroyed on the night of July 20 and that one Peruvian was killed.

NEW STRIKE THREAT MADE BY B. R. T. MEN

Union Leaders Say Walkout Will Be Last Resort, but Insist Demands Be Granted.

GARRISON REJECTS THEM

Declares Wage Increase Would Ruin Road and Refuses Closed Shop—Men to Appeal to Court.

Threat of another strike on the lines of the Brooklyn Rapid Transit Company was renewed yesterday by the officials of the three employes' unions affiliated with the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employes when Receiver Lindley M. Garrison rejected demands for wage increases and refused to accept the principle of the "closed shop." The receiver's letter was a reply to ninety-four demands of the unions, one for an eight-hour day and others for new pay schedules.

Ways of enforcing the demands of the unions were discussed at committee meetings in Brooklyn last night, and threats to strike before the expiration of the current agreement on Aug. 28 were freely made by officials of the three unions as well as by the officials of the Amalgamated Association, who directed the strike last Summer.

"A strike will be a last resort," said Aaron Kopman, Secretary of Division 867 of the Elevated and Subway Employes. "There are some of our demands that we would submit to arbitration, but there are others that cannot be arbitrated. The men will insist that those demands be granted without modification."

Leaders to See Judge Mayer.

After reading Receiver Garrison's letter, Louis M. Fridiger, counsel for the Amalgamated Association, said he and two of his associates would appeal to Federal Judge Julius M. Mayer over the head of the receiver. It is their desire to question him upon his instructions to the receiver to maintain an "open shop" and to make contracts only with committees formed of employes on the B. R. T. lines. Judge Mayer will receive Fridiger next Monday afternoon at his chambers in the Woolworth Building, together with P. J. Shea, member of the executive board of the Amalgamated and leader of the Brooklyn organizations, and James Sheridan, a B. R. T. employe and Chairman of the Executive Committee.

In his letter to the unions Receiver Garrison reiterates his reasons for refusing to make a closed shop," and declares that granting of the wage demands of the unions would absorb the entire gross earnings of the lines, now amounting to $40,000,000, leaving nothing for supplies or other expenses. He said that, for the year, the total was now $25,000,000. This is his letter:

On July 28, as Chairman of the Committee with which I have an agreement, you handed a letter, addressed to me, to Mr. Menden, general manager, in which letter you state that the Committee desires to make changes in the existing agreement, and at the same time you handed to Mr. Menden three documents which you stated contained the changes desired. Mr. Menden informed you that he would be unable to present the letter and papers to me for at least a week, as it would take him that time to analyze the requests and see what the financial result of granting them would be. He has just presented the papers to me.

Calls Them New Agreements.

The papers that you submitted are not changes in the existing agreement, but are three new and distinct agreements with three local divisions of the Amalgamated Association of Street and Electric Railway Employees of America; one representing the surface employes, one representing mechanical employes and one of the elevated and subway employes.

These agreements would make an absolutely closed shop.

Under the circumstances there can be no point at this time in entering into any negotiations in regard to these proposed agreements. I have always refused to make a closed shop. I have always refused to enter into a contract with anybody other than a committee of employes. As you know, I have taken this course under instructions from the court, whose representative I am in this matter. Until the court changes its instructions in this respect it is useless to have any negotiations, because I could not under the circumstances enter into any such agreements.

I recently, as you know, voluntarily offered an increase of wages which went to the limit of the financial means at my disposal. Even if you were asking me to modify merely the existing agreement with the employes I could not possibly entertain the suggestions contained in the papers submitted. Under the most favorable construction of the different demands it would add a total of at least $15,000,000 to the existing wage payments. These wage payments now aggregate approximately $25,000,000, and the gross income approximates $40,000,000, so that what you are now asking for would be enough to absorb all of the entire gross earnings of the property. In other words, you are now asking that all the money that is taken in shall be paid out as wages, without leaving a penny for supplies, materials and other essentials. If granted, your demands could have only one result, which would be to stop the operation of the roads.

Ruinous to Grant Demands.

After studying the demands of the men for a week, William S. Menden, General Manager of the B. R. T. lines, passed them on to Receiver Garrison with the opinion that it would be ruinous to the lines to grant the wage demands, but that it would be possible to operate on an eight-hour day under the present wage schedules. Various other minor demands could be granted immediately, Mr. Menden said.

"We cannot grant the demands of the men for an increase in wages simply because we have not got the money," said the General Manager. "I invited the men to appoint a sub-committee to check up on our own figures if they cared to. We have nothing to conceal. The status of the system is now a matter of court record."

Under the new demands motormen and conductors on surface lines who are now receiving from 52 to 62 cents an hour would get from 82 to 92 cents an hour, the rate to be decided by seniority of service. The same scale of 82 to 92 cents an hour is demanded by elevated and subway guards who now get 49 to 52 cents. The eight-hour day also is demanded.

Leaders said last night that they did not think a strike vote would be taken until the night the present agreements expire, Saturday, Aug. 28, and then only in case Judge Mayer refused to grant the demands. All of them volunteered the opinion that the majority of the men favored a strike unless all the demands were granted, including those for pay increases and the eight-hour day.

ALASKA FLIERS DELAYED.

Four Airplanes Await New Parts at Prince George, B. C.

PRINCE GEORGE, B. C., Aug. 10.—The four United States Army airplanes flying across the continent will be held here two or three days before continuing to Alaska because of delay in getting parts from San Francisco.

The shipment is expected here tomorrow.

Turkish Treaty Signed at Sevres; Last Enemy Power at Peace with Entente

SEVRES, France, Aug. 10 (Associated Press).—The last power to remain in a state of war with the Entente signed the treaty today and is now officially at peace. Serbia and the Hedjaz alone of the nations interested had refused to sign.

It was a simple, sober ceremony. Premier Venizelos, although achieving what is considered to have been one of his life ambitions, affixed his signature to the three voluminous documents—the treaty itself, an Italo-Greek protocol and a protocol on Asia Minor and the zones of influence—with trembling hand and sombre face, ascribed by some to illness and overwork. The three Turkish delegates looked away as the Premier passed their seats, not bowing to him as they did to the other delegates.

Count Zamoyski, Polish Minister to Paris, who was among those who signed the three documents, attracted as much attention as the actual ceremony, being the centre of inquiring crowds as the delegates were signing their names.

Premier Millerand opened the ceremony with a few words, and then asked the Turkish delegates to sign.

The business was concluded at 4:30 and the delegates hurried out through the soldier guard, which presented arms as they filed by.

As usual, M. Millerand arrived first. He stood chatting for a few minutes with Sir George Grahame, Chargé of the British Embassy at Paris, awaiting the appearance of the Turkish delegation.

Despite many postponements and uncertainty as to when the treaty would actually be signed, great crowds had gathered in the beautiful Sevres Park to await the coming of the delegates. Uppermost among the topics of discussion by the crowd was the Russo-Polish situation. Many anxious mothers asked the correspondents, "Is it war again?" as the peace delegates entered the historic old château.

FEDERAL AID URGED FOR LIVE STOCK MEN

Loans Necessary to Avert a Meat Shortage, Master Butchers Are Told.

RETAILER TELLS OF LOSSES

Financial Interests Prefer to Lend on Industries More Stable Than Cattle, He Says.

If the impending meat shortage is to be averted the Government will have to take a hand in the matter of loans to the live stock men throughout the country, according to John T. Russell, operator of a chain of retail markets in Chicago, who spoke yesterday at the convention of the United Master Butchers of America at the Hotel Pennsylvania. Mr. Russell asserted that these dealers were in great financial stress because of fluctuating prices, and that they were unable to renew loans, since the financial interest preferred to lend money on more steady industries. The result, he said, is that the live stock dealers will go out of business and there will be a meat shortage such as we have never known.

"There is now a great shortage of cattle," said Mr. Russell, "but we will really know what a shortage means if money continues to be so tight for the live stock men. The only solution is for the Government to come in and help stabilize the industry. This should be done, even if a new financial process has to be evolved and the money loaned at a very low rate of interest. In the last year the live stock men have taken great losses, because of the rise in the price of feed and uncertain market conditions.

"The natural difficultics of raising cattle are growing greater each year. There is not the range that cattle used to have. Not many years ago much of the land from Texas to Nebraska was used for cattle grazing, but this land is now used for other purposes, and the live stock is driven to the poorer sections, where it takes about five or six times as much acreage for a bullock.

"All through our business there is a tightening up. It costs us retail men from 50 to 100 per cent. to operate. Everything we use has gone up, even sawdust for the floors.

"It is vastly important that a campaign be waged to interest the housewives in the cheaper cuts of meat, but it is a hard proposition now when all the housewives have porterhouse pocketbooks. Every one has plenty of money and insists on the best. The present demand is only for the hind quarters. With all the other meats left on our hands we must balance the loss somewhere."

DRY AGENT HELD ON NEGLECT CHARGE

Herbert E. Lane Arrested in His Brother's Saloon in Crusade by Secret Service Men.

Charged with failure to perform his duty in making an arrest where he observed a suspected violation of the Volstead act, Herbert E. Lane, a prohibition enforcement agent, with a record for good service, was arrested Monday night in a saloon owned by his brother, William A. Lane, at 1,607 Nostrand Avenue. The arrest was made by George E. Golding, a Secret Service agent, who was accompanied to the saloon by a number of Secret Service operatives. The owner of the saloon was also arrested, charged with violation of the prohibition law. The minimum penalty for the dry agent, upon conviction, is $1,000 fine and six months in jail.

Shortly before 10 o'clock Monday night Golding and a party of friends, thought to have been Secret Service men, lined up at Lane's saloon and Golding asked for a drink. William A. Lane, it is charged, was serving behind the counter and placed a bottle on the bar. Herbert E. Lane, the prohibition agent, is alleged to have been lounging about the café, watching what was going on. Golding is alleged to have seized the bottle and held it up over Agent Lane's head in order that he might see it. There is said to have been a wild scramble to get hold of and destroy the bottle. The Secret Service agent was able to hold on to the bottle, it is said, and left with it as evidence. Commissioner McCabe held the agent in $2,000 bail and his brother in $1,000 bail.

Secret Service Agent Golding has been assigned to a general crusade against prohibition agents suspected of being in league with saloon keepers.

DAVIS LEADS IN OHIO FOR GOVERNORSHIP

Former Governor Willis Heads Republicans for the Senate Nomination.

CALL IT A WET VICTORY

Anti-Saloon League Opposed Davis —Julian Leads Democrats for the Senate.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 10.—According to returns from 1,259 out of a total of 6,000 precincts tabulated tonight, former Mayor Henry L. Davis of Cleveland had a substantial lead over his opponents for the Republican nomination for Governor in today's primary election in Ohio. The vote stood:

Davis, 28,816; former Congressman Ralph D. Cole of Findlay, 20,261; Congressman Roscoe McCulloch of Canton, 10,616.

Twelve hundred and sixty-six precincts showed former Governor Frank B. Willis has a slight lead over Walter F. Brown of Toledo, former Progressive State leader, for the Republican nomination for United States Senator. Judge R. M. Wanamaker of Akron, a Justice of the Ohio Supreme Court, was running third. The vote stood: Brown, 20,366; Willis, 21,919; Wanamaker, 9,557.

W. A. Julian of Cincinnati was maintaining a slight lead over Judge A. F. O'Neil of Akron for the Democratic nomination for United States Senator.

The vote stood: Julian, 9,597; O'Neil, 7,475.

State Auditor A. V. Donahey had no opposition for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

All of the present Republican Congressmen, excepting McCulloch of Canton, are seeking renomination.

Two Democratic Congressmen are not seeking renomination. They are Warren Guard of Hamilton and Clement L. Brenbaugh of Columbus.

In the Republican contest for Secretary of State Harvey C. Smith, the incumbent, is opposed by Harry Clay Smith, a negro publisher of Cleveland, and former Secretary Charles Q. Hildebrant. Winston, Attorney General, was made to rule the negro candidate's name from the ballot on the ground that his candidacy was the result of collusion in attempt to defeat the incumbent, but the State Supreme Court ordered his name to go on the ballot.

Blow for Anti-Saloon League.

Special to The New York Times.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Aug. 10.—Ohio Republicans have gone wet. It was indicated tonight when returns showed that Harry L. Davis would be the Republican candidate for Governor.

Davis, who is a pronounced liberal, will make the race for Governor pitted against State Auditor A. V. Donahey of New Philadelphia, a printer, who is backed by the farmers. Donahey was nominated without opposition by the Democrats.

The Ohio Anti-Saloon League, which has been dominant with Ohio Republicans since 1905 when it caused the defeat for re-election of Myron T. Herrick, loses its hold on the Republicans of the State so far as the Governorship is concerned. Its leaders state that Davis should not be nominated, but enemies charge that they secretly acquiesced in his selection.

Davis carried Cleveland by 20,000, Cincinnati by 10,000, Columbus by 1,500, Toledo by 5,000 and Dayton by 1,500. Davis in all the cities will have nearly 50,000 lead.

The nomination of former Governor Frank B. Willis of Delaware, who was favored by the Anti-Saloon League, is conceded for the Senate.

Cox Avoids Interference.

Special to The New York Times.

DAYTON, Ohio, Aug. 10.—Governor James M. Cox took no part in the primaries here today except to cast his vote.

State Auditor A. V. Donahey of New Philadelphia was the only candidate put forward by the Democrats for Governor.

W. A. Julian of Cincinnati, who is prepared to stand with Governor Cox on the League of Nations issue, was the leading candidate for the Senate.

Governor Cox did not take the part of any of the candidates, as he did not wish to inject himself into the local differences. He has adopted that as a general policy where local contests in various States are concerned.

Special to The New York Times.

MARION, Ohio, Aug. 10.—A hands off policy has been Senator Harding's attitude throughout the Ohio Republican primary campaign. The Senator, accompanied by his secretary, cast his vote at a polling booth in a garage.

All of the candidates for the Republican nomination for Governor and United States Senator have called upon Senator Harding since his return to Marion.

Kirby Is Losing in Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 10.—Scattering early returns from today's Democratic State primary show Congressman T. H. Caraway running far ahead of Senator W. F. Kirby in the contest for the nomination for United States Senator. Every one of the early precincts reports gave Caraway a majority. Both candidates favor the League of Nations.

The early returns showed ex-Congressman T. C. McRae slightly in the lead for the Gubernatorial nomination, for which there were nine candidates.

MACKHNO RUNNING A WAR OF HIS OWN

"Little Father" Wins Victories Over the Bolsheviki in Central Russia.

NOW HAS ARMY OF 40,000

Picturesque Cavalry Chief, It Is Reported, Is About to Join Wrangel.

PARIS, Aug. 10.—Russia is a land of mystery and romance. While on nearly every one of her frontiers some war is going on there is room for one more in the middle. It is known as Mackhno's war, from the name of its leader.

He is waging it against the Bolsheviki just now, and it is reported that he and his army are about to join General Wrangel in the Crimea. When he began he was fighting against the Germans as a Ukrainian Nationalist. He had 250 men under his command and the Germans used two battalions trying to capture him. But the forests in which he was fighting are wide, and not only did he elude them but he increased his strength until he had 3,000 men and chased the Germans from the district. From them, too, he captured some machine guns and rifles, and with these he began a victorious career.

Mackhno fought and defeated the Bolshevist forces in a stiff engagement in which he captured more ammunition, and for a short time he joined the forces of the Ukrainian Grigorief. These two leaders, however, fell out, and the story is that Mackhno ended the quarrel by shooting his rival and attaching the latter's followers to himself.

Since that time his war with the Bolsheviki has been almost constantly successful. He has sufficient forces to hold a wide stretch of forest country and in one engagement with the Bolsheviki he took 1,200 prisoners and captured thirty cannon and 200 machine guns.

Most of his forces are cavalry, and his baggage train consists of 5,000 carts, which follow the army around. When one breaks down "Little Father Mackhno" requisitions another from the nearest farm.

The "little father" is a long-haired, powerful man, 35 years old. Of these thirty-five years he spent nine in prison for political offenses begun when he was an 18-year-old student. Curiously, though he is fighting the Bolsheviki, he still calls himself an anarchist. At Goule Hole, where, when not campaigning, he has his headquarters he dispenses justice in the market place.

Mackhno's wife is reputed to be not only beautiful but exceptionally cultured and as warlike as her husband, who has sworn not to quit fighting until all the Bolsheviki are driven from the Ukraine. If a National Assembly is constituted, he declares he will submit with his 40,000 men its authority and go to war in regular fashion. Meanwhile he is content to lead his band to successive Parthian victories and keep his followers on good terms with him and themselves by treating them in a fatherly and democratic manner and letting them plunder whenever they get the chance.

His army is cosmopolitan. It is composed mainly of South Russian peasants, but there are as well Turks, Serbs, Tartars, Hungarians, Germans and Austrians. Their uniforms are as mixed as their nationalities and their only distinguishing mark is a red and green sash. The Bolsheviki think the "little father" so formidable that they have offered a reward of 10,000,000 rubles for him dead or alive.

FOUND UNREST IN PALESTINE

Consul General Glazebrook and the Rev. Dr. Peters Arrive Here.

Dr. Otis A. Glazebrook, United States Consul in Jerusalem, who arrived yesterday on the Greek liner Megali Hellas on leave of absence, said that the British Government had a difficult problem to handle in its mandate over Palestine and the restoration of the country to the Jews.

Just before the Consul left Jerusalem Sir Herbert Samuels, the new British High Commissioner of Palestine, arrived to take charge and it was plainly evident, he added, that the British military Government was unpopular with the people. The Consul said that the population of Palestine consisted of 65,000 Jews, the same number of Gentiles and three times that number of Moslems. Dr. Glazebrook said there was a lack of good hotel accommodation in the Holy City to care for any large number of tourists.

Another passenger on the Greek liner arriving from the Near East was the Rev. Dr. John P. Peters, rector emeritus of St. Michael's Protestant Episcopal Church, Ninety-ninth Street and Amsterdam Avenue.

"The great difficulty that the British Government has to contend with in Palestine," Dr. Peters said, "is the bitter feeling on the part of the Moslems and the Gentiles toward the Jews. They believe that the latter are coming into Palestine to seize their property. They ask how Americans would feel if they saw a horde of foreigners coming in to grab their country. They regard the Jews who are now going to Palestine as foreigners."

SOLDIER TO HAVE NEW FACE.

Hopes to Chew Food Again After Twenty-two Operations.

Special to The New York Times.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 10.—Sergeant Russell S. Rankin of Cynthiana, Ky., one of the first soldiers to enlist after America entered the war, is to have a new face.

He has had twenty-two operations and several more are to come.

Rankin enlisted with the marines and fought at first at Verdun. Then came the battle of Belleau Wood, and his final engagements were at Soissons, in the great Marne drive. While advancing at Soissons 90 per cent. of his company was mowed down by the Germans. His companion's head was blown off, and then a stream of machine gun bullets swept him. A hole was torn in his right shoulder, nearly severing his arm; several bullets cut his neck, narrowly missing the jugular vein; seventeen of his teeth were ripped out and his lower jaw and half his tongue torn off. One bullet passed through his left hand.

He walked three and a half miles for first aid. He was unable to swallow food or drink for five days, nearly dying from thirst and hunger. Then he was fed through the nose. What was left of the jaw was sewed into place. For two years he was in hospitals in France, New York and St. Louis.

"I have not chewed food for more than two years," he said, "but the doctor is to transplant more bone in my jaw, adjust artificial teeth, and then I will be all right."

FIND HUSZAR OBEYED LAW.

No Fraud Disclosed in Admission of Former Hungarian Premier.

Immigration records at Ellis Island indicate that Charles Huszar, former Premier of Hungary, entered the United States in an entirely lawful manner, according to Ellis Island officials. An investigation started yesterday as a result of charges made by the Federation of Hungarian Jews in America failed to show any evidence of fraud in connection with the examination of the former Premier when he recently arrived.

Bolt Kills Two Ministers As Preacher Sounds Warning

LAPORTE, Ind., Aug. 10.—"If lightning should strike this tent tonight how many would be ready for it?" the Rev. John Timber, evangelist, asked a congregation of Free Methodists crowding a tent at Springville last night. Outside a storm was threatening.

A few moments later a bolt of lightning entered the canvas top, killed two ministers on the platform, burned the Rev. Mr. Timber dangerously and knocked down many of the worshippers. Those killed were the Rev. Henry Lenz, presiding elder of Rockford district of the Free Methodist Conference, and the Rev. B. W. Huston, field agent of the Evansville (Wis.) Seminary.

VILLA TELLS HATRED FOR UNITED STATES

Asserts That He Will Fight "to the Death" if Americans Ever Invade Mexico.

OTHERWISE HE IS PEACEFUL

His Men Are Tired of Revolutions and Want to Work—To Disband at Tlahuilo.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 10.—Hatred for Americans and a determination to "fight to the death" if an attempt is made to invade Mexico were expressed by Francisco Villa, the bandit leader, in speeches at Cuatro Cienegas, State of Coahuila, according to purported stenographic copies printed by the Universal today.

"I am a revolutionist who mostly has fought against the gringos," Villa is quoted as having said at the City Hall in Cuatro Cienegas. "I call them so because really dear brethren, I hate them for having trodden our soil with weapons in their hands and because I believe them solely responsible for our misfortunes."

In a theatre at the same place Villa said, according to the newspaper: "I swear by my country not to fire a single shot against my brethren. I shall fight only if the invader should try to enter the country. Then, indeed, I shall return to the struggle and will fight to the death."

The forces led by Villa will be mustered out at Tlahuilo, State of Durango, according to the latest advices received by Provisional President de la Huerta.

Villa has been informed that the Provisional President has ratified the agreement with him, and the former rebel leader has sent an envoy to San Antonio, Texas, to take money to Señora Villa so that she will be at the right time to bank the money here, send it abroad, get the stamps and convert them into cash.

"I started the Securities Exchange Company. I was everything from President to office boy. The second day after it opened, a gentleman from the Chamber of Commerce came to my office to investigate. He was convinced that my scheme was possible. Ninety per cent. of the people didn't know about the international reply coupons.

"Then a post office inspector came. I asked him if it was legal to buy an international reply coupon abroad and change it to stamps. He said 'yes.' I asked him if it was legal to redeem millions of coupons, and he said 'no' he would have to decide whether they were stolen or where they came from.

"However, I decided that if I redeemed the stamps in the United States, the Federal Government might decide that it came within its jurisdiction, though there was no Federal or State law against it. But the exchange rate was the same in Switzerland and Norway and some other countries, so I decided to redeem them there."

Some one in the audience asked why the postal authorities had been unable to find any evidence of such large dealings in reply coupons. Ponzi replied that a foreign Governments realized a profit on the issue of these postal certificates "and are not going to disclose to other Governments how many coupons they have issued."

"And the International Postal Union is not going to do it," he added.

Asked if foreign Governments had not stopped this, he replied:

"Yes, they are stopping—they have stopped the sale of coupons for public use. But that does not stop my business; my money in Europe is working today, even if it is not here."

In the transactions in coupons, he insisted, nobody suffers a loss.

"I buy today," he said, "a dollar's worth of Italian exchange. At the present rate I get 18 lire. I would get 5 under normal exchange. With the 18 lire I buy sixty international reply coupons. These coupons can be sold for $3 in American money."

He maintained that no Government need lose, because transactions between Governments may be delayed until exchange is normal, and pointing out that there has been delay in the payment of interest on American loans to the Allies.

"I haven't found anybody who will have to make it good," he asserted, "when somebody would like to know who would have to stand the loss."

Ponzi's presence drew such a large attendance at the luncheon that those present had to be fed in relays. The "Wizard" was received with cheers and listened to with the closest attention. Interesting as his address was, it threw no new light on his methods.

One of Ponzi's first acts today was to order his office closed, both as to paying notes and to receiving applications for the new company. Those who came to cash notes were told to come around on Friday, when it was promised the notes would be paid. Ponzi expressed himself as confident that by Friday the report of Edwin L. Pride, the Federal auditor, will have been completed, and insists he will have a dollar to show for every dollar of liabilities that the report discloses. This accomplished, he expects to resume business at once.

Ponzi was fairly deluged today with applications by mail and in person, with offers of hundreds of thousands of dollars to be invested in his company. Something over a thousand letters were received in today's mail containing checks for large amounts. Ponzi, however, directed that all checks and money be returned, to await such time as he opens again for business.

Attacks State Officials.

In a formal statement in comment upon the activities of Banking Commissioner Joseph C. Allen and Attorney General J. Weston Allen, the financier charged positive violation of the law by "those who are expected to administer justice," and expressed his regret that "the affairs of the Commonwealth are in the hands of people who do not appear fit to hold public office."

Some of the note holders visited the Attorney General's office today, fearing they might be prosecuted under the Small Loans law, which prohibits the payment of over 3 per cent. a month on loans of less than $300. They were assured, however, that they were exempt from all prosecution. Copies of all notes submitted were made and the notes were then returned to their owners.

Regarding stories of his past, Ponzi said he welcomed the fullest investigation of his record. He admitted he had been arrested once in this city, the only time he was arrested in his life, but was discharged when his case came up in the Municipal Court. He refused to go into details regarding that arrest. He flatly denied the story of his having been arrested once in Montreal.

The "Wizard" didn't bother to come to his Boston office today. He lounged about his home at Lexington until time to attend the club dinner this afternoon. "I am just sitting tight for the present" he declared.

PONZI'S TALK LEAVES CLUB STILL PUZZLED

Financial Wizard Tells How He Manipulated Postal Coupons, but Withholds Details.

NATIONS CONCEAL SALES

He Declares Neither Governments Nor Postal Union Will Disclose Business.

IS DELUGED WITH MONEY

But Closes His Office and Returns Investors' Cash—Calls State Officials "Unfit."

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Charles Ponzi, who claims to have jumped from comparative poverty to a multi-millionaire's estate in a few months, through dealings in international postal coupons, told members of the Kiwanis Club today some of the steps in the process by which he says he amassed his fortune.

Ponzi, making his first appearance as an after-dinner speaker since he became the most talked of man in the country, was a luncheon guest of the club. He was invited some time ago, before he was compelled to cease payment in his "fifty per cent. in forty-five days" proposition because of the orders issued by the State Bank Commissioner to the Hanover Trust Company yesterday to pay no more of Ponzi's checks.

In opening his remarks Ponzi reiterated his claim that he was solvent and expressed confidence that this would be substantiated by the Federal and State investigations now in progress and that he would be able to resume business in a few days.

He related how he had hired a small office, used his small capital in various business schemes, and then, with an international reply coupon always in front of him on his desk, began to do some thinking. He finally obtained financial assistance, he said, to develop his idea, and spent thousands of dollars in foreign correspondence.

"I found out," he said, "that

Special to The New York Times.

TOLEDO, Aug. 10.—A chunky, blonde-haired youngster, who is 20 years old and looks no more, needn't take off his hat to any golfer living. Leo Diegel, the former caddy and shop assistant at the Detroit Country Club, who this year is handling his first job as a regular golf professional at the Lake Shore Club near Chicago, made such world's leaders as Walter Hagen, Harry Vardon, Ted Ray and Jim Barnes feel nervous today. He has thrown a full man's-size scare into them. This Diegel led the great field of 254 starters in the national open golf championship on the sporty links of the Inverness Club here, with a total of 71 strokes, one under par, in the first of the two eliminations rounds necessary to pare down the field into workable size.

If you're looking for the names of Hagen, Vardon, Ray and Barnes just skip down a dozen or more lines in the list of scores. There's a whole flock of lesser lights and second raters between them and the top, for, if the truth be told, this was a bad day for the favorites, both domestic and imported. Hagen needed 40 to go out and 38 to come home for a total of 78. Jim Barnes went around in 79, and poor, tired Ted Ray used up 80 strokes today. Vardon did a good deal better. He was paired with Bobbie Jones, the 18-year-old Atlanta amateur, and after trailing six strokes behind the stripling at the end of the first nine holes Vardon pulled himself together and wound up his circuit with a 75, the same total taken by Jones.

There's the slightest suspicion along the Maumee River tonight that the great headliners were laying back, satisfied only to play good enough to gain entrance into the circle of sixty-four who will be qualified as a result of the first two day's totals. Among those who tramped many miles today with the galleries the opinion obtained that Vardon was extremely lucky to get his 75. What's more, there is very serious danger that unless Ted Ray, Alex Ross, Alex Smith, Tommie Armour, George McLeah, Isaac Mackie and a few of the others who were over eighty, do a heap better tomorrow, they will find themselves on the outside looking in. On the basis of today's scores, there were sixty-two who totals of 75 or better, and bets are being laid freely that scores of 160 for the two rounds will not qualify.

Course in Fine Shape.

About two dozen entrants withdrew this morning, leaving 254 as the size of the starting field. Last night's rain dampened the course just enough, for it had become hardened during the last few days under an intensely hot Ohio sun. The fairways this morning were just right, springy and true, and by 9 o'clock the putting greens had sufficiently dried out from the rain and dew to make a satisfactory test. Rain started to fall about noon, but it continued less then ten minutes and did no damage whatever. Although the starting time was announced as 7 o'clock a pair of early birds appeared at the first tee at exactly 6:56, and that officially started the actual sendoff of the twenty-fourth national championship. Although players followed at four-minute intervals, congestion at the short holes had caused a delay of a half hour or more and an hour by 4 o'clock with the result that it was just about dark, ten minutes of 9 o'clock New York time, when the last pair putted out on the treacherous home green. There never was such a tournament in the history of American golf.

George Low, the veteran Baltusrol pro, was credited with the worst first drive today. He topped the ball and spun it less than fifty feet, but many tied for unhappy honors on the eighteenth green, where the crowds swarmed all day to watch the fun of topnotchers trying to plant their second shots on the built-up, plateau surface. Alex Smith took seven strokes here against the par of 4. Old Ben Nicholls needed eight, and totaled 91. There was a reason for his refusal to be interviewed as he strode toward the locker room. Steward Malden, who taught Bobbie Jones and Miss Alexa Stirling their games, took a seven, then had to replay since he had unintentionally chipped out from ground under repair. He needed an eight to hole out on his second try.

Diegel's low round was a story of sensational putting. He was out in 35, one under par, as a result of a twenty-footer on the first hole for a birdie three, a fifteen-footer on the difficult sixth for another birdie and a ten-footer on the seventh.

Not Favored By Breaks.

As was the case with Bobbie Jones today, Diegel could more easily have been better than worse. In other words, he was not overlucky, but entirely deserving of what he got. On his inward half he missed short putts on the tenth and fifteenth and actually rimmed the cup on the fourteenth and sixteenth, yet had a 36, which gave him his total of 71.

His card:

Out .....3 4 3 5 5 3 3 4 5—35
In .....4 3 5 3 4 5 4 5 3—36—71

Jones, paired with the Great Vardon, gave his playing mate a terrible trimming for the first nine holes. When he finished with a total of 34 to Vardon's 40, Vardon was in a trap on each of the first three holes and lost four strokes off par thereby. Jones increased this lead by one on the short third when he holed an eighteen footer for a birdie 2. Invariably Young Bobbie outdrove the old master from 25 to 40 yards on each hole.

Jones's first slip was on the fourth, where he pulled his drive far off the course, but a ten-foot tap saved the four for him. On the ninth Jones had his share of luck. His pulled drive hit a spectator's newspaper and caromed on to the course. Coming in, however, Jones lost his lead, and, on the eighteenth his unfortunate golfing temperament asserted itself, for, after missing a putt and taking three after gaining the green, he threw his putter to one side and walked off. Vardon took a birdie 3 on the eighteenth, one of the very few who did this feat today.

Hagen and Ray each took sixes on the par four first hole, and with this bad start seemed always unable to recover these lost strokes. Both were out in 40, but the champion was back in 38 for a round in 78, whereas the English giant came home in another 40 for a total of 80. Ray had three sixes in his round and five fives, one of the latter on the treacherous and justly famous Inverness eighteenth, where his second landed in a trap just short of the green.

YANKS AHEAD WHEN STORM INTERFERES

Lead Indians, 1 to 0, at End of Second, but Rain Floods Park —Playoff on Friday.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10.—With the Yankees leading Cleveland by a score of 1 to 0 at the end of the second inning this afternoon, play was interrupted when a thunderstorm came up suddenly and left the park as dark as the inside of a tar barrel. When the darkness passed it began to rain and after waiting forty-five minutes Umpire Chili called the game off.

More than 25,000 fans were jammed inside the park and it looked very auspicious for the Yanks, because Jack Quinn was in fine shape while the Yanks were showing alarming indications of thumping the Indians' pitching star, Stanley Coveleskie. The Cleveland players acted again today as if they were under a terrific nervous strain and Cleveland fans fear that Speaker's galloping club may be on the verge of a slump. There has been so much talk here about winning the pennant, that the players are thinking more about the world's series than they are about finishing out the season. The race is by no means over.

As both clubs have an open date Friday, the Yankees will stay over and play off today's game. The Yanks had an exhibition game scheduled at Babe Ruth's old home, Baltimore, on Friday but the folks in the Oriole City will have to wait until some other time for a Ruth day.

The incidents which happened during the first two innings were as follows: Ward fanned in the first and Chapman tossed out Peck. Coveleskie deemed it wise to walk Ruth and Pratt forced the slugger at second. Jamieson set the fans yelling when he hit the first ball Quinn pitched for a single. Chapman sacrificed and Jamieson went to third when Pratt killed off Speaker at first. Quinn chucked Smith out at first.

Duffy Lewis opened the second with a single to left and Pipp sacrificed. Lewis went to third on Bodie's single to the same terrace. Bodie went to second when the ball was thrown to the plate. Ruel lifted a sacrifice fly to Speaker and Lewis scored. Gardner singled in the Indians' second and Wambsganss, in trying to sacrifice, popped to Quinn. Johnston rolled a grounder to Pipp, who first started to make a play at second but changed his mind and then found that Quinn had failed to cover first. Ruth got O'Neill's fly near the fence. Black thunderclouds brought on a sudden darkness as Coveleskie fanned.

Babe Ruth tonight received word from Detroit that the diamond studded watch fob, a gift from the New York Knights of Columbus which Babe lost last Sunday, had been found. The message was from an employe of a hotel in Detroit. Ruth immediately sent along a check for $100 as a reward to the finder of the fob.

BENDER STORY IS DENIED.

Both Huston and Huggins Spike Report of Offer for Indian.

Special to The New York Times.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 10.—The report sent out from New Haven that the Yankees were seeking the services of Chief Bender, the veteran pitcher, for the remainder of the season and were prepared to pay a big sum for his release, besides giving Bender a big salary, was emphatically denied here tonight by Colonel T. L. Huston, half owner of the club, and also by Manager Miller Huggins.

"I can't imagine how such a story could start," declared Huggins. "I am not after Bender and at no time this season have I considered the idea of adding him to our pitching staff. Two years ago we had a deal on for Bender when he belonged to the Phillies, but there has been no attempt made this year."

Colonel Huston declared that Huggins had not mentioned to him any plan to get Bender. "There is nothing in the story at all," said Huston.

RUTH SENDS BAT AND BALL.

Babe's Contribution to Police Field Day Celebration Arrives.

One of the bats used by Babe Ruth in the making of his remarkable home-run record, sent from Detroit, Mich., where the Yankees have just closed a series, arrived yesterday afternoon at Police Headquarters and was delivered to Deputy Daly, Fourth Deputy Police Commissioner. It is the Babe's contribution to aid the Police Field Day celebration at Gravesend race track on Saturday, Aug. 21, and Saturday, Aug. 28.

The bat and an autographed baseball now are on exhibition in the show window of Weber & Heilbroner, 1,505 Broadway. With the bat and ball is the following signed statement by the slugger:

"I attest the authenticity of the statement that this is one of the bats I have used in making my home-run record."

This particular bat is 2 feet 11¼ inches long and weighs two pounds and nine ounces. Its diameter at the place where the "King of Swat" hits the ball for a journey over a fence for the circuit is 2⅝ inches. The handle is very narrow and is bone rubbed. At the end is a knob two inches in diameter.

It was Ruth's intention to carry the bat to Police Headquarters and present it to Commissioner Daly but with the time before the first Police Day little more than a week away he thought it better to have it delivered at once.

The autographed baseball and the bat are to be given to the person purchasing the largest number of tickets for the Police Field Day games, Gravesend race track, Aug. 21 and 28.

FANS ARE DISAPPOINTED.

Giants' and Dodgers' Games Off—Double-Headers Due Today.

Rain necessitated the postponement of the Giants-Pittsburgh and Brooklyn-Chicago games yesterday afternoon. Double-headers will be played at the Polo Grounds and Ebbets Field this afternoon, the first games starting at 1:30 o'clock. The Giants were scheduled to tackle the Pirates in two games yesterday afternoon and the Dodgers were to have engaged the Cubs in a single clash. While it might have been possible to start games at both parks the managements guessed correctly, for, after the first showers had blown over and the sun had wedged its way through the cloud banks, it soon rained again.

REDS AND BRAVES DIVIDE TWIN BILL

Boston Takes First Game of Double-Header, 4 to 3, but Loses Second, 13 to 10.

BOSTON, Aug. 10.—Boston and Cincinnati divided a double header today, the home team winning the first game, 4 to 3, in eleven innings, while the visitors took the second, a free for all affair, 13 to 10. Three pitchers were used by each team. Ruether was ejected from the first game for disputing decisions on balls and strikes.

Watson made it five straight victories in winning the first game, which was decided after two were out in the eleventh by successive doubles by Boeckel and Ford.

JOHNSTON BARELY ESCAPES A DEFEAT

Beats Niles in Newport Tennis Only After Being Within Two Points of Disaster.

DAVIS CUP MAN A LOSER

Washburn Takes Two Straight Sets from Garland—Niles and Dabney Surprise Doubles Rivals.

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., Aug. 10.—Three members of America's victorious Davis Cup tennis team, William M. Johnston, Richard Norris Williams, 2d, and Charles S. Garland, returned to action on home courts at the historic Casino today and met with a warm reception in every sense. Champion Johnston escaped defeat at the hands of Nathaniel W. Niles by little more than an eyelash, while Garland was eliminated in his second match of the day by Watson M. Washburn. Williams came through two rounds without difficulty, but faces Johnston tomorrow, which means that, with the absence of William T. Tilden, 2d, assured, there will soon be only one internationalist left in the tournament to fight it out with the stay-at-homes.

Washburn's victory over Garland was scored in straight sets, 6—3, 6—4, while Johnston's close shave with Niles was credited to the winner at 5—7, 8—6, 6—1. The octette in the round before the semi-finals was completed by Willis E. Davis, G. Colket Caner, Roland Roberts, S. Howard Voshell and Clarence J. Griffin.

The doubles offered something of an upset when Niles and A. S. Dabney defeated Washburn and Voshell in straight sets, but otherwise things went normally enough, the winning teams including Williams and Richard Harte, Garland and Craig Biddle, Davis and Roberts and Johnston and Griffin. A reception was held at the Casino late in the afternoon in honor of the Davis Cup heroes, with speeches of welcome by Governor Beeckman and Mayor Mahoney and a brief and modest response by Johnston on behalf of the team.

Johnston's Sea Legs in Evidence.

It became evident very early in the Niles-Johnston match that the national champion had a real battle on his hands, for Niles was hitting the ball hard and accurately, whereas Johnston's sea legs were obviously still with him and he had little confidence in his footing. Throughout the first two sets he seemed to hesitate and try for the corners, generally sending the ball right down the middle of the court, where Niles had no difficulty in handling even the fast drives.

Johnston also made little use of his volleying, having a wholesome respect for his rival's passing ability and finding that few of his own ground strokes carried the punch to force a real opening. It was good lobbing that first pulled the champion out of danger, three nearly perfect tosses coming in close succession at a time when the tide had definitely set against him. Later the errors of Niles contributed to the success of Johnston's great pull-up, and in the rubber the loser had little left to offer in the way of resistance, with the Californian coming more strongly all the time.

There were spots in the second set, however, when the champion seemed doomed to defeat, being once actually only two points away from disaster, with Niles leading at 5—3 on games, and duce points on his own service. The will to win was not quite there at the crucial moment, however, and Johnston hung on until the dangerous stage had passed.

Champion Tries Chopping.

Niles had the better of the opening set all the way, although the games alternated with service until the very last. In nearly every case, however, the Bostonian was winning his games fairly easily, whereas Johnston had difficulty in keeping the count tied, even with the help of his serve. He was chopping many of his shots, instead of driving with his accustomed freedom, and his back hand was both soft and inaccurate. After keeping the odd all the way to 6—5, Niles broke through for the set, 7—5, with one great forehand drive and three errors by Johnston, who scored only one point, with a wallop that Niles could not volley.

Johnston got the first break in the second set, after winning a love game on service, to make the count 2—all. It was a beautiful lob that did the trick, beating Niles completely and putting him in the hole, 30—40. Umpire Mansfield overlooked a let on the next service, but the point was properly replayed, and, when Niles drove out, it was Johnston's game 3—2. He immediately lost this advantage on errors, and with the score tied again Niles made his third opportunity. Niles came breaks of fortune going his way. He took a deuce game on service with the help of a net-corder, and, although Johnston had a 40—15 lead on his own delivery, his rival caught up and twice went ahead to the vantage point. On his third opportunity, Niles came through with the shot that seemed to give him the match, concluding a long rally with the wonderful recovery of a volley to the corner, Johnston netting the easy bounder close up for the game that made it 5—3 against him.

An Uphill Struggle.

The champion fought his challenger to a 15—40 score in the crucial game, but lost the next two points on errors, and victory for Niles was only two strokes ahead. A sparrow, one of the half-farthing variety, flew across the court at this moment, and slightly disconcerted the server, who lost the vantage point. Johnston gave it back by hitting a simple overhead shot beyond the base-line. But when another chance came, he was equal to it. A deep lob was barely reached by Niles overhead and this time Johnston put away the weak return with finality, making it 4—5, with his own service to bring the games to deuce. It looked like a love game after three rallies, but Niles won two points before driving one out by inches for the 5—all deadlock.

The Bostonian made a last effort, and won his own service with something to spare. But Johnston tallied just as easily, and then proceeded to gain his decisive advantage. He led Niles at 0—40 on the latter's service, but almost spoiled his chance with two more errors. A net-corder came to his rescue, and the games were 7—6. It required only six points more for Johnston to square the match at 6—6.

The rubber opened with a tremendous rally, which the champion finally won, and after this heartbreaker he rushed ahead for a love game against his rival's delivery, breaking through again on the third game and winning twice on his own service for a 5—0 lead. Niles rallied sufficiently to capture one game, but lost the next and the score stood 5—1 against him. He still had his own service to work with, but could score only 2 points, eventually driving out twice in succession for the game, set and match, 6—1. There was an audible sigh of relief from the gallery when it was all over.

Following was the score by points:

Garland Makes Many Errors.

The Garland-Washburn encounter took place on a court behind the clubhouse and was observed by comparatively few spectators, although it had been generally admitted that the internationalist would be fortunate to win under the handicap of the sea voyage which had just ended. These two players would be well matched even with both in top form, and, under existing conditions, Washburn was by no means pressed to his limit. Garland made far more errors than is his custom, and hesitated to use his normal speed as the ball was obviously not under his complete control. Washburn, on the other hand, played the same well-rounded tennis that recently won him all the honors at Seabright and was practically always in command of the situation.

They divided service up to 3—2, with Washburn's turn coming first. Then came the break, which practically decided the set, Garland trailing at 4—2 and then 5—2, picking up his own delivery for one more game, but resigning the session at 6—3 on Washburn's service.

Garland started with successful serving in the second, and again the games alternated to 2—all. Here Washburn got his second break, but Garland at once retaliated and was still very much in the game at 3—all. They divided another pair of games before Washburn again secured a break for the decisive lead of 5—4, completing the set and match on his own delivery, 6—4.

Two Victories for Williams.

Williams seemed to recover from his ocean hangover more quickly than either of his companions and was hitting them with much of his old daring against both J. W. Foster and T. R. Pell. He went through the first set at 6—1 against the former, but had to work harder for the second, Foster driving him into frequent errors by his steady returns. A beautiful drive that just missed the side line cost Williams a service game near the close of the match, but with the games at 4-all he put on speed and broke through without difficulty, taking four straight points on his own delivery for a whirlwind finish at 6—4.

Voshell found Alfred Dabney a troublesome customer, and dropped the second set to the New Englander at 6—4. But his aggressive volleying carried him safely through the rubber, in which he duplicated his 6—3 victory of the opener.

G. Colket Caner won a rather surprising victory over Charles M. Bull, Jr., taking two sets from the New Yorker at 6—1 each, but losing a deuce session in the middle. Roberts was a decisive winner over C. J. Curley, who had unexpectedly eliminated Lyle E. Mahan in a postponed first-round match.

Both the Williams-Harte and the Johnston-Griffin combinations, which are looked upon as probable finalists in the doubles, came through their matches without difficulty today, but Garland and Biddle had a terrific three-set struggle on their hands before disposing of the Providence team, Curley and C. K. Shaw. Davis and Roberts were carried to 10—8 in their second set against the youthful pair, Godshall and Hinckley, while Bull and Pell lost the opener to Parker and Kelleher, but won out later in two 6—1 sessions. Wallace Johnson and Stanley Pearson and Fred C. Baggs and Dr. William Rosenbaum, the former metropolitan champion, completed the eight teams left in the draw.

The summaries:

Singles—First Round—G. Colket Caner won from Major E. B. Harran by default; R. Norris Williams, 2d, defeated J. W. Foster, 6—1, 6—4; William M. Johnston defeated C. K. Shaw, 6—1, 8—6; Clyde J. Curley defeated L. E. Mahan, 8—6, 6—4; Alfred S. Dabney won from William T. Tilden, 2d, by default; Charles S. Garland defeated J. Brooks Fenno, Jr., 6—3, 6—4.

Second Round—Willis E. Davis defeated Hugh Kelleher, 6—3, 6—2; Caner defeated Charles M. Bull, Jr., 6—1, 5—7, 6—1; Williams defeated T. R. Pell, 6—3, 6—2; Johnston defeated Nathaniel W. Niles, 5—7, 8—6, 6—1; Roland Roberts defeated Curley, 6—0, 6—4; S. Howard Voshell defeated Dabney, 6—3, 4—6, 6—3; Watson M. Washburn defeated Garland, 6—3, 6—4; Clarence J. Griffin defeated Harold Godshall, 6—3, 3—6, 6—0.

Doubles—First Round—Washburn and Voshell won from Caner and partner by default; J. D. E. Jones and Arnold W. Jones defeated Major Harran and E. W. Leonard, 6—4, 6—3; Pell and Bull defeated Mahan and Commander Gill, 6—3, 6—3.

Second Round—Richard Harte and Williams defeated F. C. Inman and Mahan, 6—1, 6—3; Craig Biddle and Garland defeated Curley and Shaw, 6—7, 6—4, 7—5; Niles and Dabney defeated Washburn and Voshell, 6—3, 6—3; Wallace Johnson and S. N. Pearson defeated Jones and Jones, 6—2, 6—3; Pell and Bull defeated Kelleher and H. S. Barker, 5—7, 6—3, 6—1; Johnston and Griffin defeated J. Wheelwright and J. W. Foster, 6—1, 6—2; Dr. William Rosenbaum and F. C. Baggs defeated C. S. Cutting and Sigmund Spaeth, 6—2, 6—2.

MISS TENNANT A WINNER.

Defeats Miss Sigourney in Rhode Island Tennis Tourney.

Special to The New York Times.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Aug. 10.—The first round and all but one in the second in the Rhode Island open tennis tournament for women on the grass courts at Agawan Hunt were played today, defaults figuring heavily.

By the luck of the draw two of the brightest stars of the tournament were brought together when Miss Eleanor Tennant of Los Angeles, rated among the first five women players in the country, and Miss Edith Sigourney of Boston, also rated highly, faced each other on No. 2 court. Miss Tennant won both sets, the first 7—5 and the second 6—0.

Miss Baker, Pacific Coast champion, and Miss Godfrey of Boston furnished another interesting match, the Western woman winning.

The summaries:

First Round—Mrs. M. D. Straffin, New York, won from Miss Rene Christy, New York, by default. Miss Leslie Bancroft, Boston, won from Miss George S. Stubbs, Providence, by default. Mrs. W. C. Huntoon, Providence, won from Mrs. Nat Bain, New York, by default. Miss Lillian M. Coffin, Providence, defeated Miss Elizabeth Foster, Providence, 6—1, 6—0. Miss Rosa Newton, Boston, defeated Mrs. Rush Sturges, Providence, 6—4, 6—2.

Second Round—Miss Alice O'Brien, Providence, defeated Miss Dorothy Von Slyck, Providence, 5—7, 7—5, 6—2; Miss Helen Baker, Los Angeles, defeated Mrs. P. H. Godfrey, Boston, 6—1, 6—0; Miss Margaret Donovan Providence, won from Mrs. Straffin, New York, by default; Miss Banerott defeated Mrs. Huntoon, 6—2, 6—0; Mrs. Percy Wilbourn, New York, won from Mrs. Theodore Soheh, New York, by default; Miss Florence Ballin, New York, defeated Mrs. N. Darrell Harvey, Providence, 6—1, 6—0; Miss Eleanor Tennant, Los Angeles, defeated Miss Edith Sigourney, Boston, 7—5, 6—0.

Rain Halts Boys' Tennis.

In a final-round match to decide the representative of the local Boys' Tennis Centre in the national boys' tournament to be held at the West Side Tennis Club, Forest Hills, beginning Sept. 1, William Einsmann and Grey Acker fought a drawn battle at the West Side Club yesterday. They had won a set apiece and the games stood at 3—all in the third set, when the rain made further play impossible. The boys

Grand Circuit Races Off.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 10.—For the second time in two days, the Grand Circuit races at North Randall were postponed on account of rain today, and it was doubtful tonight whether the track would be in condition to race the six events scheduled for tomorrow.

Tilden to Remain Out at Southampton Tennis, Too

Not only has William T. Tilden, 2d, world's champion lawn tennis player, decided to remain out of this week's fixture at Newport, but he will also stay out of the tournament at Southampton the week before the national tournament at Forest Hills. Tilden, who is now at his home in Philadelphia, explains his plan of campaign for the national honors as follows: "I like Newport and I like to play there, but I have been through many weeks of very hard tennis. I want to be in shape to make a good showing with Garland in the national doubles at Longwood, so I feel that should have a week's rest and I am going to take it. Next week I'll be at Longwood, and the following week, while the Southampton tournament is in progress, I will be in Philadelphia. I want to do my 'tuning up' for the national singles at home. I am very much interested in the progress of tennis in Philadelphia, particularly in the public courts at Fairmount Park. Three days before the nationals I will get back on the grass, finishing up my training on the Germantown Cricket Club courts."

BONIFACE DEFEATS NATURALIST IN MUD

"Iron Horse" of Ross Stable Wins Delaware Handicap Handily at Saratoga.

Special to The New York Times.

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., Aug. 10.—Commander J. K. L. Ross's Boniface, which has been justly called the iron horse of the season because of the great distances he has traveled and the numerous starts he has made, appeared to be just as good today as when he opened his campaign in Maryland in the early Spring. Running to his very best form, he took the measure of J. E. Widener's Naturalist in the Delaware Handicap at a mile, proving to be the better mud runner of the two. He won handily by a length and a half, while A. Ho Macomber's Royce Rools, the only other starter in what promised to be a large field, was a bad last.

The track conditions favored Boniface as did the weights, and he reveled in the muddy going. The track was a sea of mud throughout the day, as the result of a heavy rain in the early morning, followed by another downpour just before the start of the first race. At one time the course was so deep in water that it appeared more like a river than a race track. As a result, there was wholesale scratching, and the fields were reduced until less than half the horses originally named went to the post. Form suffered with the changed condition of the track, and the favorites fared badly.

The muddy track was supposed to be just as much of a boon to Naturalist as it was to Boniface after the race had finally become a contest between these two with the withdrawal of Dr. Clark, Mad Hatter, Bushy Signal and others which might have been contenders on a fast track. It is more probable, however, that the difference in the weights, with Naturalist carrying two pounds more than when he last defeated Boniface, had more to do with the victory of the Ross horse than had the condition of the track.

Naturalist Heavily Backed.

Naturalist was heavily backed and was an odds-on favorite right up to post time, when his price went up to even money as the result of a flood of support for the Ross racer.

Naturalist went to the front at the start, but Boniface was right after him and in spite of the efforts of Turner on the Widener gelding to open up a gap in the running through the back stretch, Boniface remained close to the pace. When Naturalist could not shake off his rival it became certain that Boniface would win in the stretch run, as he always finishes with a rush. At the far turn Naturalist drew away to a lead of a length and a half, but Sande moved right up with Boniface and at the turn into the stretch was almost lapped on the leader.

Once straightened out, Boniface came abreast of Naturalist and, though the latter ran gamely, the Ross horse raced him down in the final sixteenth and had a length and a half to spare at the end. Royce Rools was never a contender. Every time he starts there are some who back him in the hope that he will run back to one of his best races, but so far this season he has shown no signs of the form which enabled him to beat some of the best horses in the handicap division last year.

Oriole Takes Sprint.

Jefferson Livingston's Oriole, which had proved his ability as a mud runner at Empire City, was again at home in the going and won the final race of the day, a five and a half furlong dash for two-year-olds, from a field of good youngsters. Among them was Commander Ross's Hildur, which ran second to Leonardo 2d a few days ago and which is considered a high-class colt. Hildur did not appear to like the mud, and, after getting up to the front for a few strides, began to drop back and was fourth in the field of eight. Sedgefield was second and Last Rose, a long shot, third.

Oriole raced into the lead at once, but Sande got up with Hildur and attempted to race the Livingston horse down. Oriole was too much at home in the mud to be thus treated and he soon disposed of his rival, drew away into a long lead and won by a length and a half though he had to be hustled along in the stretch when Sedgefield began to charge on him.

Mrs. F. Ambrose Clark provided the winner of the steeplechase with Minata, which won easily from Midas Second and Syrdarya, among the five starters. Minata followed the pace closely for a turn and a half of the field and when Surf, which had been leading, fell she went to the front and easily disposed of all opposition. Midas Second is a clumsy jumper at best and could do little over the wet course.

AMERICAN CYCLISTS UNABLE TO PLACE

Belgian Rider Wins 50-Kilometer Race at Antwerp, with England Second.

ANTWERP, Aug. 10. (Associated Press).—American bicyclists did not win places in any of today's Olympic Velodrome events. Georges of Belgium won the 50-kilometer race in 1 hour 16 minutes 43 seconds. Alden of England was second and Kelaar of Holland was third. Much enthusiasm was shown by all the Belgian competitors over the victory of Georges. They carried him from the Velodrome on their shoulders.

The Velodrome resembled a wartime field hospital at the close of the events today. Although no one was seriously injured, there were a number of nasty spills. The fifty-kilometer race entailed 125 laps on the steep track. There was much rough riding in this race, as well as the others.

A. White, an Englishman, was struck over the heart by the fist of another competitor during the pursuit race. He was laid out for two hours, and when he gained consciousness had to be carried home.

WORK OUT IN STADIUM.

American Athletes Train on Olympic Track at Antwerp.

ANTWERP, Aug. 10 (Associated Press).—Trials were held in the Stadium today in order to give the coaches of the American Olympic team an idea of the condition of the American distance runners, the hurdlers and the half milers. The officials, however, have refused to divulge the results of the trials or to name the actual starters. They say that the trials were necessitated in order to get a line on certain of the men after the long boat trip from New York to Antwerp.

Coach Moakley said today that some few of the men had been affected adversely by the voyage, but that others of the team would improve over the form shown in the Boston tryouts. As an example he pointed to C. W. Paddock of the Los Angeles A. C., the sprinter, who, he said, was going faster than ever, and improving in starting under the coaching of the best experts in the United States.

In the 400-metre hurdle trials today each runner ran alone. There were rain squalls at times and the track was slow, but the unofficial timing showed that the men did fast work. Floyd Smart, Chicago A. A., was credited with doing the distance in 54 seconds—the world's record is 55 seconds—and Frank Loomis, Smart's clubmate, and J. R. Norton of the Olympic Club, San Francisco, in 54 1-5 seconds; J. M. Watt, Ithaca; Charles D. Daggs, Los Angeles, and W. H. Meanix, Boston, were timed in 55 seconds flat, and A. G. Desch, Notre Dame University, in 55 2-5.

Three half milers tried the 800 meters together. Thomas Campbell, Yale, was timed in 1 minute 58 seconds, and A. B. Sprott, Los Angeles, 1-3 of a second slower, while Allen B. Hellfrich, New York A. C., was timed in 1 minute 38 3-5 seconds.

The trials were watched by the Australian, English and Japanese athletes.

POINT JUDITH FOUR WINS.

Rolls Up Score of 21 to 8 Against Red Birds in Polo Cup Series.

Special to The New York Times.

NARRAGANSETT PIER, R. I., Aug. 10.—The Point Judith team defeated the Point Judith Red Birds here today in the circuit cup series, 21 to 8. Earl W. Hopping, an eight-goal man and a possible candidate for the American team for the international games next year, played at No. 2 for the Red Birds, but failed to show any particular superiority over the much lower rated men. He not only overrode the ball, but topped it repeatedly, especially when it was up to him to make his shots count.

The Point Judith four, on the other hand, worked like a well-oiled machine, the forwards riding off their opponents and enabling Roddy Wanamaker and Philip Randolph to carry the ball up the field time and time again. Their team work was always apparent. Their strokes carried direction and distance, while the Red Birds' misses always proved costly.

The summary:

POINT JUDITH.	H'cap.	RED BIRDS.	H'cap.
No. 1—J. W. Converse	8	No. 1—W. L. Goodwin	2
No. 2—A. M. Collins	4

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks Mark Time as Polish Situation Is Studied—Wheat Rises Sharply.

Stocks were inclined to rest yesterday as the speculative community awaited additional information from London and the fighting front about the Polish-Russian outlook. The statement by the British Premier in Parliament that he hoped for peace and the indications coming from both London and Paris that military intervention was not being considered at the moment helped to steady the quotations of shares which were under particular pressure toward the end of last week. It looked, as on Monday, as though a fair amount of short covering was being put through. Investment purchases were reported to be light. Railroad stocks were on the whole firmer than industrials, for in the latter department a firm tone in one quarter was offset by heaviness elsewhere. Sugar and tobacco stocks were under pressure at times, without stirring up much activity. The money market was unchanged from the condition prevailing ever since prices of stocks began to break last week. Time funds continued in decidedly small supply, and call loans, after renewals had been made at 7 per cent., eased off to a 6 per cent. rate.

A casual survey of the price list seemed to show that stocks had been driven down to a level where the ordinary play of short selling and covering orders worked to bring about a partial equilibrium. Since business began on Monday morning the Polish situation has been the primary influence behind trading. Consideration of events in industry and transportation have gradually been submerged in tenseness over the military and political issues in Europe. Sentiment appeared to find some easement yesterday in Lloyd George's observations, but there was no evidence that holders of short contracts were ready to anticipate a decided betterment of affairs in Poland. At the same time a moderate reduction of short lines in several of the industrial stocks which had been weakest lately reflected a trading position which might easily result in a rally if something occurred to counteract the Bolshevist menace in Western Europe.

The excellent features of the July crop report were entirely ignored as a stock market influence. Perhaps the rather unexpected deterioration of Spring wheat during the month offset the promise of more than 3,000,000,000 bushels of corn and large yields of oats and other grains. The fall of approximately 29,000,000 bushels in Spring wheat estimate ought fairly to be balanced against the estimate of nearly 50,000,000 bushels more of Winter wheat than the Government survey indicated in April, and comfort is to be found in the belief that the aggregate wheat yield will not be far from 800,000,000 bushels. The wheat futures market responded to the statistical showing in the Government's statement, advancing more than 5 cents a bushel, with a range in excess of 8 cents.

Bonds were steady and not at all active. From what is known of the French Government's program in connection with the Anglo-French loan maturity, the investment market will be called upon to absorb about $125,000,000 in a refunding loan. The interest rate, of course, will represent the change which has occurred in the cost of credit since the original loan was issued, but France is hoping to profit from an improvement in exchange values between the issue date and the time of maturity of the refunding loan. Sterling exchange gained a little ground under quiet dealings. The other exchanges were steady.

GARMENT CO. ISSUES NOTES

$5,000,000 Securities of National Cloak and Suit Co. Offered.

The National Cloak and Suit Company has sold to Goldman, Sachs & Co. and Lehman Brothers an issue of $5,000,000 ten-year 8 per cent. convertible sinking fund notes. The bankers are offering them at 100 and interest. The proceeds of the sale will be used by the garment company to reduce current liabilities and increase working capital.

The conversion privilege into stock at par extends to March 1, 1930, and notes called for redemption retain the conversion privilege until the conversion date. The company has no other funded debt. Net sales of merchandise increased from $15,164,727 in 1914 to $39,449,985 in 1919.

BANKERS WELCOME WILLIAMS INQUIRY

Say Investigation of "Excessive Interest Rates" Will Surprise Those Making Charges.

DEFEND HIGH PERCENTAGES

Point to the Rates Established by Reserve Board and to the World's Money Markets.

The general impression in financial circles is that the investigation which Controller of the Currency Williams is conducting regarding alleged "excessive interest rates" which local banks are supposed to have been exacting from their clients, will disclose a condition of affairs surprising to those who have been making the charges against the banks. Bankers say the amounts of so-called excess interest will be very small, compared with total interest earned on loans by New York banks. For this reason they welcome the investigation and express the hope that the Controller will make public his findings.

It is admitted that a great many loans have been arranged at rates higher than 6 per cent. Legally, there is no restriction on charging more than 6 per cent. to corporate borrowers under the New York State law. On demand collateral loans, of course, the law permits any rate which lender and borrower may agree upon, and on time loans to corporations the same conditions apply. In the matter of bank loans to individuals and copartnerships, a rate in excess of 6 per cent. may be charged, but the borrower in cases of this kind may sue to recover the excess, provided the action is brought within two years of the time the loan is negotiated. As a matter of policy, however, it is not believed that very many borrowers would sue a bank which had accommodated them in times of tight money, unless there was some condition very much out of the ordinary attached to the transaction.

Although there are legal ways by which more than 6 per cent. may be charged for time loans to many borrowers, bankers say little money was loaned at more than 6 per cent. until the Federal Reserve Bank advanced its rediscount rate on commercial paper to 7 per cent. on June 1. Since then the general average of loans has advanced somewhat, but not enough to show any great sum realized by the banks in "excess interest," as the Controller calls it.

Even if the banks were to show any great amount accrued to them in this excess interest, many bankers believe they would have a very good argument to present in extenuation. They point to the action and the several utterances of the Reserve Board in establishing high interest rates and in defending them, and they feel that their position is warranted by the conditions of money markets in all parts of the world.

As far as the present investigation is concerned, bankers here believe the attack on the New York banks is more or less incidental. They are convinced that all is not harmonious in financial circles in Washington; that there are two groups who oppose each other. One of these groups, it is believed, favors higher interest rates as a means for curbing expansion and bringing about deflation with the object of reducing the cost of living by making money more expensive, while the other, headed by Controller Williams and Senator Robert L. Owen, believes that the way to bring prices down is to make money and capital cheap and encourage greater production.

At the conference of Reserve Board members and Class A Directors of the twelve Federal Reserve banks, held just before the New York Reserve Bank increased its commercial paper rediscount rate to 7 per cent., there were some very decided differences of opinion as to what should be done. One New York banker came out for higher rates as the only means for curbing further expansion, and met with serious opposition, but the ideas he championed prevailed and Reserve Bank rates were advanced. Since that time the opponents of high rates have not been idle. Senator Owen subsequently demanded of the Reserve Board reasons why the New York call money market should quote rates of 8, 10 and 12 per cent., and in a lengthy reply, signed by Governor Harding, he was told. Now Controller Williams has adopted a new line of attack, but the bankers here are not at all uneasy over the outlook and fully expect to justify their position.

STEEL ORDERS INCREASE.

Corporation's 11,118,468-Ton Bookings Largest Since June, 1917.

The Steel Corporation reports unfilled orders on July 31 amounting to 11,118,468 tons, an increase of 139,651 tons during the month. While the increase was not as large as expected in some quarters, the bookings at the end of July were the largest since June, 1917. This tonnage would supply the corporation's mills with capacity operations for about eight months. Since May, 1918, the advance orders have increased about two and one-half times.

As the corporation does not report orders off its books until deliveries have been made, it is assumed that difficult railroad transportation was reflected in the statement through handicaps on shipments. It is understood, also, that uncertain deliveries have caused many potential buyers to hold back their orders.

BIG MOTOR MERGER NEARS COMPLETION

Committee Named to Work Out Final Details of Maxwell-Chalmers Deal.

$3,000,000 TO BE RAISED

Conferences Said to Have Arranged for Additional Financing for Former Company.

Many of the uncertainties surrounding the outcome of the much discussed merger of the Maxwell Motors Company and the Chalmers Company were set at rest yesterday when it became known in the financial district that a management committee composed of large banking and automobile interests had been formed to work out the final details. Conferences have been frequent both in New York and Detroit covering the question of additional Maxwell financing and it was estimated in authoritative quarters yesterday that funds to the amount of approximately $3,000,000 will probably be raised.

The personnel of the Management Committee representing all of the interests concerned in the merger consists of the following: Walter B. Chrysler, former Vice President of the General Motors Corporation, Chairman; J. R. Harbeck, Vice President of the American Can Company; George W. Davison, President of the Central Union Trust Company; B. F. Everitt of Detroit; E. R. Tinker of the Chase National Bank; Ralph Van Vechten of the Continental and Commercial National Bank of Chicago; James C. Brady, Leo Butzell of the First Old Detroit National Bank; Hugh Chalmers and other Detroit interests.

In authoritative quarters it was said yesterday that failure to ratify promptly the merger plans for the two companies involved had postponed the financial plans of the Maxwell company. It is expected also that with the new committee functioning soon normal operating conditions will be resumed.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET

Waiting.

As opposed to the rather feverish activity of some recent days, and the pronounced weakness of almost all recent days, yesterday's stock market was a quiet and orderly affair. Business fell off sharply, but prices didn't, and for the latter there were many who were thankful. At the close of the session prices were mixed; some were down a little and some were up slightly from Monday's close, but there were no especially significant changes. The volume of trade, which ran above a million shares on Monday, was less than half that yesterday. The European political situation, which has been the dominating influence for some time past, was more negative than positive, and with almost anything likely to happen over night, or within a very few days at the longest, the market naturally adopted a waiting attitude, but one of the keenest attention.

Higher Money.

While call money kept within its recent range of 7 to 6 per cent. there were further evidences of hardening in the general money market. A few hundred thousand dollars was put out on time—new money which had not been available before—and the rate arranged for the new loans was 9½ per cent., which is a new high for actual loans, so far as could be ascertained. Reports that some potential borrowers were bidding 10 per cent. for ninety-day money secured by Stock Exchange collateral, were not taken very seriously, but the head of a big Stock Exchange firm made the statement that his house would be willing to borrow $1,000,000 on four to six months and would be agreeable to closing the loan without inquiring in advance what the rate was to be. This, of course, was an exaggeration, but it shows clearly enough the attitude of most Stock Exchange people with regard to time loans. They want the money so badly, and are experiencing so much difficulty in procuring it, that rates have become decidedly secondary.

Changed Loan Conditions.

Regarding the paucity of time money on Stock Exchange collateral, a banker asks the question, "Will there ever again be much of this sort of bank money available?" and proceeds to answer the question negatively. His theory is that banks will not be inclined to lend in this manner because of the lack of liquidity in such loans. They can lend on collateral on demand and get the money back the next day if it is desirable, or they can put up ninety-day paper—commercial paper or bankers' acceptances—and if they should happen to need the funds before the due date of the paper they can rediscount with the Reserve Bank. But when they advance on Stock Exchange collateral for a fixed period the money is locked up hard and fast for a definite time, and unless they are fortunate enough to be able to transfer the loan to some other institution, which would be a rare case indeed, they would be able to do nothing but wait for the maturity. Thus, this banker believes, there will never again be much time collateral money available.

German Notes.

The German Bank statements as of Aug. 9 shows another huge increase in outstanding circulating notes, amounting for the week to 1,785,400,000 marks, which is sufficient to bring the full total to more than 55,768,000,000 marks. During the month of July, thanks to a big contraction in circulation in midmonth, the net increase was only 7,814,000 marks, which was by far the smallest monthly increase shown in several years. Incidentally, the statement this week of the Bank of France is likely to show a considerable increase in note circulation, for the Bank of France has just been granted permission to increase its circulation volume from 40,000,000,000 francs to 43,000,000,000 francs, while, at the same time the institution has been given authority to increase its advances to the Government from 27,000,000,000 francs to 30,000,000,000 francs. Part of this increase will be used to finance the French advances to Germany and part for the ordinary expenses of the French Government.

Gold Imports.

The announcement of gold shipments from Europe to the United States will hereafter be watched with greater interest than ever, now that it is known the French Government contemplates the export of a considerable amount—possibly as much as $50,000,000—as part payment of the Anglo-French loan. All of the shipments of the last few months have been relatively small, like that of $1,555,000 now in transit on the American liner New York, and almost without exception have consisted of Transvaal gold purchased in the London open market. But if France really is to ship $50,000,000, or anything like that amount, the shipments undoubtedly will be large, and now that the shipments are expected, they will be awaited with a great deal of interest.

Midwest Refining Rumor Again.

Mental speculators continue to be actively engaged in shifting about large blocks of Midwest Refining Company shares. The rumor current a fortnight ago that the Standard Oil Company of Indiana was about to seek control through an exchange of stock was toned down yesterday into a story that large Midwest stockowners had swapped 100,000 shares for 25,000 shares of Standard of Indiana stock. In this connection mention of the probability that "the Imperial Oil interest" in the Midwest Refining Company remained intact brought the statement from C. O. Stillman, President of the Imperial Oil Company, Limited, that the latter corporation did not, and never had, owned a share of Midwest stock.

Quiet Copper Market.

The copper market has as yet disclosed no indications of breaking away from the dullness of April, May and June. That is not to say that business is flat, but buying for home and foreign consumption has been of the quiet order, bereft of the sudden bulges of demand which used to bring about sharp price movements. The larger selling agencies continue to quote 19 cents a pound for early deliveries, but moderately sized lots are reported going under this figure. The July production of the porphyry companies was about the same as in June, with the exception of a decline from 10,000,000 to 8,500,000 pounds shown in the preliminary figures of the Utah Copper Company, and June was close to the same basis as May.

May Tonnage Improved.

Railroad men are drawing a good deal of satisfaction from the Interstate Commerce Commission reports on railroad tonnage during the month of May, which show decided improvement over corresponding weeks a year ago. In conservative quarters the improvement was generally attributed to the efforts of the railroad managers to increase transportation efficiency through a more thorough and more efficient use of freight cars. This movement, was started by them individually as far back as the first of this year when March 1 had been designated as the date upon which the properties would be returned to private control. It is not considered as reflecting improvement caused by the intensive campaign which was inaugurated July 1 when the managers pledged themselves to move each freight car on their lines an average of 30 miles a day.

A Trade in Stutz.

One share of Stutz Motor Car Company stock was sold on the Curb yesterday at 220, a drop of 30 points since the preceding sale and a drop of 504 points from the high, which was 724. This was touched when the Stutz corner was on and Allan A. Ryan and the New York Stock Exchange were at odds over the corner in the shares. Before the stock was thrown off the list on the big board trades were many and a feature of the day-to-day trading. The transaction yesterday involving the transfer of one share of the stock offered an interesting comparison.

More for Your Money

The only way you can get more for your money than you could a few years ago is to purchase good securities. Some of the best railroad, government and corporation bonds yield from 7% up. There are obvious opportunities which should be taken advantage of by those who have large or small funds immediately available.

WILLIAMS STRIKES AT HIGH INTEREST

Controller Says He Seeks to Restrain Exorbitant Rates by New York Banks.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—John Skelton Williams, Controller of the Currency, announced today that in his request for figures from New York banks he was seeking information on the subject of exorbitant interest charges by some of these institutions. At the same time, he said, he hoped the statement that banks indulging in this practice were few in number would turn out to be true.

Computations by Mr. Williams show that interest above 1 percent. on $1,000,000,000 of call loans would result in huge profits, 1 per cent. additional meaning $30,000 daily in profits, and an advance of 6 per cent. to 12 per cent. in the call rate amounting to profits of $180,000 a day.

A 20 per cent. rate would bring $600,000 net profit to the lending banks each day, he said.

In a statement this afternoon Mr. Williams said:

"As there seems to be some confusion in the public mind as to the amount of demand or call loans in New York City banks which have been and are subject, more or less, to the excessive and oppressive interest rates which have been exacted from time to time during the last six or eight months, the following figures may be instructive to the public:

"The total amount of call or demand loans made by all national banks in New York City as of the date of the last call, June 30, 1920, was approximately $500,000,000.

"It is assumed that the amount of money which New York City State banks and trust companies were lending on call loans, plus demand loans placed by New York City banks for outside correspondents, amounted on the same date to more than $500,000,000, making a total of such demand loans of over $1,000,000,000.

"The total amount of time loans in all national banks in New York City June 30, 1920, exclusive of 'acceptances,' was reported at $2,205,000,000, of which $430,000,000 was secured by stocks and bonds. The aggregate of the loans (both demand and time) which the New York City national banks had placed for their correspondent banks was reported to this office as of Feb. 1, 1920, at more than $635,000,000.

"Interest at 1 per cent. on $1,000,000,000 of call loans would amount to $10,000,000 per annum, or about $30,000 per day. Therefore, whenever banks in New York City raise the rate on all call loans under their control 1 per cent. it adds to the net profit of the lending banks about $30,000 per day, or more.

"An advance of 6 per cent. in the call rate from 6 per cent. to 12 per cent., would, therefore, amount to an additional profit to the banks of $180,000 per day; and if the interest rate on all call loans should be made 16 per cent. instead of 6 per cent., the increase in interest charges for each day would be $300,000; while a 20 per cent. call money rate would mean a net profit per day of $600,000, which means enormous earnings to the lending banks but a burdensome, if not a ruinous, exaction upon borrowers.

"I do not know yet how many of these cases there are, nor what proportion of the bankers they represent. I hope they are few by comparison with the great number of really far-seeing and conservative bankers who realize the sound wisdom of 'live and let live' and consistently abstain from snatching all the possibilities of temporary gain that may appear. It is my function and duty to use what power is given me to restrain, as far as I may within the law, the exaction of improper profits which endanger general business and which, if unrestrained, would threaten our financial structure.

"It is a case of 'let the galled jade wince.' Bankers who have refrained—and I know many who have—from extorting exhorbitant rates of interest have no cause for complaint against what I have said. To the contrary, they have every reason, both on business and ethical principles, to approve. Able and thinking business men know that exorbitant interest rates mean destruction in the end, to the detriment of all, and that stability and permanent prosperity can be assured only by fair and reasonable methods of the financial powers.

"I am trying to get the facts and truth and put the reproach for practices, which all admit to be unjust and especially improper in the midst of the process of restoration and readjustment, where it belongs. I submit that nobody should or properly can object to this.

"I will emphasize, in conclusion, what I stated a few days ago, that I am convinced that the unjustifiable and excessive interest rates maintained in New York City in the last ten months covered by my request for data, and which I am informed have in some cases gone as high as 15 and 20 per cent. or more, have been one of the potential causes rather than the result of the unsettling of values in our securities market, and of the burdensome rates which our railroad and industrial corporations and other concerns and individuals of the highest credit have been required to pay for new capital essentially needed for the country's development and well-being."

CAR EFFICIENCY INCREASES RAPIDLY

Surprising Advances Are Disclosed by Interstate Commerce Commission Report.

NEW HAVEN IS EXCEPTION

Average Movement Drops to 9.2 Miles, as Compared with 15.3 Last Year.

Concrete proof that car efficiency increased surprisingly in the third month after the railroads were returned to private control was disclosed yesterday in the figures compiled by the Interstate Commerce Commission for May, based on the reports of individual railroads. These disclosed some surprising advances, as it was not until July 1 that the member roads in the Association of Railway Executives announced their comprehensive car efficiency plans and set for themselves an average movement per car per day of thirty miles. The I. C. C. figures which were received show that many of the roads have moved their freight cars an average much higher than the goal set, and great satisfaction has been expressed by railroad men with the showing made.

In the case of the Chesapeake & Ohio the average movement per car per day in May, 1920, was 35.2 miles, which compared with 27.1 miles in May of the year before. Norfolk & Western, another coal carrier, reported an increase in the average car movement to 35.6 miles from 27 miles in the corresponding 1919 period. The average load per car per day on the former was 989 tons in May, as compared with 667 tons in May, 1919, while the latter reported an increase to 948 tons per car, as compared with 662 tons per car in May, 1919. To be fair in considering these increases, railroad men stated yesterday that these coal roads might not be a fair example, because of the fact that the emergency measures adopted by the Interstate Commerce Commission to untangle the freight congestion of the country might be reflected.

But that the improvement was not confined to the coal roads was shown in figures for two of the big grain carriers. The report of Great Northern for May showed that the average movement of cars on that system was 26.8 miles per day. In May, 1919, the average movement was 23.9 miles. Net tons per car amounted to an average of 519 tons, as compared with 459 tons per car in the year before. In the case of Northern Pacific the average movement per car per day increased to 33.2 miles, as compared with 26.4 miles a day in May, 1919, while net tons per car were 725 as compared with 491.

Outstanding among the figures were those reported by the Union Pacific lines. The average movement of freight cars during May was 69.7 miles, as compared with 47.7 miles in May last year, while net tons per car were shown as 1,341, as compared with 792 tons in the preceding year.

The other extreme was shown in the figures for the New York, New Haven & Hartford, which has suffered from congestion as it will suffer in the future, according to railroad men, until adequate terminal facilities are provided to handle the enormous tonnage carried into New England by so many other railroads. The average movement of cars on the New Haven in May was 9.2 miles, as compared with 15.3 miles in the corresponding weeks in 1919, and net tons per car decreased to 154 from 264 in May a year ago.

With the campaign which the railway executives launched publicly in July on in full force it is confidently expected that even more improvement will be shown.

WANTS TO EXTEND BONDS.

Erie Asks Permission to Change Maturity of Several Issues.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The Erie Railroad asked authority today from the Interstate Commerce Commission to extend for ten years the maturity date of certain obligations of its predecessor companies. The bonds which it would extend are:

New York and Erie Railroad Company, fourth mortgage 5 per cent. bonds maturing Oct. 1, 1920, to the amount of $2,926,000; Erie Railway Company consolidated 7 per cent. bonds maturing Sept. 1, 1920, to the amount of $16,891,000, and the New York, Lake Erie and Western Railroad Company first consolidated mortgage coupon 7 per cent. bonds, maturing Sept. 1, 1920, to the amount of $3,699,500.

Confidence

WHETHER an estate is great or small the appointment of an individual as Executor or Trustee is unreliable and unprofitable.

Your own lawyer will tell you, that for absolute confidence in safeguarding the provisions of your will, you should name a financial institution — which makes a specialty of trust functions,— your Executor or Trustee.

A half century of successful management of trust funds is your assurance of our service to you.

BAD WEATHER NEWS SENDS COTTON UP

Optimistic Reports from Europe Also Factor in Gain of 72 to 85 Points.

MARKET WELL SOLD OUT

Exports Heavier, but Still Behind Last Year's Business—Southern Spot Markets Quiet.

The weather news was not so good while the European political news was better yesterday and the natural result of this combination was a generally higher scale of prices in the cotton market. The opening was heavy, but immediately thereafter there was improvement and with the exception of a few brief intervals of reaction, the general trend was upward throughout the day. At the top, October, December and January were up about 85 points, while March and May were up 77 and 72 points, respectively. About 5 to 8 points were lost before the closing, so that the day's developments marked a distinct gain for the price movement.

The two important factors above referred to found the market pretty well sold out and when some short covering developed prices started upward at once. This, as always, attracted more short covering and some new buying by commission houses and ring traders. There also was some talk of trade buying, but this would be difficult to prove and probably did not amount to much, if anything. There is no particular reason why the trade should buy and the market yesterday did not look as if it was being influenced by this sort or operation.

Exports for the day amounted to 14,106 bales, all out of Galveston for Great Britain and the Continent. This was the best showing of export clearances in some days and helped bullish sentiment somewhat. But the export movement is much slower now than it was at this time last year. Compared with exports of 47,929 bales since the first of the month, last year's corresponding total was 213,317 bales. The trade, however, is expecting a much heavier movement later on.

Southern spot markets yesterday were generally quiet and prices, for the most part, were unchanged. At New Orleans and Augusta there were slight losses, but Houston, Dallas and Fort Worth were up 25 to 75 points on the day. The Southern spot markets are being carefully watched just now for evidences of new demand. With the big carry-over into the new season, it is an open question whether demand will prave sufficient to hold up prices in the South, now that credit conditions are tight and new loans on warehouse stocks are said to be hard to get.

WHEAT ADVANCES STRONG.

Market Closes with Prices 4 to 6 Cents Higher.

CHICAGO, Aug. 10.—Wheat advanced sharply today after a hesitating start. The action of the market appeared to be based to a considerable extent on opinions that the Government crop report was bullish on wheat, although bearish on corn and oats. Besides, uneasiness continued as to posible renewal of the war scare. Opening quotations, which varied from unchanged figures to 1¼c. lower, with December $2.31 to $2.32 and March $2.35, were followed by a decided upturn all around.

Higher prices for Agentine wheat, together with extensive buying for a large elevator interest here, led to a further upturn in values. The close was strong, 4½c. to 6c. net higher, with December $2.37 to $2.38 and March $2.41½.

FORECLOSURE SALES.

SUPREME COURT OF THE STATE OF NEW YORK, COUNTY OF NEW YORK.—Mary E. Riley, substituted as plaintiff in the place and stead of David Lawton, deceased, plaintiff, against James McGee and others, defendants.—Notice of sale.

In pursuance of a judgment directing a sale of the premises hereinafter described, duly made and entered in the above entitled action, and bearing date the 19th day of December, 1919, I, the undersigned, the referee in said judgment named, will sell at public auction at the Exchange Salesroom, Nos. 14-16 Vesey Street, in the Borough of Manhattan of the City of New York, on the 30th day of August, 1920, at 12 o'clock noon on that day, by Joseph P. Day, auctioneer, the premises directed by said judgment to be sold, and therein described as follows:

PARCEL ONE.

All that certain piece or parcel of land, situate, lying and being on the northeast corner of First Avenue and Seventy-first Street, in the Borough of Manhattan of the City of New York, County and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the northeast corner of Seventy-first Street and First Avenue; running thence easterly, along said street, seventy-five feet; thence northerly, parallel with said avenue, twenty-seven feet and two inches; thence running westerly, parallel with said street, seventy-five feet to the easterly line of said avenue; thence running southerly, along said avenue, twenty-seven feet two inches to the point or place of beginning. Being known and designated as No. Thirteen hundred and twenty-six First Avenue.

PARCEL TWO.

All those three certain lots, pieces or parcels of land, situate, lying and being in the Borough of Manhattan of the City of New York, and bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point in the northerly side of Seventy-third Street distant easterly two hundred and forty-eight feet from the northeast corner of Avenue A and Seventy-third Street; running thence northerly, and parallel with the easterly side of Avenue A, one hundred and two feet and two inches; running thence easterly, and parallel with the said northerly side of Seventy-third Street, seventy-five feet; thence southerly, parallel with the easterly side of Avenue A, one hundred and two feet two inches to the northerly side of Seventy-third Street; and thence westerly, along the northerly side of Seventy-third Street, seventy-five feet to the point or place of beginning.

PARCEL THREE.

All that certain lot of land, with the buildings thereon erected, situate in the Borough of Manhattan of the City of New York, County and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point on the northerly side of Seventy-third Street distant three hundred and twenty-three feet easterly from the northeast corner of Seventy-third Street and Avenue A; running thence easterly, along the northerly side of Seventy-third Street, twenty-five feet; thence northerly, and parallel with Avenue A, one hundred and two feet and two inches to the middle line of the block; thence westerly, along the middle line of the block, twenty-five feet; thence southerly, and parallel with Avenue A, one hundred and two feet and two inches to the place of beginning.

PARCEL FOUR.

All that certain lot, piece or parcel of land, with the buildings and improvements thereon, situate, lying and being in the Borough of Manhattan of the City of New York, County and State of New York, bounded and described as follows:

Beginning at a point formed by the intersection of the southerly line of One Hundred and Ninth Street with the westerly line of Second Avenue; running thence westerly, along said southerly line of One Hundred and Ninth Street, one hundred feet; thence southerly, and parallel with Second Avenue, twenty-six feet and three inches; thence easterly, parallel with One Hundred and Ninth Street, and part of the distance through a party wall, one hundred feet to the westerly line of Second Avenue; and thence northerly, along said westerly line of Second Avenue, twenty-six feet and three inches to the point or place of beginning.

PARCEL FIVE.

All that certain lot, piece or parcel of land, with the building and improvements thereon erected, situate, lying and being in the Borough of the Bronx of the City of New York, County of Bronx and State of New York, and known and distinguished as Lot No. One in Block 475 on a certain map filed in the office of the Register of the City and County of New York on the twenty-fifth day of September, A. D. 1882, entitled "Map of subdivision of the property of Isabel Tiffany Perry in the Twenty-third Ward of the City of New York, being part of the Fox Estate, shown on the map filed by Hugh N. Camp, G. S. Greene, Jr., and William Reynolds Brown, Commissioners of Partition, on June 24, 1879," which said lot is bounded and described as follows:

APARTMENT PROJECT ON MURRAY HILL

Builder Will Improve Old Barney Residence Site with Sixteen-Story Structure.

EXCHANGE TRANSACTION

Park Avenue Corner at Thirty-eighth in Deal Involving $850,000 Lofts.

An old Murray Hill residence is to be replaced by a tall apartment house as the result of an interesting exchange transaction closed yesterday.

George Backer, the builder, sold to the Charles T. Barney estate the thirteen-story mercantile building at 16 and 18 West Thirty-sixth Street, on a plot 50 by 98.9, which was recently completed and is fully rented to various tenants at an annual return of about $105,000. It was held at $850,000.

The purchasing estate gave in part payment for this property, among other realty holdings, the Barney residence at the northeast corner of Park Avenue and Thirty-eighth Street, covering a plot with an avenue frontage of 58 feet and a street frontage of 115 feet. On this site, which has been valued at about $400,000, Mr. Backer plans to erect a sixteen-story apartment house at an estimated cost of $850,000, especially designed to meet the present-day demand for moderate sized suites.

N. A. Berwin & Co. negotiated the transaction. The site is just outside of the restricted Murray Hill zone and is not affected by the famous restrictive covenant. The old dwelling now on the plot was erected by the father of the late Charles T. Barney and has been owned by members of the family for the last seventy-five years.

Rogers Peet Company Deal.

The eight-story fireproof store, loft and office building, on a plot 63 by 135, at 342 to 346 Broadway and 140 to 150 Fourth Avenue, has been purchased by the Rogers Peet Company through Horace S. Ely & Co. It contains a total floor area of nearly 200,000 square feet and is now used by the purchaser for its executive and wholesale departments. The trustees of the Waldorf Astor estate were the sellers. Clinton & Russell, architects, prepared plans for the building, which was erected about twelve years ago by the late Baron Astor. The structure was built on the site of the famous Wallack Theatre, afterward called the Star Theatre. Title passed yesterday, a consideration of $1,125,000 being paid by the purchaser.

COMMERCIAL LEASES.

Two Big Garages Figure in New Transactions.

The John P. Peel Company leased for twenty-one years for the William S. Dempsey Realty Company to the 546 West Fifty-fifth Street Garage, Inc., the building, on plot 100 by 140, at 544 to 550 West Fifty-fifth Street, known as the Metropolitan Iron Foundry. The lessee will alter the property into a garage. The same broker leased for the Dempsey company to the Dunellen Construction Corporation the property at 666 to 672 Eleventh Avenue, corner of Forty-eighth Street, 100 by 100, for similar alteration.

The U. R. S. Candy Stores, Inc., leased from William Iselin & Co. the entire fifth floor of 345-57 Fourth Avenue, comprising an area of 20,000 square feet, for a term of years at an aggregate rental of about $250,000. The floor is now used by the Red Cross, which will vacate on Sept. 1, when the Candy Company will take possession of the floor for its executive offices. William Cruikshank's Sons were the agents for William Iselin & Co., and the U. R. S. Candy Stores, Inc., were represented by the Brett & Goode Co., as brokers.

Geo. R. Read & Co. leased for a term of years the store at 73 Warren Street for the Carbondale Sponge Company to the National Twist Drill and Tool Company, with head offices in Detroit.

Why You Should Buy a Home Now

BECAUSE labor represents, directly, fully 50% of the cost of building, and, indirectly, 25% additional. Labor, therefore, must accept lower wages, before building costs can come down.

In view of the High Cost of Living, there is little reason for believing that the cost of labor will be reduced for many years to come, if ever.

How then can you expect to buy New York City houses for less than the prices we are asking today?

Few Minutes Walk From Beautiful 60 Acre Waterfront Park

New 20 ft. Brick Houses, Each With Garage,

Six and Seven rooms, tile bath and garage. They are thoroughly modern and first class in every respect, being built by the day under our personal supervision. The fronts are of tapestry brick and Indiana limestone, with concrete porch floors and steps. The basement is built entirely above the street grade. The houses are set back twenty-two feet from the street, giving a terrace, which is sodded and beautifully landscaped. The grounds in the back, which are on a level with the street, have a private cement driveway from garage in basement to private cement roadway extending from street to street.

Printing Facts

Printed matter is made to be read. Never forget this. Typography may look very beautiful, but if it is not clearly readable it is bad typography. Do not have the lines too long, never more than five inches if the type is 14-point or smaller. When the type is 10-point, five inches is too long; better to set two 13-pica columns.

When the line of type is too long there is an ever-present danger that the eye will lose the beginning of the succeeding line.

INDICTED CAPITALIST HELD IN NOTE DEAL

Percy R. Pyne, 2d, Charges Anderson T. Herd with Misappropriating Funds.

BAIL IS FIXED AT $20,000

Defendant, Indicted June 25, Voluntarily Appears in Court—Gets Until Monday to Enter Plea.

On complaint of Percy Rivington Pyne 2d, member of a prominent New York family, two indictments alleging grand larceny in the first degree were returned by the Grand Jury on June 25 against Anderson T. Herd, described in the indictments as a "New York capitalist."

This fact came out yesterday when Mr. Herd, accompanied by his attorney, Henry J. Goldsmith of 158 West Forty-fifth Street, voluntarily appeared at the Criminal Courts Building. He was immediately arraigned before Judge McIntyre in Part I., General Sessions, but did not make a plea to the indictments. He was released in $20,000 bail and given until Monday to make motion or enter a plea. Through his counsel Mr. Herd asked for more time, but this was denied.

According to Moses R. Ryttenberg, Assistant District Attorney, who presented the complaint and supporting allegations to the Grand Jury on June 22, the charges against Herd grew out of a transaction involving notes which Pyne issued for a total of $38,500—two for $10,000 each and a third for the remainder. The indictments deal only with the $10,000 notes.

Mr. Pyne, who is in business at 20 Exchange Place, complained to Mr. Ryttenberg that in January he had at the Empire Trust Co., 120 Broadway, a note for $38,500, due January 22. The Assistant District Attorney said that Pyne declared Herd owed him a considerable sum, long overdue, which he was counting upon to meet the maturing note held by the trust company. According to Ryttenberg, Herd offered to assist Pyne in paying the obligation.

"On or about Jan. 15 of this year," said Ryttenberg, "Mr. Pyne gave the defendant three notes. Two of them were payable for $10,000 each and the third was written for $18,500. These notes were turned over to Mr. Herd with the understanding, according to Mr. Pyne's claim, that Herd was to have them discounted and with the proceeds take up Pyne's note at the Empire Trust Company.

"Instead of taking the notes and discounting and using them as directed, the indictment alleges that Herd appropriated the notes and proceeds to his own use. Mr. Pyne subsequently was obliged to pay the Empire note."

In presenting his client to the court, Attorney Goldsmith announced that former Governor Charles S. Whitman would be of counsel when the hearing takes place on Monday. Statements on the case were unobtainable from either Mr. Pyne or Mr. Herd.

"Ricoro and the Farmer"

"THIS tale concerns a Modern Farmer" began the city man, as he lighted one Ricoro from the butt of another, and moved the ash tray nearer—"He's the chap who supplies me with eggs by parcel post.

TALES OF RICORO

"One day I motored out to his chicken farm, and as I drew up to the porch he informed me that my car was smoking.

"'I wish I were smoking, too!' I answered ruefully. 'Unfortunately, I forgot my cigars, and—'

"'—and fortunately, I have some,' he concluded, producing a slim and prosperous invincible.

"'H'm,' I murmured appreciatively, as I inhaled the mellow aroma—'Does one of your hens lay golden eggs, or does the richness of this cigar mean that you struck oil on your property?'

"'Neither,' he chuckled, 'and it just shows that you city-bred fellers have to come to the country to learn the real attractions of the city. That Ricoro is sold for eleven cents by every United Cigar Store in town!'

"Surprised?—well, I couldn't have been more astounded if he'd said that eggs were down to eleven cents a dozen."

Ricoro
the "Self-Made" Cigar

Sooner or later you'll discover Ricoro—and the moment you do, you'll declare it the mellowest, balmiest cigar you have ever smoked.

Ricoro is a beautifully-made, imported cigar. It sells at popular prices only because it comes from Porto Rico duty free.

You have heard tales of cigars that stood alone in goodness, in quality and in economy—but the tale Ricoro tells is vouched for by countless thousands of satisfied American smokers.
